PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

THE author of this invaluable book, who died at Philadelphia, May 4th, 1859, bequeathed to the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, of which he had long been a corresponding member, the balance of the edition, then remaining in sheets, and also his manuscript genealogical collections. The Society received the books and manuscripts in June, 1859, and at the next meeting, July 6th, voted to place the property in the hands of three Trustees, who were directed to make sale of the books, and invest the proceeds in a fund, to be called "THE BOND FUND." The income of the money so invested was ordered to be expended annually in the purchase of local histories and genealogies for the Library of the Society. This disposition of the property bequeathed us, it was thought, would be the best way to keep the memory of our esteemed benefactor alive among our members, and to impress upon them the value of the assistance he has rendered us.

The undersigned having been appointed Trustees, have undertaken the task assigned them. They have added to this edition a portrait of the author, and a sketch of his life—the latter written by Horatio G. Jones, Esq., of Philadelphia, at their request.

Dr. Bond's will was dated April 3, 1858, a little over a year before his death. The clause by which the property was bequeathed to our Society, is as follows:—

"To the Historic-Genealogical Society of New England, I give and bequeath my interleaved copies of my Watertown Family Memorial; also all my manuscript books or papers pertaining to town or church histories, including my Scrap-Book, containing the records of births, deaths and marriages in Woburn; also my files of letters relating to genealogy or antiquities; also all the copies of my Watertown Family Memorial which may be in my possession and in sheets at the time of my decease."

His other bequests of a public nature were to the Philadelphia College of Physicians, and to Dartmouth College. To the former institution was left all his medical books, of which there were not already copies in its library; and to the latter, all his miscellaneous books, including those on history, genealogy, and antiquities, which were not otherwise disposed of by will. The College is also made a residuary legatee. The property so received is to be made a fund for purchasing books for the College Library, and for assisting persons of the name of Bond, descendants of William and Sarah (Bisco) Bond, (who settled at Watertown as early as 1650,) in obtaining an education at that College.

The manuscripts bequeathed to this Society are extremely valuable. They consist of his entire collection of materials from which he compiled the Watertown Family Memorials, and also the historical and genealogical collections made by him since the publication of that work. These will be bound and placed in the archives of the Society, where they can be consulted by the genealogist and antiquary.

MEMOIR OF HENRY BOND, M. D.

BY HORATIO GATES JONES, A. M.,

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY OF THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

When a man of eminent attainments dies, it becomes a matter of interest to learn his early history, to trace his progress upwards from boyhood to mature years, and especially to note those events and traits by which he may have been more or less characterized. The void that has been created in society, of which he may have been a distinguished ornament—or in his profession, to which perhaps he added dignity as well as renown—we naturally wish to fill up with precious mementos of his worth, and thus preserve for succeeding generations that example and influence which were so justly prized by us during his life.

The scholar lives not for himself alone. He may have, and every true scholar does have, enjoyments of which none can be partakers. He has his fond dreams, his etherial visions, his inward joys, which the world without cannot comprehend; but he lives in a world of his own, and holds sweet converse with unseen visitants. To the real, true scholar and the diligent student, the words of Cicero apply with peculiar force,—nunquam minus solus, quam solus.

These remarks may be predicated with great propriety of Henry Bond, M. D., the author of the work which follows; and although the book itself is a monument which will ever continue to shed renown upon his name, a brief biographical sketch has been deemed necessary, in order to give those who may peruse it, some facts and incidents in the author's life, not to to be found in the succeeding pages.

The ancestors of Dr. Bond were residents of Bury St. Edmund's, in the county of Suffolk, England; and the first of the name who came to America, was William Bond, who became a settler at Watertown, Mass., as early as 1650, and was one of the prominent and influential men of the place. He married Sarah Bisco, daughter of Nathaniel Bisco, of the same place, and had nine children. From one of these, Col. Jonas Bond, commonly called "the marrying 'Squire," as he held a justice's commission and was famous for officiating at weddings, Dr. Bond was lineally descended. His grandfather, William Bond, also of Watertown, was a Lieut. Colonel under Col. Thomas Gardiner, who was mortally wounded at the battle of Bunker Hill. Lieut. Col. Bond succeeded to the command, and subsequently marched with the regular army to New York, and was ordered to Canada by the way of the lakes. Upon his return he encamped on Mount Independence, opposite Ticonderoga, where he died August 31st, 1776. During his services in New York and Canada, Col. Bond was accompanied by his third son, Henry, then quite a lad, who was present at the death of his patriotic father.

Henry Bond, M. D., was born in Watertown, Mass., March 21st, 1790, and was the only son of the above named Henry Bond, who married Hannah, eldest daughter of Captain Phineas and Hannah (Bemis) Stearns, of Watertown. Shortly after the birth of Henry, his parents moved to Livermore, Maine, where Mr. Bond had previously purchased land and several mills. He was an active, influential citizen, a deacon of the first church organized in the town, and was the second schoolmaster of the place in the winter of 1794. He died March 27, 1796, in the 35th year of his age, leaving a widow and two children, a son and daughter. The widow survived until August 13th, 1803, having previously married Zebedee Rose, of Livermore, by whom she had several children.

In the month of March, 1806, Henry commenced his academical course at Hebron Academy, and remained there until September, 1809, when he was admitted to the freshman class of Dartmouth College, where he maintained a respectable rank, and was duly graduated in August, 1813. While in college he exhibited a fondness for the exact sciences and was considered a good mathematician. He also devoted himself to various literary efforts, and was interested in historical studies. When he graduated, his class numbered forty-one, although during the sophomore year it had as many as sixty. Among his classmates were the Rev. Joseph B. Felt, LL.D., the Rev. Benjamin F. Farnsworth, D. D., the Rev. Austin Dickinson, Frederick Cushing, M. D., and the Rev. Rufus William Bailey.

Immediately after his graduation Mr. Bond commenced the study of medicine under Dr. Cyrus Perkins, who was Professor of Anatomy in Dartmouth College, and Dr. Nathan Smith, Professor of Surgery, and continued thus engaged until March, 1815, when he was elected a tutor in the college. He remained in this position until August, 1816, when he resigned. The period he spent there as tutor was full of interest as well as excitement, for it was in the midst of the troubles about the charter of Dartmouth College, the history of which has become incorporated with the judicial decisions of our country, and is so closely connected with the fame of New Hampshire's noblest son—the lamented Webster.

In December, 1816, Mr. Bond received his medical degree, and early in the following January he commenced the practice of his profession in Concord, N. H. During his residence in this town, Dr. Bond delivered each summer for three years, a course of popular lectures on chemistry, and at the same time he continued his general literary studies. In 1818 he was chosen to deliver the oration before the New Hampshire Alpha of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He selected as his theme, Traits of American Genius. The manuscript of the oration, now before the writer, shows that devotion to his profession had not produced a distaste for the paths of literature. Those who knew Dr. Bond only in his later years, would be surprised at the tone of the entire oration. The following extract is given, as indicative of his style, and also because of the high yet delicate encomium passed on one whose subsequent brilliant career justified the flattering praise bestowed upon him. Dr. Bond says:

"Were transmigration of the soul a prevalent doctrine of the day, we might believe the spirit of Warren had once before been disembodied at the Straits of Thermopylæ—we might believe Putnam to have wandered over Greece with his brazen club, destroying tyrants, robbers and monsters. We might believe that Prometheus lived a second life in Franklin, our Jupiter Tonans—that Archimedes, who boasted if one point were granted he could move the world, had reappeared in the person of Rittenhouse, to put in motion the whole planetary system. In the reverend founder of this, our beloved Alma Mater, I fancy I see the Phœnician Cadmus with his little band groping his way hither through dark and savage forests, to introduce learning and piety into this wild and rude Bœotia. And it would require no extraordinary faith to believe that it is the joyous felicity of this Institution and of this State, to reproduce Demosthenes—and that although his efforts to save Athens from the lawless grasp of Philip were not crowned with the success they deserved, he has reappeared with all his former brilliancy and fervor, and more than his ancient learning, to plead with greater success the cause of this, his literary birthplace—this little Athens of New Hampshire."

Having relatives in Augusta, Me., Dr. Bond concluded to leave Concord and settle in the former place, but wishing to perfect himself in a knowledge of his profession, in November, 1819, he went to Philadelphia to attend lectures at the University of Pennsylvania, whose medical department, then as now, enjoyed a world-wide reputation. Here he formed several new and strong friendships—and when, in 1820, he was about to remove to Augusta, where an office had already been engaged, he was persuaded to make Philadelphia his permanent abode. His trunks had been packed for his departure, but the inducements offered were so kind and generous, that he at length consented to stay. He accordingly commenced the practice of medicine in Philadelphia in the spring of 1820, and having as a new beginner considerable leisure, he taught at his office, classes in practical and general surgery. These classes were well attended, and were continued for several years.

The character of the medical profession of Philadelphia, which has numbered among its members such distinguished men as John Morgan, Benjamin Rush, Thomas Bond, Caspar Wistar, Philip Syng Physic, Nathaniel Chapman, William E. Horner, Robert Hare, and scores of others equally eminent, has always been high toned, and, in a great measure, exclusive. Hence, it so happened, that the societies which the earlier physicians of Philadelphia formed for their mutual improvement, were difficult of access, except by those of acknowledged merit. Yet in December, 1819, Dr. Bond, who was comparatively a stranger, was elected an honorary member of the Philadelphia Medical Society, and he continued an active member of it until it became extinct.

In 1823, there was organized in Philadelphia, the Kappa Lambda Society, the object of which was medical improvement, with special reference to medical ethics. Of this society he became an early member, and was for some time its secretary.

In May, 1824, he delivered an address before the New England Society of Philadelphia, which was published at the request of the society. It is a noble vindication of New England, her institutions and her sons.

Having once attained a position, and giving evidence of professional eminence as well as personal worth, Dr. Bond found himself gladly welcomed by his medical brethren into their societies and private coteries. The first step once attained, his ascent from one post of honor to another was easy, and in the course of several years he was successively elected a Fellow of the Philadelphia College of Physicians in 1825, its Secretary in 1832, and one of its Censors in 1844. In 1840, and again in 1850, this college sent him as a delegate to the Decennial National Convention held in Washington city, for revising the United States' Pharmacopœia. In May, 1846, he attended the first Medical Convention which met in New York to organize a National Medical Association, and he generally attended its subsequent meetings. In 1847, he was a member of the Convention held in Lancaster, Pa., for the purpose of organizing a State Medical Association, and he was one of the committee which drafted the constitution. He was also a member of the Board of Health of the city of Philadelphia, from 1833 to 1838, and its President during the year 1837–8.

It is thus seen that Dr. Bond's talents and professional ability were appreciated by his brethren—those who are supposed to be the best judges—and this was all the more flattering from the fact that he himself was modest and retiring to a fault. He had energy, perseverance and talents, but he was not obtrusive, and hence he was indebted to his own sterling merit for his advancement.

In due course of time he attained considerable practice, which continued to increase from year to year, until, by habits of careful economy, he had acquired a competency sufficient for his support; but even then he did not desist from active duties, until failing health and devotion to a new study, compelled him to husband his strength. His chief branch of practice was obstetrics, to which he paid much careful attention, and in which he was very successful. He was accustomed to make a note of every such case that was under his care, and a small volume, still preserved, shows the exactness with which he noted every event connected with his obstetrical practice. Possessed of an original mind, and meeting with a number of new and remarkable cases of disease, Dr. Bond wrote several interesting papers on such professional subjects, and gave them to the public through various medical journals published in Philadelphia. His mechanical as well as surgical knowledge were particularly displayed in contriving some useful instruments and apparatus, which are now in general use by the profession, and which will long perpetuate his name as one of the benefactors of mankind.

But the great work of Dr. Bond, to which he devoted the latter part of his life, and in which he became so deeply and engrossingly interested, was "THE GENEALOGIES AND HISTORY OF WATERTOWN," which is almost unrivalled by any similar work ever published in this country. This remarkable book, which attained its present magnitude from a very small beginning, originated in the preparation of a Genealogy of the Bond Family, which Dr. Bond had begun as early as 1840. At first, as he has frequently said, he designed it to be a mere family memorial, but as he advanced in his researches, he found that much material other than what he first sought, grew upon his hands, and then the idea occurred to him of making it general in its character, so as to include all the early families of his native town. The work was begun, and as it advanced the author seemed to appreciate the importance of the researches in which he was engaged. His views are worthy of special notice. He believed that "Genealogies, besides gratifying a natural and enlightened curiosity, may exercise a salutary influence, tending to maintain, in their social position, families already elevated, and to elevate the lowly;" and he also firmly held, "that when persons affect an utter indifference to their lineage, or a history of the past generations of their families, and deride any attention to them as a foolish weakness and vanity, they are contravening an innate principle, and it may be generally suspected that they have some knowledge of a lineage they would consign to oblivion, because it is untitled and without a good renown."

While pursuing his investigations, Dr. Bond visited various localities in New England, and spent much time in examining town records for facts not to be found elsewhere. He employed persons to make copies of records and valuable documents, and he was very materially aided by his friend Horatio G. Somerby, Esq., who made researches for him in England. His correspondence on this subject extended throughout the whole country, and he hesitated at no expense or trouble to unravel a disputed point or make clear some intricate genealogy. For several years he gave nearly all his leisure time to the collection and arranging of the materials thus gathered from every quarter, and when he had so far succeeded as to bring this heterogeneous mass of dry and dull statistics into shape, he submitted the question of immediate publication to his friends, and by their advice, the first part was printed (but not published) in 1852. This was done, as indeed may be remarked of the entire book, with the greatest diffidence on the part of the author, who was as sensitive of the world's opinion of his effort, as if he was freshly entering the arena. So modest were his own ideas of the value of his work, and so reluctant was he to speak of it, that the book was nearly completed before even his professional associates—those whom he met weekly in social reunions, and to whom we naturally suppose he would mention what was so near to his heart—knew that he was engaged in such a labor. To one, who, entering the Doctor's study, found him reading proof, he remarked, "I shall let you see this now, but don't speak of it to others" To the writer, who made his acquaintance while in the midst of the publication, the Doctor said, that he did not care to have people know what he was doing, as they would be sure to laugh at him! This may have been owing to the fact that in Philadelphia little attention is paid to genealogical studies. The great work was finally completed and given to the public in 1855. It met with warm praise both at home and abroad, and the Doctor's heart was often made glad by receiving from his friends their commendatory letters.

It does not become the writer of this Memoir to criticise this great work as a literary labor, or as a correct and truthful Genealogical History of the Watertown Families. It speaks for itself, and will ever remain an enduring witness of the untiring energy, the unflagging research, and the indomitable zeal of its respected and lamented author. But this much he can say, that when the last page was written and the pen laid aside, Dr. Bond might have exclaimed without fear of being criticised for egotism, "Exegi monumentum, ære perennius,"—for, when the marble which marks his resting place shall have crumbled to ruins, this work will survive, and succeeding years, as they rapidly haste away, will only add increased lustre to his name, and embalm it in the minds of thousands who shall yet tread the soil of his own loved New England.

It has been stated that Dr. Bond was well known, beyond the limits of his own profession, as a lover of antiquarian researches. His renown as a student in this department, led to his election to various posts of honor throughout the country. In addition to the societies already named, he was also chosen a member of the Academy of Natural Sciences, the National Institute, the American Statistical Association, the New England Historic-Genealogical Society, the American Antiquarian Society, and the Historical Societies of the States of Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland, Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

In the month of August, 1858, Dr. Bond visited New England, and was warmly received by his large circle of friends. Within a month after his return to Philadelphia, while passing through the grounds of Washington Square, he was suddenly stricken down with paralysis, and although he rallied afterwards, yet his nervous system was completely shattered, and his mind was much impaired. For many years he had suffered from an affection of the heart, and this sudden prostration of his powers produced a marked change in his general health. He still kept up his correspondence—corrected his large Genealogical Work—visited a few patients—and always seemed glad when friends called to him; but it was apparent that his days were numbered. On the morning of the 4th of May, 1859, he was found lifeless in his room. It is supposed that during the night he had risen to procure something, and either had an attack of apoplexy, or fell down and struck his temple. On the Saturday following his death, he was interred in the Laurel Hill Cemetery, near Philadelphia. His funeral was attended by a large number of his medical and personal friends—and the religious services were conducted by the Rev. Albert Barnes, of whose church, the First Presbyterian of Philadelphia, he had been a member for many years. Dr. Bond at the time of his decease was in the seventieth year of his age. He had never been married.

He left a will, dated April 3, 1858. After devising the bulk of his estate for life to three of his near relatives in Philadelphia, he makes Dartmouth College his residuary legatee, and directs the income to be appropriated to the purchase of books for the college library. He couples with this legacy the following direction: "Any student of the college of the name of Bond, a descendant of William Bond, Esq., and his wife Sarah (Bisco), who settled in Watertown, Massachusetts, as early as the year sixteen hundred and fifty (1650), shall be entitled to receive, and shall receive of the income of this legacy to the college, one hundred dollars a year, so long as he shall continue an undergraduate at said college." He also bequeathed to the college for their library, all his miscellaneous books, including those relating to history, genealogy and antiquities, not otherwise disposed of.

To the New England Historic-Genealogical Society he bequeathed his interleaved copies of the Watertown Family Memorial; his manuscript books or papers pertaining to town or church histories, including his scrap-book, containing the records of births, deaths and marriages in Woburn; also his files of letters relating to genealogy or antiquities; and all the unbound copies of the Watertown Memorial. These MSS. are exceedingly valuable, comprising, with his correspondence, his entire collection of materials, from which he prepared his great work on Watertown.

The copies of the Memorial number at least one thousand volumes; and the Society, to show their estimate of this legacy—the first which has ever been bequeathed to them—have placed them in the hands of trustees, who design to invest the proceeds arising from the sale of the book, in a fund, which, out of regard to their benefactor, is to be called "THE BOND FUND." The trustees of this fund are Messrs. Almon D. Hodges, Frederic Kidder and John Ward Dean.

As a man, Dr. Bond was most highly esteemed wherever known. As a Christian, he was sincere and honest. He was a regular attendant and member of the Presbyterian Church. He was a firm believer in the great doctrines of the Christian faith, and availed himself of church privileges, but was not actively engaged in outward religious duties. He seemed averse to the exhibition of emotional feeling in that which related to his spiritual life.

As a physician, he occupied a high position, especially in the city where he lived and died.

D. Francis Condie, M. D., of Philadelphia, a leading member of the medical profession, in a recent communication to the writer, says:—

"Dr. Bond was well grounded in both the theory and practice of all the branches of the healing art. His favorite branches were, however, surgery and obstetrics. In both of these departments he devised several original instruments and apparatus, and suggested important modifications of one or more of those in common use, all of which have received the sanction of the most distinguished practitioners. The practice of Dr. Bond was by no means confined to the departments just referred to. In that which embraces the pathology and therapeutics of internal diseases generally, he had an extensive clinical experience, the results of which afforded a favorable evidence of his expertness as a medical practitioner.

"The mind of Dr. Bond was marked by depth and solidity, rather than by quickness and brilliancy, and applied itself with the utmost zeal to the cultivation of the exact sciences—such as demand close and cautious investigation, and are based solely upon demonstrable truths. He was averse to every species of hypothetical reasoning, and had little faith in any proposition sustained by a chain of collateral arguments rather than by positive facts. He was slow in the formation of his judgments, but when finally determined, it was no easy task to shake his confidence in their correctness.

"The position which Dr. Bond held as a member of the medical profession, was one of the highest respectability. As he made, however, but few important contributions to the general fund of medical knowledge, and these only through the pages of one or two of the leading professional journals, he was perhaps less known to the profession generally, than many with far inferior claims to celebrity. It was among those who had an opportunity to become fully acquainted with his medical knowledge and skill—his classical attainments—the sincerity and truthfulness of his character—his stern integrity—and to experience, day after day, his unfailing urbanity of deportment, that he was appreciated at his true value.

"In Philadelphia, which was the field of his entire medical career, Dr. Bond enjoyed the respect and confidence of his professional brethren. With all their organizations, with scarcely an exception, he was affiliated, and upon him was conferred almost every office of trust and honor within their gift; and he was made the recipient of such honors as indicated the high estimate formed by his medical brethren of his attainments—professional, classical and literary, as well as of his moral worth."

Such is a brief sketch of the life and labors of one, whom to know, was to esteem most highly; whose memory will long be cherished by a large circle of warm and attached friends, and whose name will ever occupy a high rank among the genealogists of America.

INTRODUCTION.

A DESIRE to trace a lineage and to perpetuate its remembrance, seems to have been so prevalent among enlightened and semi-civilized people, and even among barbarians, of all ages, even the remotest to which either history or tradition extends, that it may be regarded as an instinct of human nature—an innate principle, implanted for wise and benevolent purposes. If so, ought it not to be cherished by the wise and the good?

It cannot be doubted that the practice, founded on a kindred principle, lately adopted by some of our collegiate institutions, of watching and noting the course of the lives of their sons, and placing the prominent points of their history on record, will be beneficent to those institutions, and exercise a salutary influence upon those whose names may be enrolled in their archives. It will produce a more lively mutual interest between the alma mater and her sons, and it may awaken in the latter a stronger desire that their names in the record be not followed by a blank or a blot. Genealogies, besides gratifying a natural and enlightened curiosity, may exercise a similar salutary influence, tending to maintain in their social position, families already elevated, and to elevate the lowly.

When persons affect an utter indifference to their lineage, or a history of the past generations of their families, and deride any attention to them as a foolish weakness and vanity, they are contravening an innate principle, and it may be generally suspected that they have some knowledge of a lineage, which they would consign to oblivion, because it is untitled, and without a good renown. Some such persons build costly ostentatious monuments to procure present distinction, and a lasting memorial for themselves, while they never inquire for the burial-place of their ancestors, and leave their graves to utter and most disrespectful neglect. Let the visitor, who has been admiring the costly, tasteful memorials in Mount Auburn Cemetery, extend his excursion half a mile farther, and he may find graves decayed, and ancient gravestones sunken or dilapidated, and overgrown with weeds and brambles, where were buried the Puritan ancestors of some of the builders of those admired monuments. It would be incongruous, and badly harmonize with the habits and principles of those early Puritan immigrants, to erect costly ornamental monuments over their remains; but it would be consistent with good taste, and a just regard for the first planters of Massachusetts Bay, for some Old Mortality to divest those graves of their unseemly covering, and remould them; to reset or replace the sunken and dilapidated gravestones, and recut the simple inscriptions, which time has nearly obliterated.

Some persons become so engrossed with sordid interests and the indulgence of the animal instincts, so insensible to the ties of consanguinity, and the happiness derived from the cultivation of the domestic affections, that in them this innate principle is not merely dormant, but so dead that it would require a miracle to revive it. They will not make the smallest sacrifice, nor forego a trifling indulgence out of respect to the memory of an ancestor. They would exchange an old family portrait for that of a danseuse, or of a popular partisan, and part with the old family Bible for the flashy outside of a soulless annual, or perhaps for a dollar, if it could be invested at a good percentage.

In most persons, however, this principle—the affinity of consanguinity—does not lack vitality; it only acts in a narrow sphere, or slumbers for want of incitements to awaken it, or the means and opportunities to manifest it. They will listen with eager attention and gratification to records and traditions relating to their ancestors, and their interest will increase with the enlargement of their information. To many such persons, it is hoped, that this work will be an acceptable offering and service, doing for them what it is not in their power so fully to accomplish. They are indebted for it chiefly to that ill health which has enforced a diminished devotion to a laborious profession, which was pursued for many years with affection and assiduity. Its prosecution has afforded the author a very interesting occupation to many otherwise unoccupied hours. This statement will be appreciated only by those who have been engaged in similar pursuits.

Some persons will prosecute a genealogy so far as there is some honor or distinction accruing from it, so far as it will aid in a family glorification; but if any branch of it has declined into humble or obscure life, it is lopped off, unrecognized, and they would verify the Italian proverb, that "Poor folks have neither any kindred or friends." To such persons it may be distasteful that we have not acted on this principle, as neither families nor individuals have been omitted on account of their humble position. In this country, where the laws of primogeniture and of entailment are not recognized, and family training is so often defective and erroneous; where the vicissitudes of family rank and fortune are so great and so constantly occurring, it would not be strange if some descendants of those humble families should be found, at no very remote period, occupying high social positions, and that the wheel, whose revolution had brought them to the zenith, had carried the supercilious family to the nadir. Illustrations of this are abundant everywhere. So far as ability and opportunity have permitted, our researches have been prosecuted, and the results presented, with something of that minuteness and fidelity, which characterize the earnest students of natural science.

Although the leading object has been the genealogies of the very early settlers, it will be found that the work is not confined to them exclusively, nor to the residents of Watertown; but that it includes such notices of later settlers and of transient residents as are to be found in the records. The families of some of the later settlers became numerous, and they have filled a large space in our pages and in the interests of the town. There are also included brief or partial genealogies of some families in the neighboring towns, that have been intimately allied to Watertown families. This will enable very many persons to trace back their lineage much farther, and more satisfactorily, than they could have done without them.

The names of numerous persons are embraced in the following genealogies, of whom it would be easy to collect the materials for copious biographies, and who well deserve them. Of many of them, indeed, they are already written, and we have sometimes been strongly inclined to overstep our prescribed limits, and to use the materials at hand for a more full biographical delineation. But it is obvious that this would not comport with the plan and scope of the work. In the few instances, where we may seem to have transcended our limits, the cases were extraordinary, and are exceptions.

There appeared to be an obvious propriety, not to say necessity, that the Family Memorials should be preceded by a history of the town. But it seemed presumptuous for the author to undertake it, under all his disadvantages, after it had been written by a gentleman so able and accomplished as the Rev. Dr. Francis, and at the time he resided there. His History of Watertown did not, however, seem to be sufficiently full and precise upon some points to answer our purpose, and we have been very solicitous that he should supply those deficiencies, and allow it to be inserted as an introduction to the genealogies. Not being successful in this, nor in prevailing upon another friend to undertake it, who is very competent to accomplish it in the best manner, we have reluctantly been compelled to compose an historical memoir, which will be found in the Appendix. It is devoted almost exclusively to the early times, and it claims to be little more than an introduction to a history of the town. All that can be hoped for it is, that its simple statements of dry details may furnish some entertainment to the few persons who are interested in such archæological researches. We cannot advise others to turn their attention to it with the expectation that they will be entertained and instructed; and with them we may incur the imputation of being tediously minute upon very trifling and unimportant matters.

No one can be more sensible than the author is of the deficiencies of the work—of the great improvement of which it is susceptible, by a full revision and re-arrangement. It has grown from a very small beginning to its present magnitude by innumerable increments, sometimes so added, and of such extent, as to give certain parts a misshapen overgrowth, they having been inserted after the general arrangement of the particular genealogy was made, and could not be conveniently altered.

The first part of the work was put to press three years ago, when the writer had not the prospect of being able to prosecute it any farther, when he was not able to digest and arrange all the materials in his possession, and when the field of research was, as it still is, very far from being exhausted. Yet it then seemed advisable to the writer, and to the friends whom he consulted, to print it, such as it then was, leaving additions and corrections to be made by others, rather than to leave such a mass of materials to be lost, or left to the care of those who might not appreciate or understand them. Some of the genealogies had an especial need of re-arrangement, particularly those of the Stearns families, which are the most copious of any in the work. But they had become so interwoven with others by such very numerous references, that the labor of it seemed then to be altogether beyond the writer's ability.

In a work entering into such copious and minute details, containing such an extensive and complicated network of references, and made up of materials derived from such a variety of sources, not always reliable for accuracy, it cannot be expected that every point has been ascertained to a demonstration. It is likely that further research will discover many errors and deficiencies; and the author will be thankful to those who will transmit to him such as may be discovered. Should this invitation meet with a ready response, the result may hereafter be laid before the public in a supplement, or some other form.

It would be most agreeable and congenial to the author's feelings to make full and special acknowledgments for all the aid he has received. It has come from sources almost innumerable,—so numerous that it would be nearly impossible to enter into full details. The reader will find many such acknowledgments in the course of the work. But there are other instances where very valuable aid and co-operation have been rendered by persons whom we would gladly designate, but whose modesty shrinks from the little publicity it would be in our power to give them. From some of those authors, mentioned in Appendix II., we have received valuable aid in addition to what has been derived from their published works, particularly A. H. Ward and Francis Jackson, Esq'rs. For information respecting the numerous Lunenburg families, whose lineage is traced to Watertown, we are indebted to John R. Rollins, Esq., for the loan of his digested transcript of the town records. For most of the materials for the genealogy of the Bellows family (p. 532), we are indebted to the fair hand of one, who wishes her name to remain sub umbra. This case is not singular, for we could refer to many like it.

It is stated. p. 916, that there is, in the family of the late Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, of Salem, a very valuable portrait of Sir Richard Saltonstall, the chief founder of Watertown. Through the kindness of Leverett Saltonstall, Esq., of Boston, we have the happiness to illustrate this work with the portrait of that truly good and great man. We appreciate this privilege the more highly, as it is not known that his likeness was ever before published. The English pedigree of Sir Richard may be seen in Clutterbuck's History of Hertfordshire, fol., Vol. III. pp. 362–3. But we have received it, revised and extended by Mr. L. Saltonstall, of Boston, and Mr. George D. Phippen, of Salem. To the same gentlemen we are indebted for a large part of the materials for the genealogy of Sir Richard's descendants. Much of our information has, however, been derived from other sources, among which may be mentioned the Historical Sketch of Haverhill, with Biographical Notices, by Hon. Leverett Saltonstall. The materials for the brief biographical notices of Sir Richard and his children, have, however, been gleaned by the author from various other sources. Most of the information respecting Gov. Gurdon Saltonstall and his descendants was received from a very accomplished and obliging correspondent, who desires us to make no public acknowledgment. The aid received from Mr. L. Saltonstall is the more highly appreciated as he has commenced an extensive and thorough search for materials for a history of the Saltonstall family. For the copious materials for a genealogy of the descendants of Mr. Samuel Phillips [38], of Salem, we are chiefly indebted to a gentleman greatly respected for his talents and learning, and beloved for his private virtues.

☞ A list of the works and authors referred to, or consulted, in the prosecution of this work, is inserted in Appendix II., with an explanation of some abbreviated titles.

EXPLANATIONS.

The arrangement of each genealogy, at first adopted many years ago, corresponded very nearly with that of the Minot family, published in the first volume of the Genealogical Register. But the accumulation of materials was becoming so great, that it was necessary to compress them as much as perspicuity and fulness of details would admit. It was also necessary, in a work including so many genealogies, and where the references are so numerous and constantly occurring, to adopt the most convenient plan of referring from one genealogy or family to another. It seemed desirable also, as far as it could be done conveniently, to arrange two or more generations of a family synoptically, so that their relationship might be more readily seen than they can be when all the branches are arranged into distinct families, and widely distributed in different and remote pages. This part of the plan seems to possess the advantages of condensation and perspicuity.

The genealogies are arranged alphabetically, as may be seen in the running titles at the top of each page. Where the materials of a genealogy are sufficiently copious to be arranged in a tabular form, ordinal numbers are placed in the left margin of the page, next to the perpendicular line, beginning with 1, opposite to the first name in the genealogy, and continuing the numbers to the end of it. In several instances a cross (†) will be found affixed to an ordinal number. This indicates a duplicate number, and that it has been introduced interstitially, subsequently to the arrangement of the table.

Where another number occurs in the margin, opposite to the ordinal number, it refers the reader to that ordinal number in the same genealogy, where other information may be found. If it be less than the opposite ordinal number, it will refer back to the individual's parentage; if it be larger, it will refer forward to his or her marriage and distinct family.

In many instances, it will be seen that several names come under, or belong to, one ordinal number, as those of a father and his children, and sometimes his grandchildren. When one of these children or grandchildren is referred to in another part of the work, two or three numbers will be included in the brackets, thus [146–4–2]. The first is the ordinal number in the place referred to; the 2d number [4.], denotes the fourth child of [146]; and the 3d number [2.], indicates the second child of [4.].

In some instances, as in the Stearns families, where very numerous names come under one ordinal number, italic letters have been inserted between it and the next ordinal number for the convenience of reference. Where this is the case, and one of the names is referred to in another part of the work, a number, a letter, and a number, are included in brackets, thus, [58–d–3]. Here [58.] is the ordinal number; [d.] indicates one of the children or grandchildren of [58.]; and [3.] indicates the third child of [d.].

In the genealogy of Isaac Stearns, the first four generations are arranged distinctly from the fifth and from each other; and in each of them the ordinal numbers begin and terminate with that generation. When, therefore, there is a reference to any name in this genealogy, Roman letters are included in the brackets, thus [I. Stearns 36, IV.], showing that the ordinal number [36.] is to be sought in the fourth generation.

By a re-arrangement of some of the genealogies, as before referred to, all this inconvenient and unnecessary complexity might be, and ought to be avoided. The genealogies thus defective are among those first compiled, and to them only are most of these explanations applicable and necessary.

The heads (parents) of a distinct family are printed in ROMAN CAPITALS, and the prefixed Roman capitals in a parenthesis denote his or her generation; whether it be the 2d, 3d, or more remote generation from the first in that genealogy. Below a line, immediately succeeding, are the names of their children in SMALL CAPITALS. Where a family, or any part of it, is arranged synoptically, as before mentioned, the grandchildren are printed in italics, and removed a small space [2 ems] to the right. Great-grandchildren are removed still farther [4 ems] to the right, and are printed in small Roman letters.

When a number in brackets [ ] immediately follows a name, find that name in the top of the page (among the running titles), and the number among the ordinal numbers belonging to that name.

This mark (?) (interrogation point in a parenthesis), denotes that what immediately follows it is not clearly ascertained,—that it is questionable or conjectural, and requires further research in order to its determination.

In England and her colonies, the Julian Calendar was retained until 1752, when the Gregorian Calendar, or New Style, was adopted by an Act of Parliament. As an account of these Calendars, and the reason for the change of the one for the other, may be found in various works, we omit an explanation of them. That which seems to be the most condensed and lucid, and probably accessible to most inquirers, is the article Calendar in Brande's Dictionary of Science, Literature, and Art. We have inserted dates as they are found in the ancient records, without altering them so as to correspond with the New Style. The Roman names of the months have (except in a very few instances) been adopted, instead of the numerals, which were generally used by the Puritans.

In order to make the dates previous to 1752 correspond, in the solar year, within the New Style, it is necessary to add 11 to dates of days between 1600 and 1700, and 12 to the dates between 1700 and 1752. Thus, the Arbella arrived at Salem, June 12th, 1630, O. S., which (adding 11) would be June 23, N. S. Watertown Church was organized, July 28, 1630, O. S., which would be August 8th, N. S. Weston was incorporated Jan. 1, 1712, O. S., which (adding 12) would be Jan. 13, N. S.

According to the Julian Calendar, or Old Style, the year began March 25th, and the same days, between Jan 1 and March 25th, belonged to different years in the Old and New Styles. This occasioned double dating, which will be found in the following pages, thus: Jan. 8, 1675–6, or 167⅝, indicates the year 1675, O. S., or 1676, N. S. By recurring to § 57, p. 1000, it will be seen that, in the records of Watertown, previous to 1648, the year was considered as beginning on the 1st of March, but not after that date.

We have aimed at exactness in dates; but, to our regret, some mistakes are discovered, which are attributable to typographical errors, to oversight in repeated transcriptions, or to the difficulty in some instances of deciphering a bad chirography.

FAMILY MEMORIALS.

ABBOT.—(Abbet, Abbitt.)

ROBERT ABBOT, of Wat., adm. freeman Sept. 3, 1634, was one of that small colony from Wat., which first settled what they first called Watertown, afterwards named Wethersfield, Conn. His name is on the list of proprietors of Wat., in 1642, although he had gone to Connecticut several years before. [See Register of Abbot families, p. 173.]

Nehemiah Abbott, "of Andover," on May 11, 1714, bought, of Thomas Woolson, a house and land in Weston, on the n. side of Sud. Road, commonly called the Stony Brook Mill Lot; also two other lots. He m., 1714, Sarah Foster, and had 1. Nehemiah, bap. in Weston, Dec. 4, 1715; 2. Nehemiah, bap. Mar. 13, 1716–17; 3. Sarah, bap. in Weston, Nov. 2, 1718. About this date he moved to Lex. [See said Register of Abbot, p. 156.]

John Abbot, "a mill-wright of Wat.," and wife Jemima, on Jan. 21, 1715, sold land to S. Stowell. Their dr. Jemima, b. Oct. 10, 1699, m., in Wat., Dec. 12, 1717, Nathaniel Norcross. [32.] It was probably their son John, "of Wat," b. Oct. 31, 1701, who m., in Lex., Oct. 18, 1721, Elizabeth Phipps, of Lex. [See sd. Register, pp. 149–50.]

AGAR. Thomas Agar, a fuller of Wat., previously of Rox., on Dec. 18, 1663, sold to Thomas Loveran, late of Dedham, Essex Co., England, cloth-worker, a fulling-mill, and ¾ acre of land in Wat., built on land, which, with the water privilege, he had purchased, May 30, 1663, of Timothy Hawkins, deceased.

AKERS, Appraisal and Inventory of the estate of Thomas Akers, (probably of Charlestown,) not dated; but on the file of 1659, by Richard Russell, Capt. Thomas Savage, and Ensign R. Sprague. Admin. granted to his wid. Priscilla. He d. previous to 1651, as Priscilla was a wid. of Wat. that year; and it is probable that she soon after this date became the wife of William Knapp, Sr. He (T. A.), left 3 chil., Thomas, Sarah, and Rachel. Aug. 22, 1659, Rachel Akers, of E. Hampton, then aged 16, made Anthony Waters her Att'y, to receive the portion of her brother, Thomas Akers, who went into the wars of Ireland more than ten years ago, and not since been heard of.

ALDEN. Jonathan Alden, bap. in Wat., Aug. 2, 1801, and by wife Beulah had 1. Sally, and 2. Nancy, bap. Aug. 2, 1801; 3. Jonathan, b. Ap. 26, 1800, d. Dec. 30, 1801; 4. Jonathan, b. Mar. 4, 1802, d. in Philadelphia, 1849.

ALLEN.

(I.) WALTER ALLEN was of Newbury, 1640, and resided there several years. He moved to Watertown prior to Ap., 1662, at which time he was a proprietor, and was one of a coroner's jury, July 19, 1663. Ap. 20, 1665, Walter Allen and wife REBECCA sold house and land in Wat. to Simon Coolidge, bounded partly by his own (W. A.'s) land. June 7, 1665, he bought of John Knapp 60 acres in Wat. Farms, "lying towards Concord bounds." Sept. 19, 1666, Thomas Mayhew, sometime of Wat., now of Martha's Vineyard, for £30, sold the 200 acres of land in Wat. Farms, granted to him by the town, to Joseph Crosby, of Braintree; and said Crosby, for £40, sold the same land, June 21, 1669, to Walter Allen, "a farmer of Wat." Oct. 1, 1673, by deed of gift, he conveyed lands in

Wat. to his sons Daniel and Joseph, and soon after moved to Charlestown. where he m., Nov. 29, 1678, ABIGAIL ROGERS, and where he d., July 8, 1681. In Charlestown, he was a "haberdasher of hats." His will, dated Feb. 19, 1679–80, proved Aug., 1681, mentions wife Abigail, and sons John [of Sud.], Daniel, and Joseph. Inventory, £312. It included "the Mayhew Farm," near Sud. (200 A.); another farm, 705 A. [probably 75 A.], and 6 A. of meadow; 2 A. dividend land; mansion-house, land, and orchard in Charlestown; and a farm in Haverhill, 100 A.

He had a son Benjamin, b. in Newbury, 1647; and there was a Benjamin Allen settled in Wat. about the same time as did Walter and his sons; but no son Benjamin is mentioned in the will or other instruments executed by Walter.

Lewis Allen [see 70] was an early settler of Wat. (1665), but there is no evidence that he was a kinsman of Walter.

1 (II.) DANIEL ALLEN, son of Walter, m. MARY, dr. of Rev. John Sherman, of Wat. [Sherman, 51]. After his m., he resided successively in Charlestown, Watertown, Lancaster, and Watertown, and d. in Sud., 1706.

EPITAPH.

Pious Lydia, made and given by God,
As a most meet help unto John Bailey,
Minister of the Gospel.
Good betimes—Best at last,
Lived by faith—Died in grace,
Went off singing—Left us weeping,
Walked with God till translated in the 39th year of her age,
Ap. 16, 1691.*

Read her epitaph in Prov. xxxi., 10, 11, 12, 28, 29, 30, 31.

* In the Church records, in the handwriting of Mr. Bailey, is this record, under date of April 12, 1690. "But Lyddy is dead and I feel entirely indisposed to everything."

HIS EPITAPH.

Here lyes the precious dust of Thomas Bailey.

A painful preacher,
An eminent liver,
A tender husband,
A careful father,
A brother for adversity,
A faithful friend,
A most desirable neighbour,
A pleasant companion,
A common good,
A cheerful doer,
A patient sufferer,
Lived much in little time,
A good copy for all survivors,
Aged 35 years.
He slept in Jesus, 21 January, 1688. (88–9.)

BENFIELD. MARY BENFIELD, m., Sept. 28, 1652, SAMUEL GARFIELD. [Garfield, 2]. Nov. 10, 1636, ALICE BENFIELD, an orphan, aged 3 years, was appointed to Emanuel White and wife Katharine, of Wat., for 15 years. [See Winthrop, II 346.]

BENJAMIN.

1 JOHN BENJAMIN arrived in the ship Lion, Sept. 16, 1632; was adm. freeman Nov. 6, 1632; was a proprietor of Camb., and perhaps he first settled there. If so, it was only for a short time, as his house, with goods to the amount of £100, was burnt in Wat. Ap. 7, 1636. [Winthrop, I. 185.] Gov. Winthrop designates him as "Mr. Benjamin," and in 1642 he had the largest homestall in Wat. He d. June 14, 1645, and inventory (£297, 3, 2), was made by Simon Stone, John Eddie, and Thomas Marret. His will, dated June 12, 1645, two days before his death, mentions beloved wife, not named, eldest son John, and 7 other chil. not named, some of whom were "small." [See Gen. Reg., III. 176.] He appointed "my brother John Eddie, of Wat.," and Thomas Marret, of Camb., executors. His wid., ABIGAIL, went with her son-in-law, Joshua Stubbs, to Charlestown about 1654, where she d. May 20, 1687, aged 87. Probably she did not live continuously in Charlestown. Mar. 28, 1670, Abigail Benjamin, spinster of Wat., for £12, sold to John Wellington, of Wat., three parcels of land in Camb. [As a Richard Benjamin came over with John in 1632, and was proprietor of Wat. in 1642, he may have been a brother, instead of a son, of John, Senr. His age at his embarkation is not given.]

2 1. MARY. She d. Ap. 10, 1646. Her will, proved June 4, 1646 [See Geneal. Reg.

III. 178], mentions Pastor Knolls, her aunt Wines, sister Abigail Stubbs, cousin Anne Wyes, and brothers, not named. [This Will renders it very probable that her father left only two daughters; that the wife of Barnabas Wines was a sister of John Benjamin, sen., or of his wife, and that Anne Wyes, in the will, should be Wines.]

3 2. ABIGAIL, m., about 1640 or '41, JOSHUA STUBBS, of Wat., adm. freeman May 2, 1649, by whom she had at least three chil., viz.:

4 1. Samuel, b. Aug. 3, 1642.

5 2. Mary, m., Mar. 24, 1674–5, John Traine. [Traine, 10.]

6 3. Elizabeth, m., about 1674, Jonathan Stimson. [Stimson, 1.] Nov. 8, 1654, Joshua Stubbs, then of Charlestown, and wife Abigail, with the consent of mother Abigail Benjamin, sold to Joseph Underwood, for £30, their homestall (a house and 12 acres), and several other parcels of land in Wat. He d. soon after this date, and his wid. m. John Woodward. [Woodward, 14.]

13. 7 3. JOHN, d. in Wat., Dec. 22, 1706, aged 86.

8 4. RICHARD, proprietor of Wat., 1642, by wife ANNA, had 1. Anna, b. in Wat., Sept. 1643. He settled on Long Island, and was adm. freeman of Connecticut, 1664. It is questionable whether this was a son of the first John.

9 5. JOSHUA, of Charlestown, d. 1684, s. p. leaving wid. THANKFUL.

10 6. SAMUEL, b. 1628, took oath of fidelity 1652; by wife MARY, had dr. Mary, b. in Wat., May 12, 1666. Oct. 28, 1667, he and wife Mary sold to Daniel Medup three lots of land. 1st. 120 acres adjoining lands of his mother; 2d. 6 acres in Little Nonesuch Meadow; 3d. Farm lands elsewhere surrounding. In the same month, Oct. 19, 1667, he sold to his mother, Abigail, for £35, 10 acres with the mansion house, &c. He moved to Hoccanum, in Hartford, Conn., and d. 1669, leaving wife Mary exec'r, brother Caleb overseer, and sons Samuel and John, and drs. Mary and Abigail. [See Hinman, p. 114–15.]

11 7. CALEB, settled in Wethersfield, Conn., adm. freeman of Conn., 1669; d. BISCOE (BRISCOE).

NATHANIEL, the progenitor of this Watertown family, wrote his name Briscoe, which is, undoubtedly, the true orthography; but it became an early usage in the records to write it Biscoe and Bisco, which usage has continued to this time. The name, Briscoe, occurs frequently in the Boston town record between 1642 and 1686, but it has not been ascertained what affinity there was, if any, between those of Boston and those of Watertown. Arms of Brisco, of Co. of Cumberland, and of Sussex. Ar. three greyhounds courant in pale sa. Crest. A greyhound courant sa. seising a hare ppr. Motto—Grata sume manu.

1 (I.) NATHANIEL BISCOE, "the rich tanner," was in Watertown as early as 1642, and probably 3 or 4 years earlier. In that year he wrote and circulated privately a pamphlet "against the way of supporting ministers," that gave great offence, and for which he was fined ten pounds. In that year, his barn, with leather and corn, amounting to £100, was destroyed by fire. He was so dissatisfied with the prevalent ecclesiastical intolerance that he returned to England about the end of 1651, or early the next year. Oct. 2, 1651, he sold to John Wincol the 46 acres of land, which he purchased of the town; deed witnessed by Thomas Broughton, Nathaniel Biscoe, Jr., and Mary Broughton. He wrote a letter, dated London, Sept. 7, 1652, printed in Vol. I., 3d series of Mass. Hist. Coll., which fell into the hands of Government, and produced some excitement at the time. His wife, ELIZABETH, was buried in Wat., Nov. 20, 1642. In that letter he mentions his uncle Richard Briscoe, who died a little before the date of the letter. He had four children, whom he left in Massachusetts. [See Winthrop's Journal, II., 92 and 3; also Francis's History of Wat.; also the letter above-mentioned.]

2 1. NATHANIEL, mentioned in his father's letter, 1652, and by Gov. Winthrop as "a gentleman born," was, in 1639, Usher of Nathaniel Eaton, "the first person who had charge of the Institution," (Harv. Coll.). Concerning the barbarous and tyrannical conduct of Eaton, and his fate, see Winthrop's Journal, I., 308, and Peirce's History of the College. He (N. B.) was living Sept., 1652.

BOND.

On referring to Doomsday-book, it will be found that numerous estates were held in England by families of the name of BOND in the time of Edward the Confessor, and through later years down to the formation of the survey by William the Conqueror. They held estates in the Counties of Cornwall, Dorset, Essex, Kent, Hants, Berks, Bedford, Suffolk, Gloucester, Northampton, and York, and in several Counties held two or more estates. Whether these were held by a few wealthy families, or by as many families as there were estates, has not been clearly ascertained; but it is probable that the families were numerous. The most distinguished families of the name in England, for the last three or four centuries, trace their lineage to Earth and Holewood in the County of Cornwall; and some of the old writers of Heraldry speak of stirps antiquissima Bondorum of that County.

There is a tradition—the very common tradition—that three brothers of the name of Bond first came to this country a little previous to 1650. One of them, THOMAS, said to have been a physician, settled in Virginia or Maryland. Of him the writer knows nothing. Perhaps he was the ancestor of that distinguished physician and surgeon, Dr. Thomas Bond, of Philadelphia, the leader among the founders of Pennsylvania Hospital, who was born in Maryland, in 1712. Another of the three, JOHN, settled in Newbury, Mass., and was a proprietor, 1642. He has descendants in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Michigan. The other, WILLIAM, said to have been educated a merchant, settled in Watertown, Mass.; and from him are descended most of the families of the name of Bond in New England.

The results of the recent researches of Mr. H. G. Somerley, in England, tend to discredit this tradition. He has satisfactorily ascertained that the first William Bond of Watertown, was a son of Thomas and Elizabeth Bond, of Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk Co., England, and that he was baptized there, in the church of St. James, Sept. 8, 1625. This William had brothers, Thomas and John, older than himself; but the Will of their father, Thomas, renders it very probable, that all his sons, except William, settled in England. This Thomas Bond (father of William), was the youngest son of Jonas and Rose Bond, of Bury St. Edmunds. It is probable that this Jonas Bond moved into Bury St. Edmunds after the birth of his second child, as his eldest two children were not baptized there, and he may have moved from Hawley or Woolpit, where, according to his Will, he owned houses. He was buried Aug. 5, 1601. It is probable that the maiden name of his wife was Wood. [See Bond, Appendix I.]

* In reply to an inquiry concerning these two Johns, Mr. Somerley says: "He (Jonas Bond), had two sons named John living at the same time. It is not unusual to find similar cases, and in almost every instance the two sons are named John. Why that name should be selected to double upon, I have been unable to learn" It appears by the Will of Rev. John Sherman, of Wat., that he had two daughters Mary living at the same time. It is probable that he had one Mary by each wife.

Elizabeth and three other chil. 5. Elizabeth, bap. Mar. 12, 1630. 6. Francis, bap. May 31, 1632, not mentioned in his father's Will. 7. Mary, bap. Jan. 31, 1636. 8. Jonas, bap. Aug. 5, 1638, a grocer of Bury St. Edmunds. Will, dated Oct. 3, 1681, proved Nov. 11, mentions wife Mary, but no children.† She was probably the wid. Mary Bond, of Bury St. Edmunds, who, by her Will, dated Ap. 1, proved July 31, 1701, gives to her brother William Earle her tenement in Risby-Gate Street; speaks of her meadow in Farnham-all-Saints, formerly John Bond's. Several persons are named in the Will, to whom she gave legacies, but none of the name of Bond.

7. ELIZABETH, bap. Mar. 12, 1699. [It is a conjecture of mine that she m. (1st), —— PALMER, and afterwards m., Feb. 8, 1625, DEACON EPHRAIM CHILD, who settled in Wat., 1630.]

8. MARGARET, bap. Dec. 10, 1600.

* Abstract of the Will of Thomas Bond, of Bury St. Edmunds, Maltster, dated Nov. 5, 1658, proved at the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, in London, Mar. 10, 1659. He gives,

To Thomas, his eldest son, the tenement where he dwells, and the Malt-house in North Gate Street.

To John, his second son, his lands and tenements in Monks Ely.

To William, his third son, legacies, but no lands nor tenements [he being in America].

To Henry, his fourth son, lands and tenements in Bury St. Edmunds.

To Jonas, his youngest son, lands and tenements in Farnham. He mentions his eldest daughter Elizabeth, and his dr. Mary; mentions Hannah, the daughter of his son John, and the other three children; also the four chil. of his son Henry. He desires to be buried in the churchyard of St. Mary.

† Abstract of the Will of Jonas Bond, grocer, of Bury St. Edmunds, dated Oct. 3, 1681. Gives his lands, &c., in Farnham, and in Bury St. Edmunds, to Thomas Bond, eldest son of brother John Bond. To Elizabeth, dr. of his brother, Henry Bond, £50. To Bartholomew Richmond, son of his sister, £50. To Jonas, son of his brother, John Bond, £50. Appoints Mr. Thos. Lancaster and Edward Oxborough, of B. St. E., supervisors, and his wife, Mary, executrix. Gives said Lancaster 20s. to buy him a ring, and said Oxborough his silver tobacco box.

Witnesses: George Moody, John Cooke, and Samuel Lancaster. Proved at Bury St. Edmunds, Nov. 11, 1681.

Besides the families and descendants of William, of Wat., and of John, of Newbury, there were families of the name of Bond in Boston from the middle to the end of the 17th century, who are not known to have left any descendants. There was a Robert Bond, who was an early settler (1648), of East Hampton, L. I., probably afterwards of Connecticut. Perhaps he was a descendant of Robert Bond, of Bury St. Edmunds, who had a son Robert, bap. Jan. 30, 1572.

There are numerous families of Bonds scattered through almost every State in the Union. Some of them trace their lineage directly to emigrants from England, while the lineage of others is soon lost in a vague tradition. Of the latter class are several families in the City and County of Philadelphia, and in the adjoining County of Chester, who say that their ancestors first settled on Long Island and in the County of West Chester, N. Y. Other families are comparatively new-comers from England and Ireland.

For some account of the Bonds, in England, see Burke's Genealogical Heraldic History of the Commoners of England, Vol. I.

It has not been satisfactorily ascertained what coat of arms, if any, the Bonds of Bury St. Edmunds, or of Suffolk, were entitled to bear. The most ancient one belonging to the name Bond, and not appropriated to any one family or locality, is very simple, viz.: sable, a fesse or. The arms of the very ancient family of Earth and Holewood, Cornwall, which have been borne by several scattered branches, and which it has been supposed that the Bonds of Bury St. Edmunds were entitled to bear, are the following:—Arg. on a chev. sa. three Bezants. Crest, a demi pegasus az. winged and semée of etoiles or. Motto, Non sufficit orbis. I leave this point to be determined by those who deem it of such importance as to deserve an elaborate investigation.

(I.) WILLIAM BOND, m., Feb. 7, 1649–50, SARAH BISCOE, dr. of Nathaniel Biscoe, "the rich tanner," of Wat. [Biscoe, 7.] She d. Feb. ("lay dead 15th"), 1692–3, and he m., in the spring of 1695,* Mrs. ELIZABETH NEVINSON, wid. of John Nevinson, of Wat. [Nevinson, 1], s. p. He d. Dec. 14, 1695, intestate, and his wid. survived him about 25 years.

William Bond Senior

* Mar. 6, 1694–5, Samuel Hastings was licensed, by the Court, to keep an Inn, in the house in which his mother, Mrs. Nevinson, lives, upon her leaving said house. [County Records.]

His first marriage is the earliest mention of him in the town records. There is, however, a deposition on the files of the county court, which renders it very probable, that he came to America at a very early age, in 1630, with Deacon Ephraim Child, and which greatly strengthens the presumption that Elizabeth, wife of Dea. Child, was a sister of his father. She had lived several years with her second husband without having children; and the presumption is, that when she was about to embark for America, her brother, Thomas Bond, who was filling his own house with sons, gave his third son, William, to his sister to supply a void, of which she would be the more sensible in her new abode. [See Dea. E. Child.] The following is the deposition: "William Bond, aged about 55 years, Testifieth yt I ye deponent lived at the lower end of Watertowne next Cambridge fiftee years agoe [not fifteen, as is evident from the context]; and was well acquainted with the land yt belongs to widdow Thatcher, which was formerly Deacon Ephraim Childs, and alsoe with ye lott yt was old goodman Warrens; which joyned to said Decon Childs, between which two lots ye way now in controversie is contended for; and I ye deponent cannot remember yt ever thare any allowed way thare, but ye two lotts afore spoken of weare Improved closs to one another and no footway, I ever ——— of; or any other way yt was ever granted by ye town. Sworn 20, 10, 1681."

He purchased a farm, originally settled by Capt William Jennison, who sold it to Rev. John Knowles. After the return of Mr. Knowles to England, and while he resided at Bristol, he executed a deed, dated Mar. 15, 1654–5, conveying his estate in Wat., for the sum of £200, to William Bond, in the possession of whose descendants it remained more than 170 years. It is now owned by John P. Cushing, Esq., of Wat., whose taste and princely liberality have made it one of the most elegant residences in New England.

He received, at different times, numerous offices and appointments of trust. He was often employed in taking Inventories, writing Wills and Deeds, and settling estates. He was Selectman, Town Clerk, a Captain,* a Justice of the Peace, a member of the Council of Safety in 1689; often represented Watertown, and was elected Speaker of the General Court in 1691, '92, '93, and '95, being the first speaker elected under the new Royal Charter, which united the colonies of Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay into one colony. He was admitted freeman, Oct. 11, 1682, and to the church, f. c., Mar. 27, 1687. Oct. 7, 1679, he was appointed by the County Court, according to a law then in force, on a committee, consisting of Capt. Thomas Prentice, Mr. William Bond, and Dea. John Stone, to rebuild Lancaster, which had been destroyed by Indians. [See Willard's History of Lancaster, Worcester Mag. II., 294.] June 10, 1686, he was appointed by the President and Council of Mass., on a committee, with general powers to order and regulate all matters concerning the settlement of Worcester. [Lincoln's History of Worcester, p. 33.]

Chil. of WILLIAM and SARAH BOND.

10. 2	1. WILLIAM, b. Dec. 1, 1650; d. 1724; was a lieut. and deacon; admitted freeman, Mar. 22, 1689–90.
19. 3	2. JOHN, b. Dec. 1652; admitted freeman Ap. 18, 1690; a house-joiner, sometimes designated in the records as sergeant, and in the church records as "a thrifty man both as to this world and the next."

* In 1676, he was, says Mr. Felt, a lieut. of a company of horse. As he was, about this period, repeatedly appointed on the same commission, with Capt. Thomas Prentice, of Newton. on distant duty, perhaps he was Lieut. under that distinguished commander of horse. In 1692, those parts of Watertown, which subsequently became the towns of Watertown, Waltham, and Weston, were designated as the precincts of Capt. Bond's Company, of Captain Garfield's Company, and Lieut. Jones's Company.

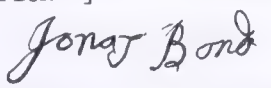
[See Genealogy of Edward Jackson, by Francis Jackson, Esq., of Boston.]



He held a Justice's commission more than 24 years, and was sometimes called "the marrying Squire," on account of the great frequency of his officiating at weddings during the long time he held office. He represented the town many times in the General Court, and was often intrusted with its most important municipal business. He belonged to the military force sent into Canada in 1690. under Sir Wm. Phipps. On the 19th June, 1721, Jonas Bond, Esq., of Watertown, Francis Fulham, Esq., of Weston, and Francis Bowman, Esq., of Lexington, were commissioned by the Governor and Council "to be Commissioners of Sewers," and the immediate object of their appointment was "the cleansing and removing all such banks and other obstructions in the aforesaid river (Sudbury and Concord) which do occasion the overflowing thereof, and of drowning the meadows and other low lands adjoining or lying on said river; and to employ workmen and labourers to effect the same." The extent of the work was "from the mill-pond of Christopher Osgood, in Billerica bounds, to the cart bridge in Sudbury." On his gravestone in Watertown is the following epitaph:

"Here lies buried the body of
who was called of God to serve the public, both as a Lieut. Colonel of a regiment of militia, and as a Justice of the Peace, and was careful to discharge his trusts with zeal, fidelity, and courage; who was a man of unaffected piety, which was attended with all those virtues that are requisite to accomplish a Christian; who was a kind husband, a tender father, a steady friend, and a hearty lover of good men; and, having served his generation, by the will of God fell asleep Ap. 21, 1727, ætatis suæ 63."

By the side of this gravestone is another, with the following inscription:

"Memento mori fugit hora.
Here lies the body of Grace Bond, wife of Jonas Bond, aged 35 years.
Died Ap. 11, 1699."

He m., Oct. 1, 1804, Jemima Halloway Bush, of Boylston. The following brief obituary appeared in a Springfield paper the day after his decease:

"It is with profound regret that we record the death of one of our oldest and most respectable citizens, Mr. Thomas Bond. He died on Tuesday, after a brief illness, at the age of 74. Twenty-seven years ago he removed from West Brookfield to this town, and from that day to this, he has maintained a character, spotless in its honour, and radiant in its discriminating and unostentatious benevolence. Though it is in the course of nature that a life, leaning so far from the shore of time over the ocean of eternity, should drop its ripened apple of gold into the abyss, we still weep to see it disappear, and miss it with sorrow from the trembling bough which it adorned, and where it hung."

116. 400 (IV.) Col. WILLIAM BOND, m., Feb. 7, 175–, LUCY BROWN. [Brown, 60.] She d. in Gilsum, N. H., Jan. 1815, where she had resided a few years with her son William.

He was a Lieut. Colonel under Col. Thomas Gardner, who was mortally wounded in the battle of Bunker Hill, and d. July 1st. After that event, he (W. B.), had the command of that Regiment, which, in Nov. 1775, was arranged as the 25th Regiment of the Continental Army, and belonged to Gen. Green's Brigade, which was stationed on Prospect Hill. Early in the following March, the 5th and 25th Reg'ts (Col. Stark's, and Col. Bond's), received marching orders for New York, where they arrived on the 30th of the month. On the 20th April, 4 Regiments (the 8th, Col. Poor's; the 15th, Col. Patterson's; the 24th, Col. Greaton's; the 25th, Col. Bond's) were ordered to Canada, being the first detachment ordered thither, by the way of the Lakes, on that expedition which proved so disastrous to the Americans, partly on account of the extreme sickliness of the season, and partly on account of the incompetency of some of the numerous generals, who were successively in command. He returned from Canada, with his force greatly weakened by disease and death, and encamped on Mount Independence, opposite to Ticonderoga. For the important services rendered by the 25th Reg't, in the retreat of the army from Canada, see Gordon's Hist of the Am. Revolution, vol. ii., pp. 260, '61, and '62.

The following is extracted from a letter, dated "Camp Mount Independence, opposite Ticonderoga, Sept. 4, 1776," and published in the Boston Gazette, of Sept. 23, 1776. "On the 31st ult., departed this life, Col. William Bond. He met the last enemy with the greatest calmness and intrepidity. In his death our country has lost a true patriot, and a most vigilant officer of tried bravery. The first of this instant his remains were escorted with military parade to the place of burial in the front of the Regiment, where the Rev. Ebenezer David delivered a funeral oration and a prayer. After which the corpse was interred, and the Colonel's character honoured by a discharge of three 24 pounders, and the usual volleys of musketry. The whole was conducted in a manner suitable to the occasion."

BOWMAN.

1 (I.) NATHANIEL BOWMAN applied to be admitted freeman, Oct. 19, 1630; but his name is not on the list of those admitted, but it is on the earliest list of proprietors (Feb., 1636–7), "then inhabiting" Watertown. He moved—time not ascertained—to Camb. Farms (Lex.) His wife, ANNE, the mother of his children, probably d. first, as she is not mentioned in his Will. He d. Jan. 26, 1681–2. The Will of "Nathaniel Bowman, of Camb., gentleman," dated Oct. 21, 1679, proved Ap. 4, 1682, gives to son Francis the "farm in Camb., where I now dwell, which farm I purchased of Edward Goffe," &c., with dwelling-house, &c.; said Francis to pay the other legacies, viz.: to son Nathaniel £25, "to be paid four years after my death;" if he die without lawful issue, to revert to the children of Francis. To Dorcas March, and her heirs, £50; to gr. children, Nathaniel and Benjamin Blackleach, £25 each, to be paid when 21 years old; to gr. daughter, Hannah Turner, £15 at 18 yrs. old, or at marriage, which, with what her parents had had, would make a full share. In each case, on failure of heirs, the legacies to revert to the children of son Francis, who was sole executor. The following Inventory indicates that he had no wife, and that he had previously disposed of nearly all his personal property, viz.: house and 10 A. land, £120, 7; 20 A. meadow, £60; 70 A. upland unfenced, £70; mare and cow, £3, 1; bedstead, bed, bolster, and old green rugg, £3; table and chairs, £1; cross-cut saw and 4 wedges, £0, 10.

BRIGHT.*

There were two early settlers of Watertown of the name of HENRY BRIGHT, who, from their respective ages, had been supposed to be father and son. A careful examination of the town and county records had rendered this supposition extremely improbable, and the late extensive researches in England by H. G. Somerby, Esq., have clearly disproved it.

HENRY BRIGHT, Sen., in the town record sometimes called "old Bright," d. in Wat., Sept. 14, 1674, "above a hundred years old," according to the town records, and 109 years old, according to the county records. Owing to his great age and indigence, he was taken care of by the town for some time previous to his decease. His Inventory amounted to only £2 9*s*. It included "1 pair of shop shears," rendering it probable that he had been a tailor. It included no land, although he had formerly been a proprietor. It is probable that he came over between the year 1637, when his name is not on the list of proprietors, and 1642, when he owned a homestall of 8 acres.

HENRY BRIGHT, Jr., came to America as early as 1630, and probably at the same time with Gov. Winthrop, as they were from the same County (Suffolk), and their families were remotely related by marriage. His name is the 48th on the list of members of the first church of Boston, that was originally organized in Charlestown, which shows that he must have been a member of it in 1630.

To the liberality of my friend, Mr. J. B. Bright, of Waltham, and to the scrutinizing and persevering researches of Mr. Somerby, in England, we, the numerous descendants of Dea. Henry Bright, are indebted for the following information respecting his pedigree, and for the accompanying illustrations.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, BURY ST. EDMUND'S.

The rebuilding of St. Mary's Church (originally erected A.D. 1005), was begun in 1424, and finished about 1433. This fine structure is 139 ft. long (exclusive of the chancel, which is 74 by 68 ft.), and 67½ ft. in breadth. The roof of the nave, which was framed at Caen, in Normandy, is admired for its lightness and elegance. [See Guide, &c., of Bury St. Edmund's.] The first Walter Bright [see pedigree], belonged to this church, as did also John Bright, his presumed father, and his two sons, John and Edmund. It was in this churchyard that Thomas Bond (father of the first William Bond, of Wat.), requested to be buried.

Thomas Bright, Sen. [see pedigree], whose likeness is here presented, was an Alderman, and a liberal benefactor of Bury St. Edmund's. In the Guild Hall is an original portrait of him, which was procured by the Corporation, and from which the annexed engraving was taken. Beneath the picture, on the same panel, is the following inscription:

* Mr. Somerby says, "My friend, Thomas Wright, Esq., F. S. A., the best Saxon scholar in England, gives me the origin of this name thus: 'The name Bright, is an excellent Anglo-Saxon name. In the Saxon it was spelt Beorht. It is the simple word bright; but it was used then with much more extensive meaning, as signifying distinguished, excellent, surpassing in courage, or anything else;—as you would say now, a shining fellow. We say a bright fellow, more with reference to his intelligence; hence the name means an excellent or distinguished man. Beorht was a common name among the Anglo-Saxons, and is often found in the records.'"

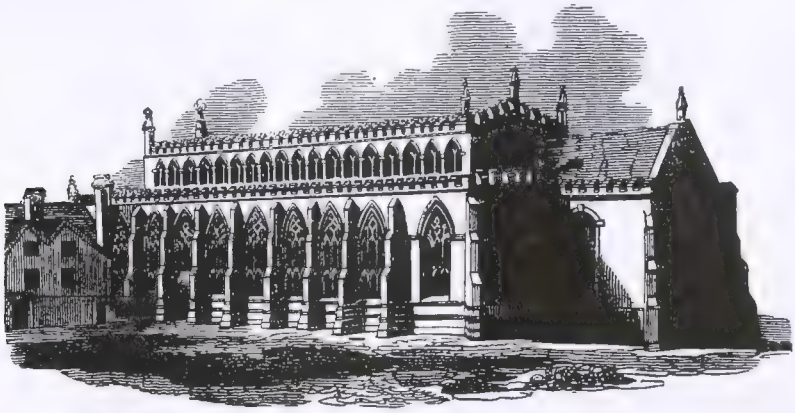
Thomas Bragge

"Thomas Bright, sometyme draper* of this Town, a worthy benefactor, who gave for the benefit of this towne the Inheritance of a portion of Thythes worth x lbs. per annum, and an equal part of his goods, as much as he gave any of his children, which amounted to ccc lb. 1587."

Abstract of his Will, proved 1587. Wife MARGARET to have the manor of Botters, in Tomson, Co. Norfolk, with the tenement called Brightmeares, and others; also, the manor of Brookhall, in Foxearth, Co. Essex. After her death, son Thomas to have the Norfolk estate, and his son Walter to succeed. To his son Robert his property in Great Barton, called Barton Placé. To son Henry, his lands in Barton, and in other towns and parishes, which he purchased of Sir Robert Jermyn, Knight, and George Cocke. To said Henry, his house where he now dwells, and the house where Thomas dwells, and the tavern and other buildings in Skinner's Row and Smith's Row. To son Jasper his tenement, &c., in Newton. To son Thomas his close, &c., in Westgate Street, which his father, Walter, gave him by his Will. To daughter Margaret, wife of Mr. Roodes. To daughter Anne, wife of Thomas Reade; daughters Katherine and Susan; brother Edmund and his son Thomas; brother John; father-in-law, Mr. Jervis, of Whepstead. Sons Thomas and Robert executors.

He belonged to the Parish of St. James, and his children were baptized in that church, which is here represented. In the same church the children and grandchildren of Jonas and Rose Bond were baptized. [See p. 45.]

The Guide to the Town, Abbey, and Antiquities of Bury St. E. says, "St. James's Church, constructed of freestone, is a fine Gothic building, the west end of which is remarkably handsome. The first church here was erected about the year 1200." The present structure, though far advanced in the year 1500, was not finished till the Reformation, when Edward VI. gave £200 towards its completion. Its length is 137 ft., and its breadth 69 ft. The chancel is 56 by 28 ft.



ST. JAMES'S CHURCH, BURY ST. EDMUND'S.

Netherhall, the seat of Robert Bright and his descendants [see Pedigree], is situated in Thurston, Co. Suff., England, about six miles from Bury St. Edmund's. It was visited by Mr. Somerby in 1851, who describes it as a beautiful place, still kept up as a gentleman's seat. The building stands about 700 or 800 yards from the road, and is approached through two magnificent avenues of ancient oaks. There is a fine lawn in front of the hall, skirted by a park and preserves for game. Edmund Tyrrell, Esq., inherited the estate from the Brights; in what manner was not ascertained. He sold it to George Chinery, Esq., from whom it passed to W. Chinery Barrett, whose widow now enjoys it. There are in the hall four portraits of the Brights, pointed out to Mr. Somerby by Mrs. Barrett; two gentlemen (one in armour) and two ladies. There are also two full-length portraits of gentlemen in the drawing-room, in the costume of the period of James II., which are master-pieces. One of them is an original portrait of William III.; the other unknown. Mrs. Barrett has a plan of the estate, drawn by Henry Bright, cousin of Dea. Henry Bright, of Watertown. On this plan is an outline sketch of the building as it was then. It has been considerably altered in the exterior.

* "A draper, in those days, was a man of superior station in society, and generally very wealthy."

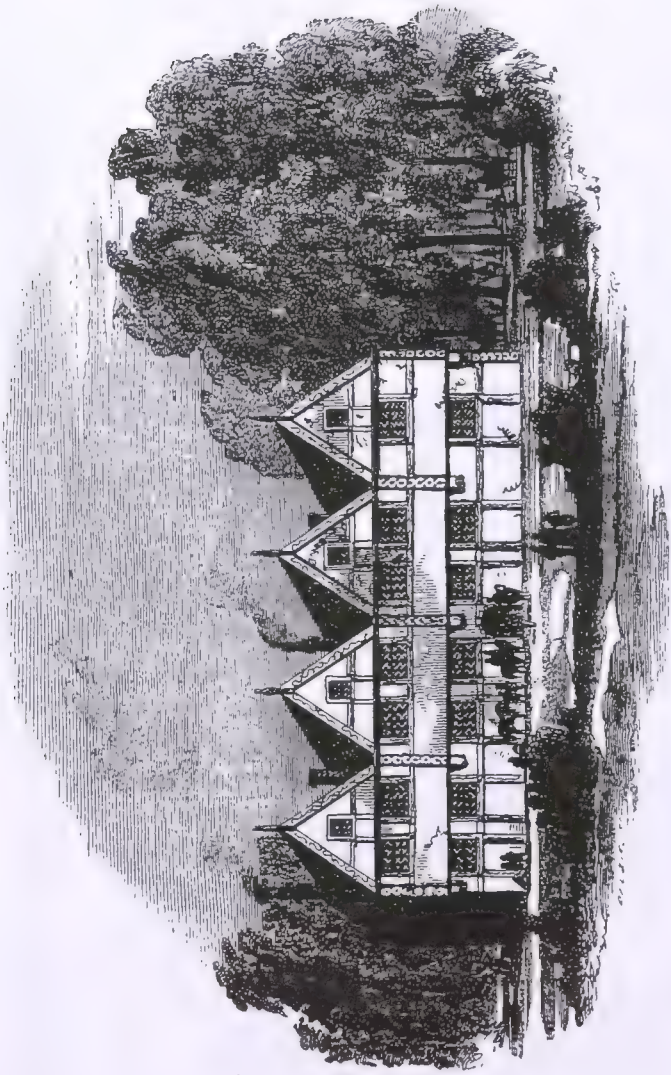
NOTE.—Mr. Somerby, under date of Jan. 13, 1852, says, "I have made discoveries in County of Norfolk. A portion of Suffolk is in the Diocese of Norwich, and many of the Wills proved there. I found that of Robert Bright, ancestor of the Netherhall family, and I am now enabled to add a little more to the Pedigree. He mentions sons Thomas, William, and Henry. Henry was the principal heir, having Packenham and Thurston estates; gives Thomas, son of Edmund, now living at Bury St. Edmund's, 20 shillings a year. To Thomas Reade, of Bury St. E., 20 shillings a year. To his sister Lady Cary, and sister Barker, of Houghton, £5 each. To Thomas, son of Jasper Bright, my brother, £10. To his sister, Joan Houghton, bedding, &c. Appoints his son Henry, executor."



NETHERHALL, THURSTON, SUFFOLK COUNTY, ENG.

This engraving represents it as it was when occupied by the Brights. The last of the family, Thomas Bright, d. Dec. 31, 1736, aged 23, unm., and this branch became extinct. He was buried with his ancestors, in Thurston Church, where are monumental slabs, with arms and inscriptions, beautifully sculptured, to the memory of the Brights of Netherhall.

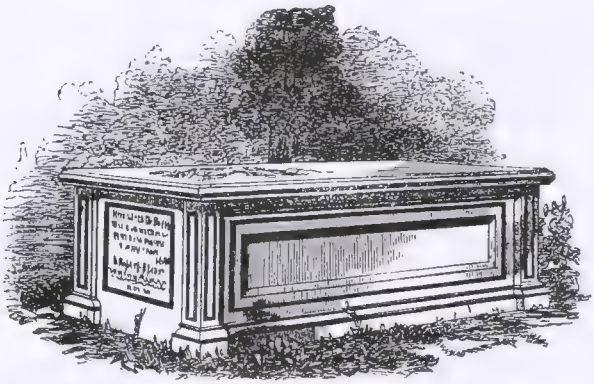
TALMACH HALL, IN LITTLE BRICET, SUFFOLK COUNTY.

Talmach Hall, in Little Bricet, Suffolk Co., was the seat of John Bright (son of Thomas, Jr.), and his descendants. [See Pedigree]. It is now a farm-house. The drawing from which the cut was taken, was made in 1852.

In Bricet Church is a monument, erected to the memory of John Bright, surmounted by the Bright coat of arms, very elaborately executed, of which the preceding cut is a good representation.

Arms of BRIGHT, of Bury St. Edmund's: Sable, a fesse argent between 3 escallops or. Crest. A dragon's head gule, vomiting flames of fire proper, collared, and lined. These arms were confirmed, in 1615 (not then granted, as stated by Burke), to Thomas Bright, Jr., showing that they had been in the family long before that period. Escallops denote pilgrimages or service in the Holy Land. The fesse is emblematic of the military girdle.

In the churchyard of Bury St. E. is a tombstone of the Brights, on which is the Bright coat of arms. The inscription is nearly obliterated, and the crest of the arms entirely so.



Family of HENRY and MARY BRIGHT, of Bury St. Edmund's, the parents of Dea. Henry Bright, of Watertown. [See Pedigree.]

HENRY BRIGHT, 3d son of Thomas, Sen., m. MARY ——. No record of his decease, nor of the settlement of his estate has been discovered; but he died in 1609, and his wid. Mary, m., about 1613, William Cole.

1. MARY, b. probably in 1594; m. WILLIAM FORTH, of Nayland, Gent. [He was the only son of William Forth, of Butley, in Suffolk, Esq., Captain of the Train Band, who m. Anne, dr. of Thomas Browne, son of Anthony, of Esling, in Norfolk; and he was grandson of Sir William Forth, of Butley, who m. Dorothy, dr. and heir of Sir John Gilbert, of Frisborough Hall. This Sir William was the eldest son of Robert Forth, and his youngest brother, John, was father of Mary Forth, the first wife of Gov. Winthrop. She was sole heir of John, a younger son of Robert Forth.] Chil. 1. William, bap. Sept. 22, 1612; in 1657 exec'r of the Will of his Aunt Elizabeth (Bright) Dell, and by her styled Dr. William Forth. 2. Marie, bap. Oct. 21, 1614. 3. Abigail, bap. May 16, 1620.

2. Thomas, bap. in St. James's Church, Nov. 28, 1596. He was a merchant of Ipswich, Suff., and never married. His Will, dated Ap. 17, 1618, proved Jan. 26, 1625, after providing an annuity for his mother, Marie, then the wife of William Cole, gives to "my brother John Bright, and my brother Henry Bright," each £70, to be paid to them at the age of 21 yrs.; "to my sisters, Elizabeth and Mathew (Martha) Bright," each £50, at the age of 21 yrs.; "to my sister Marie, wife of William Forth, £5. To Mary Woodgate, daughter of Thomas Woodgate, of Ipswich, £5 at 21 yrs. He appointed "William Forth, my brother-in-law, of Nayland, in said Co., gentleman," his ex'r and residuary legatee. Wit., Edmund Layfield and William Gattewood.
3. Elizabeth, bap. Sept. 17, 1598; m. —— Dell. In her Will, proved Aug. 6, 1657 [Will of Elizabeth Dell, wid., of Stratford le Bow, Middlesex], she bequeathed to her brother, "Master Henry Bright, of New England," £200, and to each of his seven chil. £10. She also made bequests to her sister, Martha Blower, and her children; to her nephew, William Parks; to her cousin, —— Cawley, Esq.; to Rev. Stephen Greenhall, of Stepney; to the Poor of Stepney, and 20*s*. each to several individuals for the purchase of rings. She appointed her nephew, Dr. William Forth, Ex'r, and her brothers [in-law], Blower and Forth, overseers of her Will. She d. s. p.
4. John, bap. Nov. 30, 1600. As there is no reference to him or his family in the Will of his sister Elizabeth, it is probable that he never married, or died s. p.
5. Henry, bap. Dec. 29, 1602; came to America in 1630, and settled in Watertown.
6. Stephen, bap. May 12, 1605; buried Nov. 21, 1607.
7. Samuel, bap. Nov. 24, 1606; buried July 14, 1607.
8. Anne, bap. Feb. 3, 1609; d. young.
9. Martha, m. —— Blowers; both living in 1657.

Arms. Browne. Sa. 3 mallets arg: Quartering; party per bend arg. and sab. in bend 3 mascles bendways counterchanged. Or. on a fesse gule 3 crosses pattée arg. Arg. on a bend sa. a bezant in chief. Crest. On a wreath arg. and sa. a demi-stork [? a stork's head couped], its neck nowed gule and wings displ. arg. In its beak a scroll, bearing the motto, "apprendre à mourir."

Joseph Phillips, Esq., says, "The arms first mentioned in the quartering above, viz., Party per bend. arg. and sa. in bend 3 mascles bendways counterchanged, together with the crest and motto, were granted to the first Christopher Browne, of Tolethorpe. in 1480 (20th Edw. IV.) See Blore's Rutland, p. 219." [MS. letter to W. P. Browne, Esq., Dec., 1864.] It is not improbable, that the other quarterings were accessions to the head of the family at Tolethorpe subsequent to the divergence of the Hawkedon branch. If so, it would seem that the arms of the American would be confined to the original mallet arms, together with the arms, crest, and motto granted as above to the first Christopher Browne, of Tolethorpe.

In a family of the direct descendants of Abraham Browne of Watertown. there is an ancient piece of plate, with the following coat of arms engraved upon it. Ar. on a bend double cotised sa. three eagles displayed of the first. Crest. An eagle displayed arg.; on the wings, two bars sa. The arms are almost identical with arms engraved on a mural monument in the chancel of Hawkedon church, erected to the memory of Rev. William Brown, who d. Feb. 3, 1755. On the latter is an empaling, which is evidently a later graft.

BROWNE (Brown). INTRODUCTION.

There were three early settlers of Watertown, of the name of Browne, belonging, as we have reason to believe, to the same family, and nearly related, viz.: Richard, Abraham, and John.* There is little doubt that John was nephew to Richard. It was for some time believed, upon apparently very satisfactory evidence, that Abraham and Richard were brothers; but some facts have come to light, that would harmonize as well with the supposition that Abraham was the nephew of Richard. (Note 7.) Mr. Somerby† has satisfactorily traced the lineage of this family, through several generations, to Christopher Browne, of the parish of Hawkedon, Co. of Suffolk, England, and thence to the ancient family of Browne, of the Borough of Stamford, in Lincolnshire, and of Tolethorpe, in the county of Rutland; the latter, the principal seat of the head of the family for probably four hundred years or more. In the preceding pedigree, Richard and Abraham appear as brothers, and this was probably their true relation. Diligent search in England has failed to bring to light any records that bring down the Hawkedon branch of the family to a later period than is shown in the pedigree; and in the absence of record or other strong evidence to show that Abraham belonged to the succeeding generation, he will probably remain undisturbed in his place in the table, as shown by the records relating to the Hawkedon family, and which harmonizes with all known facts, except the loose recitals referred to in note 7; and these may with equal plausibility be construed either way.

NOTES TO THE PEDIGREE, pp. 116 and 117.

Note 1. All Saints Church is one of the principal ornaments of Stamford. It is a large, well-proportioned structure, consisting of a nave, two aisles, and two chancels, one of which is at the end of the south aisle, and the other answering to the nave. It was built at the expense of Mr. John Browne, merchant of the staple of Calais, who, with his wife, lies buried at the upper end of the north aisle. The steeple was built by his son William. (See Note 2.) On a gilt brass plate in the wall is this inscription:

"Orate pro animabus, Johannis Browne, mercatoris stapule Calisie, et Margerie uxoris ejus qui quidem Johannis, obijt XXVI° die mensis Julii an d'n'i MCCCCXLIJ, etque quede' Margerie obijt XXIJ die Novembris a° d'n'i MCCCCLX° quor' animabus p'pi'cieter Deus. Amen."

Note 2. This William Browne was a "merchant of the staple of Calais." Leland says of him, that he was "a Marchant of a Very Wonderfull Richnesse, and he lyved in hoc ætate, so that sum men be alyve that have seene him." Fuller says, "He was extracted, as I am credibly informed, from the ancient family of Brownes, of this county" [Rutlandshire]. He was Alderman of Stamford, in 1435, '44, '49, '60, '66, and 70, and sheriff of Rutlandshire, in 1467, '75, '83, and '86, and probably of Lincolnshire, in 1478. He was the founder of "Browne's Hospital," called the "Old Bead House," in Stamford, which was completed in 1493, and dedicated in 1494,—for a warden, confrater, 12 poor men, and a nurse, and which he liberally endowed with the manor of Swayfield, in Lincolnshire, and other estates. This institution is still flourishing, its revenues being greatly increased, and the scope of its charities enlarged. He also built, at his own expense, the beautiful steeple of the Church of All Saints, Stamford. [The church had been erected by his father.] On the north side of the steeple, on a shield, is the device of a merchant of the staple. He and his wife were buried in the south (St. Mary's) chapel in said Church ("a chapel proper to his family"). Where formerly stood the altar, there is a blue marble stone and figures of William Browne and his wife, engraved on brass. He is dressed in a long gown, and stands upon two cushions or wool-packs; she in elegantly flowing robes, with a dog at her feet. Above the canopies, over their heads, are four blank shields and scrolls. On that over his head is inscribed, "× me spede;" and over hers, "Der Lady help at neede." At their feet, the following inscription:

* A little previous to the year 1700, another family of the name of Brown moved into Watertown, and had there a temporary residence. [See p. 145.] It is not improbable that Edmund, Thomas, and William Browne, original grantees of Sudbury, were of the same lineage as Richard and Abraham; but no evidence of it has been discovered.

† For the materials of the English pedigree of the Brownes we are indebted to the personal researches of H. G. Somerby, Esq.; and for the digestion and arrangement of them, as well as for a careful examination of early English authors, we are indebted to William P. Browne, Esq. [349], at whose instance, together with that of Charles Browne, Esq [112] the researches have been prosecuted in England. ☞ It is evident from the English records, and the early records in this country, that Browne is the correct orthography of the name of this ancient family; but the descendants of Abraham Browne of Watertown, since the 2d or 3d generation, have, with few exceptions, dropped the final e.

25.77 (IV.) Capt. JOHN BROWN, of Waltham, m., July 20, 1732, ABIGAIL BRIGHT. [78.] She d. in childbed, May 4, 1733, leaving one child. He m. (2d), July 23, 1734, HANNAH, wid. of John Flagg [106], (accidentally killed Mar. 14, 1733–4), a twin dr. of John and Mary (Harrington) Bemis [Bemis, 28]. He received from the town numerous offices and appointments of trust; was Selectman in 1744, '45, '46, '47, '48, and '52, and was Rep. in 1748. He was an innholder in 1737 and 8. Tradition has accorded to him the reputation of being a man of more than common energy and enterprise. In 1759 his assessment was the largest, except one, in Waltham. The land conveyances on record to which he was a party are very numerous. In 1760, we find him in company with Wm. Stoddard, Peter Chardon, Samuel Adams (the patriot of the Revolution, not his father, we think, as Mr. Felt supposes), Robert Auchmuty, John Ruddock, Samuel Reed, Jona. Payson, John Lee, and Wm. Rea, "the directors and some of the partners in the Land Bank Company, in their own behalf, and at the request of a great number of the partners," petitioning the General Court for a lottery, to relieve themselves from the disastrous results of that celebrated association, which was established 20 years before in Waltham, under the delusive expectation of furnishing the people a "better currency" than gold and silver, which had become very scarce. [Felt's History Mass. Currency.] In 1761 he moved to Weston, and the prestige of his enterprising character prevented the Selectmen of that town from serving him with the customary notice; and the current remark of the period, "It is impossible for Capt. John Brown ever to become poor," is still handed down, as is also its want of verification. In 1770–8 he resided in Newton, and returned to Weston probably about 1779, where he died in 1784, being in his 80th year, and in very reduced circumstances; the few hundred pounds realized in Continental money from the sale of his last real estate, turned to dust and ashes in his hands.

He was scrupulously neat in his personal habits, and carried finish and completeness in his dwelling, outhouses, and fences to the verge of extravagance, as was thought by his more plodding cotemporaries. In stature he was tall, and gentlemanly in his bearing and manners. His principal residence, while in Waltham, was the place more recently known as General Coolidge's, to whose father, William Coolidge, who married Capt. John Brown's niece, the latter sold it.

111 7. MOSES, b. Ap. 6, 1748; fitted for college by his uncle, Rev. Thomas Balch, of Dedham, and grad. Harv. Coll. 1768. After teaching school in Framingham, Lexington, and Lincoln, he settled in Beverly, as a merchant, in the autumn of 1772. Espousing the cause of American Independence with great zeal, he raised a company of men in July, 1775, under a commission from James Warner, President of the Provincial Congress, and in Jan., 1776, he joined the line of the American army as captain in Glover's Regiment [the 14th Regiment of the Continental army], with a commission signed by John Hancock, President of Congress. He was at the battle of Trenton. The term of enlistment of his corps having expired in 1777, he returned to Beverly, and resumed business with his brother-in-law, Israel Thorndike, and continued in active and successful pursuit of it until the year 1800, when he retired with an ample fortune. His constitution was vigorous, and his life active and useful. He always took an important part in the public enterprises; was a member of the State Legislature, and one of the Presidential electors in 1808. His manners were dignified and courteous. "He united integrity with benevolence; was exemplary in all social and domestic relations, and a generous contributor to public and private charities and associations." He d. June 15, 1820. He m. Note 3. This Christopher Browne was Sheriff of Rutlandshire, 8th and 16th Hen. VII. (1492 and 1500), and 1st Hen. VIII. (1509). He came over with Hen. VII., and assisted him against Richard III., for which good service King Hen. VIII., on the 6th day of July, in the 18th year of his reign, granted to his eldest son, Francis Browne, of counsel to Lady Margaret Beaufort (mother of Hen. VII.), Countess of Richmond and Derby, a patent, exempting him from holding the office of Sheriff or Escheater, and authorizing him to appear with his head covered in the presence of the King, his heirs, and successors, and of all great men, lords spiritual and temporal, and all other persons whomsoever of the kingdom. [Fuller's Hist. of the worthies of England.] That part of the arms, which appear in the 1st quarter, viz., per bend Argent and Sable, 3 mascles bendways counterchanged, and the crest, were, in 1480 (20th Edw. IV.), granted to this Christopher Browne. [See Blore's Rutland, p. 219, where the grant is set out at length.]

Note 4. Tolethorpe is situated on the right bank of the River Quash, in the Parish of Little Casterton, in Co. Rutland, about two miles north of the Borough of Stamford. In the 50th year of Edw. III. [A. D. 1376], Sir Thomas de Burton, Knt., by deed, dated on the Saturday next after the feast of St. Martin, the Bishop, conveyed to John Browne, of Stamford, Esq., all his lands, tenements, rents, and services in the Village of Little Casterton, with the reversion of the patronage of the church there. In the 5th year of Hen. VII. (1589), a fine was levied between Christopher Browne and others, plaintiffs, against Thomas Burton and Margaret, his wife, deforcients of a moiety of the manor of Tolethorpe and tenements, with the appurtenances. From the latter period (and possibly an earlier one), Tolethorpe became the principal seat of the head of the family. On the death of John Browne, Esq., Feb. 27, 1719, without surviving issue, Tolethorpe descended to his nephew, Francis Browne, Esq. (son of his brother Edward, of Gretford, in Lincolnshire, Esq.), on whose death without issue in 1751, the manor of Tolethorpe and other estates, descended to his nephew, Thomas Trollope, Esq. (son of his sister Anne, by Thomas Trollope, Esq.); who, thereupon assumed the surname of Browne. He died in 1770, and the estates of the family descended to his only surviving daughter and heir, Mary, who afterwards married the Right Honorable George Fermor, Earl of Pomfret, who, in her right, became lord of the manors of Tolethorpe and Little Casterton, and patron of the church of Little Casterton, in 1807.

Wright's History of Rutland, fol. 1684, contains an engraving of the family seat, Tolethorpe Hall, a very ancient and curious building. It has since been re-edified, and now bears little resemblance to the engraving. The mansion and estate now belong to the Hon. Charles Compton Cavendish, 2d son of Mary, Countess of Pomfret, the lineal descendant and representative of the first Christopher Browne. On the marriage of the Countess, the place was dismantled and stripped of its furniture, and a few years ago all the ancient Title Deeds relating to Tolethorpe, from the very earliest period, were offered for sale in a second-hand bookseller's catalogue. The house is now let to Emerson Harrison, Esq.

Note 5. The estate, or home estate, of this branch of the family consisted of two tenements, called the Deans, and the Swans, contiguous, and lying in the two adjoining Parishes of Somerton and Hawkedon. The property is thus described and bequeathed in the Will of Christopher Browne (A. D., 1531): "I gyve and bequethe to Anne my wyef, all that my tenement wth thappurten'nces lying in the pi'che of Hawkedon and Somerton, callyd the Deene, and all that tenement with thappurten'nces called Swaynes. To have and to hold the sayde ij Tenements callyd the Deene, & Swaynes, with all their appurtenences to the sayde Anne during hyr lyef withoute any impeachment of wast, and after the decesse of the sayde Anne, all the sayde ij Tenements wth all ther appurten'nces to remayne to Robert Browne, my sonne, and to the heyres male of his body," and for lack of such issue then to his son Christopher [X Stofer] Browne and his heirs male, and for lack of such issue then to his son Thomas and his heirs male; and for the lack of such issue then to go "to my heirs and assigns forever." He makes bequests of money to his said sons Robert, Christopher, and Thomas, and to his daughters Elizabeth, Margaret, and Agnes, and to his godson [grandson?] Christopher Browne. The Will is witnessed by Robert Browne, filius et heres testoris; Robert Checkley, clericus [minister of Hawkedon], Thomas Hy'on, Johnes Cawston.

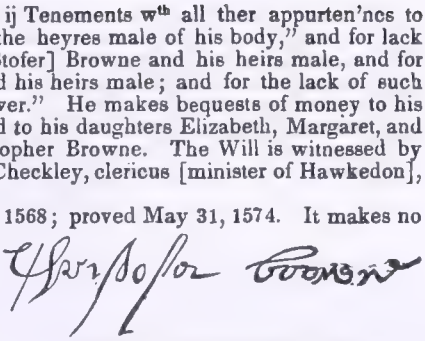
His son Christopher's Will is dated Nov. 24, 1568; proved May 31, 1574. It makes no mention of his wife, who was probably deceased. He gives legacies in money to his son Thomas, dr. Joan Baylye, his godsons [grandsons] Ambrose and William Baylye, sons of Thomas [Thomas Baylye's Will is dated 1559, witnessed by Christopher and Robert Browne]; and to his son Robert Browne, he gives "the lease of my fearme in as large and ampple manner as I hav it," and also all the rest of his estate, real and personal, and appoints him executor. Witnesses are John Andrear [? Andrew], Thomas Hamonde, Robert Brydges, James Hawton, and Robert Shaw, Clerk.



Signature as Churchwarden, 1564.

Neither the Deans nor Swans are mentioned in this Will. It is not improbable that his elder brother, Robert, was still living, and in possession, but without heirs male, so that his son Thomas was heir presumptive to the Deans and Swans, under the first Christopher's Will. His son Thomas being thus provided for, would account for his younger son Robert being made principal legatee and executor.

The Will of said Thomas Browne, of Hawkedon, is dated Dec. 22, 1590; proved Jan. 26, 1591. He had inherited the Deans and Swans and bequeathed them as follows: "To Johan my wife, my house wherein I dwell, with all the outhouses thereto belonginge, called and knowne by the name of the Deanes & Swaines, with all the lands, meadowe and pasture thereto belonginge, during her naturall life, upon this condicon following, viz., that [she] shall bringe up my children and paye all my debts, and kepe my howses in good and sufficient reparac'ons, and make no stripe or waste upon the grounde or of any Wood or Timber growinge in and uppon the same, and after the decease of the saide Johan my wife, I give all the saide howse and howses, lands, meadowe, and pasture with the app'tences to my five sonnes, viz., to John, Richard, Thomas, Ambrose, and Abraham, and their heirs, to be equally divided between and amongst them, or so many of them as shall be then livinge, by and at the discression of iiij discrete and wise men to be chosen by the p'sons [parsons] of Hawedon & Som'ton then beinge," and a bequest in money to his daughter Sarah. Witnesses, Robert Raye, minister of Hawedon; John Rayner, Richard Gippes, "and me Peter Cooke, Clarke and writer hereof."

HAWKEDON CHURCH.

Mr. Somerby says, "Hawkedon is a scattered village on a pleasant acclivity, near a rivulet, 9 miles S. S. W. of Bury St. Edmunds. The church is a fine specimen of ancient architecture, with a tower and five bells. The Parish contains 339 souls, and 1210 acres of land. It is in two manors, viz., Hawkedon Hall, the seat and property of J. Trask, Esq., and Thurston Hall, of which H. J. Oakes, Esq., is lord. Swan Hall, another mansion, now a farm-house, with a large estate, belongs to G. W. Poley, Esq. This was formerly a seat of the Browne family. It is probable that the estate was sold in order to be divided among the five sons of Thomas Browne, and thus passed out of the possession of that family. A small work on the County of Suffolk says, Swan Hall, another ancient mansion, now a farm-house, 'was formerly a seat of the Abbot family.' This was after it passed out of the possession of the Brownes.

"Swan Hall is about a mile from Hawkedon, and is now (1852) occupied by a farmer, Simon Moore. It is probably one of the oldest residences in the County of Suffolk, being several hundred years old. It is built of oak, and covered with plaster, excepting some of the principal beams, which are elaborately carved. The principal part of the building was taken down about forty years ago, and the beautiful panelling, carving, &c., &c., of the interior, distributed among individuals in the neighboring parishes. The part of the building which remains, does not give one any idea of its former extent. I succeeded nevertheless in producing a sketch which will afford an almost perfect idea of the building as it was originally. I found an old lady at Hawkedon, who resided at the Hall at the time when the principal portion of it was demolished, and she remembers particularly that it was precisely like Thurston Hall, which is in the neighborhood, and retains all its original features. From this Hall I finished my sketch. The old lady spoke of the elegant stained glass window in the Grand Hall, a small portion of which, when the Hall was demolished, was transferred to the chancel window of the church, and also of the elaborate carved work, both within and without, not a vestige of which remains, except the beams on the front end. She does not know what became of it, but believes a portion was taken to Charity Hall, some miles distant."

SWAN HALL.

NOTE 6. Robert Browne, the Reformer, founder of the denomination of Independents, called, originally, "Brownists," and now represented in Church organization and government by the various denominations of Congregationalists. There is reason to believe that history has done much injustice to this person. It is certain that Lord Burleigh, and after his death, his not much less distinguished son, the Earl of Exeter, were ever his firm friends and patrons. With a full knowledge of the Reformer's unconquerable hostility to the Episcopal English Church—for it never ceased, notwithstanding his incumbency in one of its churches (in which he never officiated)—Lord Burleigh, who did more than any other subject of England to establish that Church on its permanent basis, never failed to spread over him the ægis of his great power (second to the Queen's alone), to shield him from the effects of the relentless hostility of the Hierarchy. Lord B. knew the Reformer well, and evidently held him in much respect. Circumstances conspired to make not only the Episcopal party, but in the end, his own, the Puritans, hostile to him. In his opinions, he was probably as wide on the one hand from the extravagances of Puritanism, as developed in its aftergrowth, as on the other from a belief in the hierarchy of the English Church. Lord Burleigh, in his letter to Browne's father, says, "Inasmuch as he is your son, and of my blood;" and Fuller says that he (Browne) was a "near kinsman" of the Earl of Exeter. These would intimate a nearer relationship than is shown by the above pedigree.

Note 7. The records of Boston and of the county of Suffolk (Mass.) show that there was an Edmund Browne, a proprietor of Boston, as early as 1647, who mar., 14. 12, 1653, Elizabeth Oakley (daughter of "Mary, the relict of the late Robert Bouchier, alias Garret" [? Gannet]. She was probably a daughter by a former marriage, or a widow at the time of her marriage to Browne). They had two chil. Mary, b. Dec. 15, 1656, and John, b. Oct. 9, 1660. He died, after an absence of several years, at Sardainham [? Surinam]. Both of his chil. also died early, and Jonathan, the son of Abraham Browne, of Watertown, inherited his land as next kin. In a deed, dated Jan. 1, 1672–3, from Jonathan to one Richard Taylor, conveying the reversion of some of Edmund's real estate, he recites that he is "cousin and next heir of said Edmund;" and afterwards, in the same instrument, he calls Edmund his uncle. In a suit for possession of a piece of land belonging to the estate, Edmund (1682) is incidentally several times called the uncle of Jonathan. The records relating to Edmund bear evidence of great carelessness, and are in many respects contradictory and difficult, if not impossible, to harmonize with any hypothesis that may be assumed to reconcile them. It is believed, according with the first recital in said deed, that Edmund was a nephew of Abraham, and brother to John, of Watertown, and a son of John, of Hawkedon. His birth does not appear in the table of pedigree; but the early parish register (commencing in 1538) is lost. There is now none dating back beyond 1709. It was the custom, as early as 1560, for clergymen to deposit certified copies of these registers each year in the Will offices. Very few of these copies are now in existence. It was amongst those remaining in the office at Bury St. Edmunds, relative to Hawkedon, that were found the baptisms of Mary and John, the chil. of John and grand chil. of Thomas, of Hawkedon. The births and baptisms of no other grand chil. of said Thomas have been discovered.

We have scarcely a doubt that Edmund was the son of John, of Hawkedon. This supposition best harmonizes all known facts. The name of his son, John, for his supposed paternal grandfather—the daughter being named Mary for her maternal grandmother—is confirmatory of it. It is possible that Abraham, of Watertown, was also a son of John, of Hawkedon, and that his place in the table should be a degree below that of Abraham of the pedigree, with whom we have identified him, but the balance of probabilities inclines the other way.

Note 8. This Christopher Browne was one of the persons selected by King Charles II. to be invested with the Order of The Royal Oak. For prudential reasons—the fear of perpetuating party feuds—the project of establishing the order was abandoned.

RICHARD BROWNE, son of Thomas and Joan, of Swan Hall, Hawkedon, Co. Suffolk; b. about 1575 or 6; settled first in London, where he was a ruler in a church of Separatists, and there rendered important services to some of the persecuted Non-conformists. He was one of the first settlers of Watertown, and the first Ruling Elder of the Church. He was one of the first that applied (Oct., 1630) to be admitted freeman, and was admitted May 18, 1631. Towards the end of 1632, he was removed from the office of Ruling Elder, on account of his sentiments, which were too liberal for the ecclesiastical notions then prevalent. There was, however, entire accordance between him and his very worthy pastor, Rev. George Phillips; and such was Mr. Browne's influence, that Hubbard says, he "was thought sometimes to overrule the Church."

Hubbard had imbibed the prejudices of Gov. Winthrop; yet he says Mr. Browne was a man of good understanding, and well versed in the discipline of Separation [i. e., of Congregationalism], having been a Ruler in one of their churches in London. And what he says of Mr. Phillips, throws a clear light upon the cause of Mr. Browne's removal from office. "It is said that Mr. Phillips, of Watertown, was at the first more acquainted with the way of church discipline, since owned by the Congregational churches; but being then without any [magistrate or minister] to stand by him (for wo to him that is alone), he met with much opposition from some of the magistrates [Winthrop, Dudley, Noel, &c.], till the time that Mr. Cotton came into the country, who, by his preaching and practice, did by degrees mould all their church administrations into the same form, which Mr. Phillips [and Mr. Browne] labored to have introduced into the churches before."

What Winthrop and Hubbard characterize as a "violent spirit" and passion, in Mr. Browne, was doubtless his bold and unyielding advocacy of his more liberal and just views; his unflinching confronting of the magistrates in their "much opposition" to Mr. Phillips; and the early and earnest resistance he and Mr. Phillips presented to the insidious encroachment of arbitrary power. The magistrates fomented a disturbance in Watertown Church, and continued to agitate, until their bigoted, officious intermeddling had effected the removal of the Elder from office. We cannot discover any difference in sentiment, or any alienation, between Mr. Phillips and Mr. Browne. The latter, being much older, was probably more bold, less conciliatory in his disposition and manner, and hence the pertinacity of the magistrates. Mr. Browne's views, says the ecclesiastical historian of Massachusetts, were "much to his honor in an age of bigotry, though censured by worthy men, influenced by the spirit of the age."

Mr. Browne, nevertheless, retained the unabated confidence of his fellow-townsmen, both as a Christian and a citizen. As an evidence of their regard for his discretion and Christian character, they sent him, as one of their commissioners, to Wethersfield, in order to heal the distractions in that (Watertown) colony. The most important civil trusts were, for a long time, almost constantly placed in his hands. He was a member of several of the earlier boards of Selectmen, and was a Representative of Watertown from the first (1634), most of the time, until 1657. Notwithstanding the disparaging tone of Winthrop—"one Richard Browne"—and of Hubbard, who took his tone from Winthrop, the Colonial Records furnish ample proof that Mr. Browne was not less respected and confided in by the Court, than by his neighbors and townsmen. He was a member of the first three Juries of Inquest empanelled in the colony, and of the second and third of these juries, he was the foreman. Previous to Mar. 22, 1630–1, Sir Richard Saltonstall appointed him a referee in a case, where he was a party.

Aug. 1, 1637, he was the agent, on the part of Watertown, for agreeing upon a rate of £400, to be levied upon the several [13] towns in the Bay. May 17, 1637, he was chosen by the General Court to assist at the Courts of New Town. Sept. 6, 1638, the Court granted him 200 A. of land, which was not located until Oct. 17, 1649, when the Court granted it to be "laid out next the village granted to Dedham." In Sept. 1638, when the General Court ordered that, in those towns where no magistrate resided, commissioners should be appointed "to end small causes," Mr. Browne was one of those appointed for Watertown, and he continued to be reappointed until the making of those appointments was transferred to the County Courts. He continued to receive the same appointment from Mid. Co. Court until 1656, about the time he moved to Charlestown. May 22, 1639, he was fined £5, for going to Connecticut without leave, neither acquainting the Court nor the Council, he being, at that time, a deputy. But the next Sept., £4 15*s.* of the fine was remitted, and the freemen of Watertown were fined £3, "for sending Mr. Browne away." He was probably, on this occasion, one of the two commissioners sent to Wethersfield to reconcile church difficulties among those, who were then, or had been, members of Watertown Church. Nov. 4, 1646, the Court empowered him to officiate at marriages in Watertown. This was the first such appointment for Watertown. Previous to this, it was necessary, on such occasions, to resort to magistrates in other towns. Nov. 5, 1633, he was allowed by the Court to keep a ferry over Charles River, against his house; to receive 2*d.* for one person, and 1*d.* for each person if more than two.

Dec. 2, 1657, he purchased of Humphrey and Rebecca Booth, a house in Charlestown, whither he moved about that time, then aged 81 or 82. His Will, dated Charlestown, Aug. 6, 1659, proved Mar. 20, 1660–1, mentions wife ELIZABETH, sole exec'x; bequeaths small sums to his son THOMAS BROWNE, and his grandsons, Richard and George Browne, "if they come and personally appear in this land to demand the same and not otherwise. [It has not been ascertained, that either of them ever came to this country.] To Jonathan Simpson 20*s.*, if he faithfully serve the time for which he engaged; to Phenis

Pratt, one suit of clothes; the rest of his estate to his wife during her natural life, and after her decease, to be equally divided between his son and grandsons." He also wills that all those goods which were brought to him by his wife, "whose properties are not altered," be left "to her discretion, to dispose of them as she pleaseth." And in a postscript, adds to his wife: "the sum of twenty pounds, as well as her owne goods, on the other side expressed." It is supposed that his son Thomas was by a former marriage, not by Elizabeth, mentioned in his Will. This supposition is favored by the terms of his own Will, but more strongly by that of his widow. Inventory dated Oct. 6, 1660, real estate £40, personal £209 13*s.*; total, £249 13*s.* His wid. m., May 12, 1662, Richard Jackson, of Camb., who d. June 22, 1672, aged 90, s. p. His (R. J.'s) Will, dated June 22, 1672, gave his whole estate to his wid., except a legacy to his kinswoman, Sarah Child. The Will of his wid. Elizabeth, dated June 4, 1676, gives the £20 left her by Richard Browne, to her daughter Wakefield, and Sarah, wife of John Jackson. Her Inventory £265 18*s.* 6*d.* [For an account of the bold, liberal, and independent spirit, and important services of Elder R. Browne, see Francis, pp. 17–21; Winthrop, Vol. I., with Savage's notes; Neal's History of the Puritans; Hubbard's History, pp. 142, 166, 187, &c. &c.]

JOHN BROWNE, bap. at Hawkedon, Oct. 11, 1601, son of John, elder brother of Richard Browne, arrived in the Lion, Sept. 16, 1632; settled in Watertown; was adm. freeman Sept. 3, 1634, and was buried June 20, 1636, æt. 36. By wife DOROTHY, he had, 1. HANNAH, b. Sept. 8, 1634. 2. MARY, b. Mar. 24, 1635–6. His widow was probably the wid. Browne, mentioned in the Town Records, Dec. 4, 1648. If, however, Abraham Browne died previous to this date, this might have been his widow.

ABRAHAM BROWNE, a younger brother, or a nephew of the Elder, Richard Browne. [See note 7.] He was a very early settler, perhaps one of the first of Watertown, and was admitted freeman, March 6th, 1631–2. He was a land surveyor, and, as is manifest from the records, in the early municipal transactions of the town, he received important appointments, and trusts more numerous than were conferred upon any other person. No two men were more respected and confided in, than he and his relative, Richard Browne. The records of the town do not embrace the transactions of the first four years after the settlement. They commence in 1634, extend to Nov. 28, 1643, when there occurs a hiatus of four years, and recommence Nov. 8, 1647. He was selectman from 1636 to 1643, inclusive. In 1634, he was appointed, in conjunction with Robert Seeley, to survey all the lots that are granted; and they were also appointed conservators of timber trees—none to be cut down without their assent. In 1635, he was one of the seven freemen appointed to divide every man "his propriety" of meadow and upland, that is ploughable, and the rest to lie common. In the same year, he was appointed, with John Warren, to lay out all highways, and to see that they are repaired. Also, to survey the lots granted by the selectmen. In 1638, ordered that all lots, both of freemen and foreigners, shall be measured and bounded by Abraham Browne, who shall give a note of each survey to be enrolled in the town books. In the same year, he and Thomas Bartlett were appointed to measure and lay out the remote meadows, according to their best judgments. He was also appointed, with four others, to lay out the farms as they are ordered, and they were authorized to include any rock or swamp in any survey, not counting it in the number of acres. In 1639, the highway from Dorchester Field to the Flats, as Abraham Browne laid it out, was confirmed forever. Also, the highway leading from Robert Jennison's to the river, betwixt the lands of John Barnard and Jeremiah Norcross, together with about half an acre of land on the river, for the landing of goods, was ordered to remain forever, as laid out by Abraham Browne, Ap. 30, 1639. Also, that when Ab. Brown shall lay out any whole squadron of the great lots, they to whom the land belongs shall make him present pay. In 1640, Abraham Browne, "Surveyor of the Town," was directed to survey the subdivisions of the Hither and Further Plains; and the next year (1641), he was directed to do the same. Also, it was ordered that he have 4*d.* the acre for surveying the two plains and the remote meadows. Also, he was empowered, 1643, to warn trespassers on public timber, and to have one-fourth of the fines. Oct. 7, 1641, the General Court appointed him one of the committee for laying out the 1000 acres of land granted to the Artillery Company at its first organization.

The Court Records of Middlesex County, show that Oct. 1, 1650, his Will and Inventory were "accepted at court." And an order of court, made Oct. 6, 1691, respecting the final settlement of his estate, recites of him as "deceased in the year 1650." These dates indicate, it is thought, satisfactorily, the year of his decease; though there are some circumstances that favor the belief that he died between the close of 1643 and 1648. The latest mention of his name in the Town Records, is Nov. 28, 1643, which is the latest date previous to the before-mentioned hiatus of four years. It is, therefore, unknown when his public services terminated. As his name does not occur in the Records between Nov. 8, 1647, when they recommence, and 1650, the supposed date of his decease, it is probable that ill health or bodily infirmity had compelled him to withdraw from his very large participation in public business.

No original Will of Abraham Browne has been discovered, but in the files of the County Court for 1670, is found the following, which, by the concluding certificate, purports to be a copy of it. "The last Will and Testament of Abraham Browne, of Watertowne, dec'd; being of good and perfect memory but Weake, as is witnessed by us whose names are here under written. Impr.: after the decease of his wife, he gave and bequeathed unto his two sonnes, Jonathan and Abraham Browne, his house and lands; but giving liberty to his wife, that if shee had need shee might sell some parcells of it. Also, he gave and bequeathed unto his two daughters, Sarah Browne and Mary Browne, each of them one ewe sheep, having each of them one before, as was testified. The rest of his goods and estate he gave unto Lydea, his wife, making her his sole executrix to perform this, his Will and Testament. Witnesses, Richard Browne, John Whitney. Entered out of the original on file with the Register, at Cambridge, in the County of Midd., in New England, and is a true coppie, being compared and examined by Thomas Danforth, Recorder."

This instrument resembles a synopsis, more than a literal copy of an original Will. It is not improbable that it was a nuncupative Will, and the above a copy of the declaration by the witnesses of its provisions.

There was much delay and probably some difficulty in settling his estate, and the settlement seems to have been made finally, in entire disregard of the provisions of the Will. On the 6th Oct., 1691, the Court ordered the parties concerned in the estate of Abraham Browne, of Watertown, deceased in the year 1650, be sent for, to attend the adjournment of the Court, in order to a settlement of said estate; and they appointed a committee, consisting of John Ward, Jonathan Remington, and Thomas Greenwood, to make proposals for said settlement. The claimants were, 1. The heirs of Jonathan Browne, deceased, the eldest son. 2. George Woodward, in right of his wife, only dr. of Abraham Browne, Jr., deceased. 3. John Parkhurst, son of one of the daughters of said Abraham Browne, Senr. 4. The heirs of (?) Isaac Lewis, deceased, who were children of another dr. of said Abraham Browne. 5. William Lakin, in right of his wife, youngest daughter of said Abraham Browne.

Owing, as they said, to a change in the government of the Colony, by the coming over of a new Charter, the committee did not report until Jan. 22, 1693-4. They assigned $\frac{2}{5}$ (a double portion) of the estate to the heirs of Jonathan, and the other $\frac{4}{5}$ to the other four claimants. At the same time they recommended that these four claimants should sell their shares to Abraham Browne, eldest son of Jonathan, deceased, who was then ready to purchase; and in that manner the estate was settled.

It appears from the schedules of possessions, that, besides a pond of one acre, 11 lots of land were granted to Abraham Browne, the town surveyor, and that previous to 1642, he had purchased 4 other lots, amounting to 39 A., one of which, a 30 A. lot in the Great Dividends, had been granted to his kinsman, John Browne. Two of the lots granted to him were homestalls. The first, upon which he probably settled at first, contained 10 A., and was at the east of Mount Auburn. His second homestall of 28 A., to which he is supposed to have removed very early, was bounded on the E. by the way to the Little Plain (now Howard Street); N. by Sudbury Road (now Main Street); S. by the way to Beaver Plains, sometimes called the way betwixt lots (now Pleasant Street); W. by his own land. Two other lots granted to him, one of 10 A. and the other of 6 A., were contiguous to this homestall on the West, and in the schedule of 1642, they were deemed parts of the homestall,* which was then enrolled as 40 A. He must have purchased other adjoining lands not long afterwards, as in the final settlement of his estate in 1694, his homestall contained 60 acres. The Committee, appointed by the Court to settle the estate, made an Inventory, in 1694 (of lands only), amounting to £187; viz.: homestall 60 A. £100; remote meadow, 10 A., £12; salt marsh, 4 A., £20; farm land, 107 A., £15; lot on Charles River, 10 A., £10.

* The next lot, adjoining this homestall on the west, was 10 A. granted to Edward How, whose heirs sold it to Robert Harrington. From him it passed to his son Edward, and probably afterwards to his grandson Edward. The next lot, west of How's, was 40 A. granted to Rev. George Phillips, bounded N. by Sudbury Road; S. by the way betwixt lots [Pleasant Street]; W. by the driftway (now Gore Street). This driftway was the boundary between the "small lots" and the Beaver Brook plowland. About 1650, the heirs of Mr. Phillips sold this lot to Edward Garfield, by whose family it was held many years. In later times, it has been the well known and elegant residence of Governor Gore, and it is now in the possession of J. S. Copley Greene, Esq.

This is probably the only instance (unless the grant to Deacon Simon Stone be an exception), where an original grant has remained in the possession of the direct descendants of a grantee to the present time. As above stated, this property passed by inheritance and purchase, to his grandson, Capt. Abraham Browne. Although it is stated, in the report of the committee for settling the estate, that Abraham "was ready to purchase" the shares of the other claimants, subsequent transactions render it probable that he acted in behalf of the widow and other heirs of his father, and that he never became the proprietor of the whole homestall of 60 acres. From Capt. Abraham B., a part of the land belonging to him passed by Will to his son Samuel, who occupied a part of his house. After his death his son Samuel, about 1739, moved to Leicester, and not long after this, the property was mortgaged to Capt. John Homans, who probably occupied it only a few years, when the mortgage was cancelled by Jonathan, eldest son of Capt. Abraham. From Jonathan it passed to his son Jonathan, Jr., Esq. From him it passed to his son Major Adam Brown, and it is now, at least a part of it, in the occupancy of his heirs.

The dwelling-house, now standing, on this ancient homestall, is probably, with the exception of the ancient "Nathaniel Bright house," considerably older than any other in the town. The "new part," next the road, was built and occupied by Capt. Abraham B., when he relinquished the old or south part to the use of his son Samuel. The accompanying cut is a view of this house, as at present seen from the northeast.

80. 301 (V.) JOHN BROWN, was an ardent whig, and an uncompromising persecutor of the tories, even before the Revolution broke out; was one of the Boston "Tea Party," and was engaged, it is said, in the battle of Bunker Hill. His stature was 6 ft. 2 in., and his proportions admirable for masculine beauty and power, in which he was almost unequalled. But his violent and ill-regulated temper, and his wayward habits, greatly impaired his usefulness in after life. In 1777, he purchased of Oakes Angier, 12 acres of land in Newton, near Angier's Corner, which he sold in 1786, to Wm. Brown, of Boston. He afterwards settled in Maine, where he d. 1824, or '25. 81.319 (V.) PHINEAS BROWN, Esq., went to Stockbridge as early as 1770 (and that was his residence chiefly until 1784). He was land surveyor, and for several years previous to the Revolution was engaged much of the time in surveying, in Castleton, Leicester, Salisbury, Middlebury, Cornwall, New Haven, Panton, and other towns, in what is now the western part of Vermont, but at that time was called the "New Hampshire Grants." He selected a beautiful and fertile tract of land on the east bank of Otter Creek, in the township of New Haven, and commenced preparations for a settlement; but being interrupted by the vicissitudes of the war, as well as by the active hostility of the New York claimants (to whom, being a surveyor, he was especially obnoxious), in the memorable controversy between that State and the settlers under New Hampshire Grants, he returned to Stockbridge (July 6, 1776), and was soon after called into service in the Revolutionary Army. He served several months at intervals during the war, and was in the battle of Saratoga. He kept a store for some time, being, perhaps, the first trader in Stockbridge. Soon after the close of the war, he moved his family to Vermont, arriving at New Haven, March 10, 1784. About 1790, the western part of New Haven was annexed to the city of Vergennes; and in 1796, this part was separated from Vergennes and incorporated into a new town by the name of Waltham—so named from Mr. Brown's native town in Mass. Mr. Brown was an active, influential man in the affairs of each of the three towns mentioned. He repeatedly represented New Haven in the State Legislature, and was a member of the Convention for revising the State Constitution, in 1786; was an Alderman of the city of Vergennes; was a civil magistrate more than twenty years, and continued to hold leading offices in Waltham, until physical infirmities compelled him to decline them. In his religious tenets, he was a Congregationalist, having been thirty-six years a member of that church. His temperament was ardent; but firmness, with him the offspring of clear perceptions and strong convictions, was a prominent feature of his character. He was a skilful surveyor, a successful farmer, a good neighbour, and an intelligent magistrate and legislator. He is still remembered as remarkable for his practical good sense, and sound, discriminating judgment.

* He was preparing to enter College, but after the death of his father, the idea of a collegiate education and professional life was for a time relinquished. He subsequently resumed his studies, read law with Enoch D. Woodbridge and Philip C. Tucker, Esqs., of Vergennes, Vt., and was admitted to the bar in Addison County. He pursued his profession in Vergennes until the close of 1831. He then went to the South, and resided in Louisiana until the autumn of 1835, when he went to Mobile, where, until recently, he has since resided; the attractions of more active business and enterprises withdrawing him from professional pursuits. He now (1855) resides near Montevallo, County of Shelby, Alabama, engaged in opening and rendering accessible his coal lands in that county.

364 1. Mindwell, b. in Charlton, Feb. 26, 1785.

365 2. James, b. in C., Mar. 10, 1787.

366 3. Jacob, b. in C., July 19, 1789. He enlisted in the army as a private soldier at the beginning of the war of 1812, and for his good conduct, as Orderly Sergeant, at the battle of Chrystler's Field, was promoted to the rank of Ensign. He served during the whole of the war, and "was in nearly all the hardfought battles on the Niagara frontier in 1813 and 14." Before the close of the war he was promoted to the rank of first Lieutenant, and afterwards gradually rose to the rank of Major of Infantry, which rank he held many years.

With the 7th Reg. of Infantry, Major Brown was placed, by Gen. Taylor, in command of the entrenched Camp or Fort on the Rio Grande, opposite to Matamoras, and which sustained a cannonade and bombardment of 160 hours by the Mexicans. At 10 o'clock, A.M., of May 6, 1846, during this bombardment, Major Brown was struck by a shell, which shattered his leg. This was amputated above the knee, and he died on the 9th. Gen. Taylor, in his official despatch, dated May 9, 1846, says: "It affords me peculiar pleasure to report that the field work opposite Matamoras has sustained itself handsomely during a cannonade and bombardment of 160 hours. But the pleasure is alloyed with profound regret at the loss of its heroic and indomitable commander, Major Brown, who died to-day from the effect of a shell. His loss would be a severe one to the service at any time; but to the army under my orders, it is indeed irreparable."

A writer in the Boston Journal says, "Major Brown was a noble specimen of a man. He was modest and unassuming in his deportment, and possessed a heart overflowing with the milk of human kindness. As an officer, he was distinguished for his courage, military skill, coolness, and decision in the hour of battle.

"Since the peace of 1815, Maj. Brown has been employed on the staff a great portion of the time. His sound judgment, his integrity and business capacity rendered him a valuable officer in time of peace as well as in war. He served two or three years in the memorable Florida campaigns. He passed some years at Little Rock, Arkansas, engaged in matters connected with our Indian affairs. While there he was chosen President of the Bank of Arkansas, an office which he thought proper to decline as incompatible with his situation as an officer of the army." His body was buried at the foot of the flag-staff of the Fort, named Fort Brown, in honour of its heroic defence; and the city founded on its site has been named Brownsville. His body has since been removed and reinterred under the flag-staff of the U. S. Barracks in Brownsville. He m. Sarah Smith, of the neighbourhood of Toronto, U. C. Chil.,

BULLARD.

There was a considerable number of early settlers in Massachusetts of the name of Bullard, and it must now be very difficult, if not impossible, to arrive at clearness and certainty in collecting and arranging genealogies of each of them. There is a tradition among them, that eight brothers of this name came early and about the same time to America, viz. Robert, Benjamin, Jonathan, William, John, Isaac, Nathaniel, and George. This name has sometimes been confounded with Ballard, and the traditions are not reliable. [See Farmer and Barry.] There were three early settlers of Watertown of the name of Bullard, viz. Robert, Benjamin, and George.

1 ROBERT BULLARD, husband of ANNE, buried 24, 4, 1639, aged 40 [Watertown records]. No notice of any children has been discovered.

2 BENJAMIN BULLARD, who m. a dr. and probably the only child of Henry Thorpe, of Wat.; was a proprietor of Wat., 1642. There is no notice of any chil. of his in the Wat. records. Oct. 3, 1673, he, then of Sherburne, with wife MARTHA, sold, to Justinian Holden, a dwelling-house, with land, and several other parcels of land in Wat., amounting to more than 100 acres. This sale was the next year after the death of Henry Thorpe, who had occupied the house. [See Reg. of Deeds, vol. v., p. 30.] Had this B. B. a first wife, named Sarah?

PETER CHENEY, m., Oct. 7, 1691, MARY HOMES.

Dea. JOHN CHENEY, and wife MARY, were received by letter from the church in Newbury, and they were dismissed thither, 1730.

JOHN CHENEY, of Weston, m. (pub. Oct. 2), 1725, ELIZABETH DARKIN (? Darkin), of Concord. She d. in Fram., June 13, 1730, and he m., Dec. 25, 1730, MARY, dr. of Noah and Mary Clap, of Sud. MARY CHENEY, and JOSEPH KELLY, of the Castle, m., in Wat., Dec. 14, 1745.

CHESTER.—LEONARD CHESTER, came from Leicestershire, Eng., in 1633; was an early proprietor of Wat., and was one of the small colony that went from Wat., in 1635, to settle Wethersfield, Conn., which was at first called Watertown. There was a locality in Watertown, long known as "Chester's Meadow," and "Chester Brook." [See Hinman, p. 123 and 4.] (?) Wm. Chester sold 13 acres planting ground, in Wat., to Wm. Paine, prior to 1642.

CHILD.

Deacon EPHRAIM CHILD came to America in 1630; was adm. freeman May 18, 1631, and was probably one of the first Deacons of the church at Watertown. He was Rep. 12 years, between 1646 and 1662, inclusive; Selectman 15 years, between 1636 and 1662, inclusive; and Town Clerk 1651, '60, '61, and '62. He repeatedly received important appointments from the General Court. [See Butler, p. 17, and Worcester Magazine, II. 131, 142, and 149.] He was often appointed, by the County Court, one of the Commissioners of Wat., "to end small causes." He d. Feb. 13, 1662–3, aged 70, s. p. His Will, dated Nov. 10, 1662, mentions Richard and John Child [who were brothers], and Ephraim, son of Benjamin Child, of Rox. It is probable that Richard, John, of Wat., and Benjamin, of Rox., were his nephews. [Ephraim Child, a son of Benjamin, to whom he bequeathed 30 acres of dividend land, and 10 acres in Dorchester Field, was slain by Indians at Northfield, Sept. 4, 1675, and his brother Benjamin, Jr., of Rox., sold the 30 A. dividend land to Benjamin Peirce, of Wat., Mar. 2, 1682–3.] He bequeathed "to my loving cousin, William Bond," 40 acres in the hither plain, whom, in conjunction with his wife, ELIZABETH, he appointed executor. His wid. Elizabeth, in her Will, dated June 11, proved Oct. 1, 1667, appointed her "loving cousin, William Bond," her sole executor. Ephraim Child, m., in Nayland, Suffolk Co., Eng., Feb. 8, 1625, wid. ELIZABETH PALMER. It is supposed that she was a dr. of Jonas and Rose Bond of Bury St. Edmund's, where she was bap. Mar. 12, 1599, and an aunt of William Bond, "her loving cousin." [See Bond, p. 47.] Dea. E. Child executed a deed, Mar. 15, 1647, in favour of Elizabeth Foot, of London, of whom William Goddard, of Wat., was Att'y in 1665. The appraisal of his homestall and the amount of his Inventory (£770. 15.) show that he was one of the most affluent of the first settlers. And the distribution of his widow's wardrobe and furniture, by her Will, shows that she had some of the elegancies, as well as the comforts of life.

CLARK (Clarke).

Among the early settlers of Watertown, there were three of the name of Clarke—John, William, and Hugh.

1 JOHN CLARKE, supposed to be the "Mr. Clarke," appointed Constable by the Court, 1632, adm. freeman 1635, and proprietor of Watertown 1642. He is supposed to be the John Clarke, physician, who went to Rhode Island, and was one of the proprietors of Canonicut and of Providence; and that he was the companion of Nathaniel Briscoe, in England, in 1652. [See Briscoe's letter, Mass. Hist. Coll., 3d series, Vol. I.; I. Fiske, 1; and Winthrop, I., 74.]

2 WILLIAM CLARKE, a weaver, aged 27, and his wife, MARGARET, aged 21, came over in the spring of 1635, in the "Plaine Joan," and settled in Watertown. Ap. 1, 1651, he sold to Timothy Hawkins 35 acres of upland, which he had bought of Thomas Arnold. In 1650 he bought 60 acres of land of Thomas Boyden, and within a few years afterwards moved to Woburn. [See Hist. and Gen. Reg., Vol. V., pp. 248 and 9.] Chil.,

7. 10 (II.) JOHN CLARKE, of Rox., afterwards of New Camb. (Newton). His own age, and the date of the m. of his eldest son, render it very probable that he had three wives—that by the first he had his son JOHN,—that he m. (2d), 1680, LYDIA BUCKMINSTER. The next year, 1681, his father conveyed to him 67 acres of land in New Camb., where he m., 1684, ELIZABETH NORMAN. His Will was proved Mar. 25, 1695. His Inventory, £660.

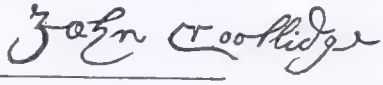
(I.) JOHN COOLIDGE, adm. freeman May 25, 1636, one of the earliest proprietors, 1636–7; was a Selectman of Wat. many times between 1636 and 1677, inclusive; was Rep. 1658, and he was often employed in witnessing Wills, taking Inventories, and settling estates. The date of his arrival has not been ascertained, but it is probable that he was one of the first settlers, 1630. His Will, dated Nov. 19, 1681, proved June 16, 1691, mentions wife MARY, sons JOHN, STEPHEN, SIMON, NATHANIEL, and JONATHAN, and gr. drs. Sarah and Mary Mixer. Inventory £237. 7. Grace, wid. of Roger Porter, in her Will mentions him as her brother. Perhaps she has used this term only to denote Christian affection.*

Mr. Somerby says, "The Coolidge family seem to have been settled in Cambridge, Eng., from a very remote period. The name has been written in every possible way, as Coalyng, Coalidg, Colynge, Cooladge, &c., &c. The name first appears in the Subsidy Rolls for 1327, where Walter and Ralph Coalyng were assessed for lands in Wimpole, in Cambridgeshire. In the time of Henry VIII., the family were seated in Arrington, and, judging from the Wills, were at that time of wealth and great respectability, belonging to the gentry." [See Pedigree, p. 186.]



8. 1 1. JOHN, probably b. in Eng.

CUTTING.—WILLIAM CUTTING, aged 26, and RICHARD CUTTING, aged 11 yrs., embarked in the Elizabeth, at Ipswich, Eng., for N. Eng., Ap., 1634, Richard settled in Watertown; what became of William has not been ascertained. There was a Mary Cutting, of Wat., witness in Court, 1657, then aged 33. It is very probable that this is a mistake of Mary for Sarah, wife of Richard.

FIRMAN.—JOHN FIRMAN came over in 1630, and settled in Wat., where his wigwam was burnt, Nov. 10, 1630. He was adm. freeman, May 18, 1631. He returned to England, and embarked at Ipswich for N. Eng., Ap., 1634, then aged 46. He was a Deacon, and was Selectman 1638. His heirs sold his lands in Wat. to Barnabas Farr, of Boston, who, with wife Grace, sold them to Richard Beers, Feb. 25, 1652–3.

FISKE (Fisk, Ffisk).

There was a considerable number of early immigrants of the name of FISKE, who settled in Massachusetts; and there is good reason to suppose that they were all descendants of Robert and Sibil (Gold) Fiske, who lived at Broad Gates, Loxfield, near Framlingham, Co. Suffolk, England. Rev. John Fiske, of Wenham, afterwards of Chelmsford, and his brother William, of Wenham, were grandsons of William, the eldest son of Robert and Sibil. David, of Wat, was a grandson of Jeffrey, the 2d son of Robert and Sibil. There is a tradition in the family, that a brother of David (? Nathaniel), left England with him, and died on the passage; and that he was the father of Nathan and John, of Wat. [Both of these had sons named Nathaniel. It is also to be observed, that Nathan named his eldest son Nathan, for himself; his second son, John, for his supposed brother, of Wat.; his third, David, for his supposed uncle, of Wat., and the fourth, Nathaniel, for his supposed father.] James, of Haverhill, and Phinehas, of Salem, were grandsons of Thomas, 3d son of R. & S. [See Mass. Hist. Coll., 3d Ser., Vol. X., p. 156; also, Geneal. Reg., Vol. IV., p. 180.] Many of their descendants have changed the original, correct orthography (Fiske), for Fisk. As it would be difficult to ascertain the usage in all cases, I shall follow the former. It is the one that has usually been adopted by the best educated and most intelligent.

It is to be hoped, that some one or more of the descendants of Robert and Sibil, may soon be found, possessing so much family respect and attachment, and such a liberal spirit, as will lead to a thorough search of the English records for information concerning the origin and early history of this ancient, respectable, and, in this country, very numerous family.*

* I have learned, since this was written, that a gentleman of Boston has become earnestly engaged in the genealogy of the FISKES; and that he finds others ready to co-operate.

DAVID FISKE.

1 (I.) DAVID FISKE, adm. freeman, Mar. 1637–8, and he probably came to America the preceding year, as he was not a proprietor, Feb. 1636–7. There is no record of a wife. GARFIELD (Gearfield, Gerfil, &c.)

In the early records this name is generally written Gearfield, sometimes Gardfield, and Gerfeld. It rarely occurs in the Watertown records subsequent to the incorporation of Waltham. SAMUEL GARFIELD was a proprietor 1642, and had a son SAMUEL, who was apprenticed to John Flemming, Nov. 1, 1653. He was probably a son of the first Edward Garfield, but there is no further record of him.

1 EDWARD GARFIELD died in Wat., June 14, 1672, aged 97. He was probably the father of Samuel, above mentioned, and of Edward, next following.

2 (II.) EDWARD GARFIELD, Jr., adm. freeman May 6, 1635, Selectman 1638, '55, and '62, one of the earliest proprietors. Will dated Dec. 30, 1668, proved July 16, 1672, mentions sons Samuel, Joseph, Benjamin (exec'r); drs. Rebecca Mixer, Abigail Garfield, gr. chil. Sarah Parkhurst, Sarah Garfield, and Ephraim Garfield, and maid Ann. He d. June 14, 1672; Inventory, July 11, 1672 (real estate), £457. 3. 6. He m. (1st), REBECCA ——, the mother of all his children. She d. Ap. 16, 1661, aged 55, and he m. (2d), Sept. 1, 1661, JOHANNA, wid. of Thomas Buckmaster (Buckminster), of Muddy River (Brookline.) Her Will, dated Aug. 6, proved Aug. 17, 1676, mentions drs. Mercy, Dorcas, and Sarah; dr. Elizabeth Spowell, and gr. child Joanna Lawrence; son Jacob, exec'r, Dea. Robert Sanderson and Henry Allen overseers.

2½ 1. SAMUEL, m. (1st), SUSANNA ——. She d. May 2, 1652, and he m. (2d), Sept. 28, 1652, MARY BENFIELD. His numerous family all left Wat. early, and some of them settled in Lancaster. His Will, dated Sept. 15, proved Dec. 16, 1684, mentions wife Mary, sons Samuel and Ephraim, brother Benjamin, and friend Richard Child, overseers. He d. Nov. 20, 1684; Inventory £75. 10. The Will of his wid. Mary, of Lancaster, dated Jan., 1708–9, mentions her son-in-law (stepson) Ephraim Garfield, gr. chil. Daniel and Elizabeth Garfield, dr. Rachel Priest, of Lancaster, dr. Deborah Brook, dr. Ann Jackson, dr. Mercy Bury, gr. chil. John and Mary Noble, Sarah Parkhurst, and Sarah and Ephraim Garfield. Benjamin Garfield (her husband's brother), exec'r. Chil.,

1. John, b. Feb. 8, 1645–6; d. 1649. 2. Ephraim, b. Nov. 20, 1649. 3. Mary, b. June 30, 1653. 4. Sarah, b. Jan. 17, 1654–5; m. —— Guile. 5. Rachel, b. Nov. 23, 1656; m. —— Priest, of Lancaster. 6. Elizabeth, b. Dec. 8, 1659. 7. Deborah, m., 1683, —— Brook. 8. John, b. July 7, 1664. 9. Ruth, b. Ap. 25, 1666. 10. Lydia, b. Aug. 31, 1668. 11. Daniel, b. Nov. 5, 1670. 12. Mercy, b. Feb. 18, 1673–4; m. —— Bury. 13. Elizabeth, b. Sept. 16, 1676. 14. Anna, m. —— Jackson. 15. Daniel, b. Feb. 13, 1683–4.

☞ The numerous families of this name in Shrewsbury, are, without much doubt, descended from this family of Samuel. [See Ward, 289–92.]

[See Wellington, 2, and Farmer.] Nov. 6, 1645, he, then of Wat., bought land of John Sibley, of Charlestown. Oct. 6, 1645, he bought land of Benjamin Hubbard [Charlestown Records]. Ap. 27, 1643, he sold these lands to William Parsons, of Boston.

HAMMOND.

The families of the name of Hammond, in New England, are most, if not all of them, descended from two brothers, viz.: William, of Watertown, and Thomas, first of Hingham, and afterwards of Newton. The following pedigree of the family in England, I have received from Mr. S. Hammond Russell, through the obliging attention of Dr. T. W. Harris, of Cambridge.

†1 THOMAS HAMMOND, of Cavenham, Co. Suffolk; m., May 14, 1573, ROSE TRIPPE. He was buried Nov. 24, 1589. Chil.,

1 (I.) WILLIAM HAMMOND, eldest son of Thomas and Rose [†3], probably came to America previous to the year 1634, as he does not appear to have accompanied his wife and children that year. Probably he did not settle immediately in Watertown, as he was not a proprietor in Feb., 1636–7, but he was so in 1642. His wife, ELIZABETH, aged 47, and dr. ELIZABETH, aged 15 years, dr. SARAH, aged 10 years, and son JOHN, aged 7 years, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., in the ship Francis, Ap. 1634. [See the foregoing pedigree for his marriage, and the names and ages of his children.] He was adm. freeman May 25, 1636, and was selectman 1648. He d. in Wat., Oct. 8, 1662, aged 90, and his wid. Elizabeth, d. Sept. 14, 1670, "aged about 90." [It will be observed that this age does not correspond with that given at her embarkation. Probably the latter is the correct one.] His Will, dated July 1, proved Dec. 16, 1662, mentions wife Elizabeth; son John; grandson Thomas, son of his son Thomas; drs. Elizabeth House, —— Barnes, and Sarah Smith. In a suit, in 1652, Thomas Hammond vs. John Bridge, it appears that H. had an uncle, Page.

2 (II.) THOMAS HAMMOND, son of William [†6], m., about 1654, HANNAH CROSS. [See Cross.] He d. Dec. 10, 1655. His Will, dated Nov. 6, 1655, mentions his wife Hannah, dr. of Hannah Cross; and he provided for an expected posthumous child. His wid. d. Mar. 24, 1656–7. By her Will, dated Mar. 19, 1656–7, she gave to her mother half the rent of the Cross farm (in Ipswich). To John Sherman, and to each of his chil. £5; to John Livermore £4. 12; the remainder to her mother and John Sherman, in trust for her son, who was committed to their care. Inventory of Thomas Hammond (by Edward Garfield, John Coolidge, Joseph Tainter, and Anthony White), dated Dec. 22, 1655. House, barn, and upland bought of John Stowers, £120. Cross farm in Ipswich, with 7 cows and 2 oxen, £200. Housing and land in England, at Lavingham, renting £14 per year, £120. Elizabeth Barrett, debt to be paid in two years, £25; also personal estate.

14. 3 1. THOMAS, b. July 11, 1656.

HARRINGTON (Herrington, Errington, Arrington).

ROBERT HARRINGTON. His name is the last on the list of proprietors, made out 1642–44. He then owned a homestall, "given him by Thomas Hastings." This gift renders it probable that he was a kinsman of Dea. Hastings. He was adm. freeman, May 27, 1663, and he m., Oct. 1, 1649 (? 48), SUSANNA GEORGE, b. 1632, who d. July 6, 1694, and he d. May 17, 1707. In his Will, dated Jan. 1, 1704–5 (the day before the 3d m. of his dr. Susanna), he mentions his sons John, Daniel, Benjamin, Samuel, Thomas, Edward (his "youngest son," to whom he gave his homestead), and drs. Susanna Beers, Mary Bemis, Sarah Winship; Joseph, son of "my son Joseph, deceased," and dr.-in-law Joanna Ward, late wife of his son Joseph. His Inventory mentions 16 lots of land, amounting to 642½ acres, and appraised at £717. Dec. 24, 1684, he bought of Jeremiah Dummer, a goldsmith, of Boston, and Anna, his wife, for £90, the West or S. W. half (250 acres) of the Oldham Farm, where some of his descendants have continued to reside until the present time. It was bounded W. by Joseph Garfield; N. by Richard Cutting, wid. Sarah Fiske, and said Garfield; E. by Abraham Gale and John Gale; S. by Charles River. Sept. 28, 1685, he gave to his son Joseph, 55 acres of land, which he bought of Simon Cooledge, Jan. 29, 1679–80, which he (S. C.) had bought of Simon Stone, and which he (S. S.) had bought of the wid. and heirs of Rev. Henry Green, to whom it had been granted by the town. It is very probable that all the families of the name of Harrington in New England, are descended from Robert, of Watertown. They are very numerous and widely dispersed. There was a Richard Harrington, or Arrington, of Charlestown, in 1643; but I have not discovered that he left any descendants, bearing his name, or that he was related to Robert.

ABRAHAM ERRINGTON, of Camb., adm. f. c. Mar. 27, 1663; m., REBECCA, dr. of Robert Cutler, of Charlestown. She had been adm. f. c. some time before. Chil., 1. REBECCA. 2. HANNAH. 3. SARAH; all bap. previous to 1660. 4. MARY, bap. Jan. 13, 1660. 5. ABRAHAM, bap. Nov. 8, 1663. I have discovered no further information respecting this family.

Children of George and Susanna Harrington.

2 1 SUSANNA, b. Aug. 18, 1649; m., Feb. 9, 1671, JOHN CUTTING, by whom she had 7 chil. [Cutting, 15.] He d. July 18, 1689, and she m. (2d), Ap. 21, 1690, ELIEZER BEERS, who d. JOHN HASTINGS.

The following brief record of the family of John Hastings, of Camb., is here inserted, as it contains a few intermarriages with Watertown families. It is the result of materials casually gathered in the course of other researches. A much more full and authentic genealogy of this family may be expected in due time from Rev. Lucius K. Paige. Whether there was any consanguinity between Dea. Thomas Hastings, of Wat., and John Hastings, of Camb., has not been discovered.

1 JOHN HASTINGS settled first in Braintree, and was adm. freeman May 10, 1643. He was dismissed from Braintree, and was adm. to the church in Camb., Feb., 1656. His Will, dated July 26, 1657, mentions wife ANNE; son Walter; son-in-law William Lakin; sons Samuel and John; dr. Elizabeth, and dr.-in-law [step-dr.] Mary Mean. His chil. were probably all the issue of his first marriage. His wife Anne, by a former husband, John Mean, had drs. Sarah and Mary, who m. two sons of her last husband. Wid. Anne Hastings d. Mar. 25, 1666, aged about 60. Her Inventory, by Thomas Fox and Edward Lyall, £47. 17.

JAMES.—EDMUND JAMES, proprietor, 1636–7; Selectman, 1638; adm. freeman, May 18, 1631. [Perhaps it was his wid., REANA JAMES, of Wat., who entered into a marriage contract with William Andrew, of Camb., Aug. 21, 1663.]

JENISON (Jennison, Jennings. By the later generations always written Jennison).

There were two early settlers of Wat., of the name of JENISON, WILLIAM and ROBERT, who were brothers.

1 WILLIAM JENISON was one of those who first signified their desire, Oct. 19, 1630, to be admitted freemen, and he was adm. the next May. He usually had the prefix "Mr.;" was mem. of the Artillery Co., 1637; Captain of the train band, 1638; Selectman, 1635 to '42, and '44, and was Rep., 1637, to '42, and '45. He commanded one of the companies sent, in 1636, to avenge the murder of Mr. John Oldham, by the Pequod Indians, at Black Island. About 1645, he sold his homestead to Rev. John Knowles (who afterwards sold it to William Bond, Esq.), and not long after returned to England, where he probably d. It appears by Winthrop (I., 133), that he had been a resident of Bermuda. No notice has been discovered of either wife or children of Capt. Jenison. [For a view of his character and worth, see Winthrop II., 176.]

---

2 (I.) ROBERT JENISON was probably several years younger than his brother William. His name is not on the earliest list of proprietors (Feb. 1636–7), but he had a daughter b. in Wat., Ap., 1637, which is the earliest notice of him that I have discovered. He was adm. freeman, May, 1645. His wife ELIZABETH d. Oct. 30, 1638, aged 30, and he soon after m. GRACE ——, who d. Nov. 26, 1686, and he d. July 4, 1690. His Will, dated Sept. 15, 1688, with a codicil, dated Ap. 2, 1689, proved Oct. 7, 1690, mentions dr. Micael Warren, son-in-law George Reed, son Samuel, whom he calls his third son, and grandsons William and Robert Jenison. To his grandsons he gave land that formerly belonged to his brother William. Although he mentions Samuel as his third son, it is not probable that his first and second son survived him or left chil.

LEWIS JONES, of Wat., d. Ap. 11, 1684. Inventory, Ap. 20, 1684, £62. 2. His Will, dated Jan. 7, 1678–9; codicil dated Ap. 19, 1682, approved June 14, 1684,

* A sheet was printed in Boston, in 1834, entitled "History of the Jones Family," accompanied by a genealogical tree, prepared by Mr. William H. Jones, Jr. [159–?], from a manuscript written several years previously by Israel Jones, Esq., of Adams, Mass. From this sheet, only lately put into my hands, I have received valuable additional information respecting some of the branches of this family. It is, however, very deficient in dates, &c., which greatly lessens its value. It is to be hoped that some person or association, in this family, will take up this genealogy where it is now left, and make it as full and accurate as it ought to be; correcting all the errors and supplying all its defects, adding such biographical sketches as any of the members are entitled to.

mentions wife ANNA [see Stone, 3½], sons Shubael and Josiah, dr. Lydia Whitney; son Josiah, exec'r; friend and brother, John Stone, overseer; Simon and John Stone wit. His dr. LYDIA, m., Oct. 30, 1656, JONATHAN WHITNEY. [40.] Son JOSIAH, b. 1643; son SHUBAEL, b. July 1, 1651, probably had some infirmity, as John and Simon Stone were, by the Court, appointed his guardians, Oct. 7, 1684.

Oct., 1674, the Selectmen of Wat. were ordered to make provision for the restraint of Samuel Jones (? son of John, of Concord).

WILLIAM JONES, a tailor, of Wat., m., Oct. 18, 1687, ABIGAIL AVERED (Everett), of Dedham, and had Caleb, b. in Wat., Dec. 20, 1688.

8 3. Stephen, b. Aug. 17, 1709; m., July 31, 1735, Lydia Jones. [Jones, 39.] Settled in Falmouth, near his brother Phinehas, with whom he was connected in business. He enlisted as a Captain in Col. Noble's regiment for an expedition against Quebec in 1746, but the ships and troops from England did not arrive, which defeated the project, and Col. Noble was ordered with his regiment to Minus, now Horton, in Nova Scotia, to keep the neutral French, who lived there, in subjection. The French still held a fort at Cumberland Bay. A considerable detachment was sent from that fort, more than a hundred miles, to attack Col. Noble's party by surprise, in a heavy snow-storm, in the night of Jan. 7, 1746. The enemy got very near the Col's. quarters, where he and most of the officers were, before they were discovered by the sentinel at the door, by reason of the violence of the storm. The sentinel gave the alarm and fled. Capt. Jones immediately met the enemy at the door, and was killed. They entered the house and killed some of the officers before they were out of bed. Col. Noble was among the slain. The main body of the force, at some distance from the Col's. quarters, soon after capitulated. Capt. Jones left a wid., 2 sons, and 2 drs.

KEMBALL (Kemble, Kimball).

The name Kimball, now borne by so many families in this country, is undoubtedly a corruption, or variation of Kemball or Kemble, a common name in England. In the Watertown records it was almost uniformly written Kemball for several generations.

Embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for N. Eng., Ap. 10, 1634, in the Elizabeth, William Andrews, Master, RICHARD KEMBALL, aged 39, with wife URSULA, and chil., 1. HENRY, aged 15. 2. ELIZABETH, aged 13. 3. RICHARD, aged 11. 4. MARY, aged 9. 5. MARTHA, aged 5. 6. JOHN, aged 3; and 7. THOMAS, aged 1 year. He settled first in Watertown, of which he was a proprietor, 1636–7, and was adm. freeman, May 6, 1635. He removed to Ipswich, probably in 1637, as in that year, Feb. 23, a house-lot was then granted to him. His son Richard was also a proprietor of Ipswich, in 1648. It was probably his son, "Henry Kemball, Jr.," who was proprietor of a homestall and 3 other lots in Wat., 1642. and who m., in Wat., Nov. 13, 1650, Sarah Farwell. Richard Kemball, Senior, was probably the ancestor of most of the numerous families of the name of Kimball in New England.

Also embarked, at the same time, in the same ship, HENRY KEMBALL, aged 44, with wife SUSANNA, aged 35, and chil., 1. ELIZABETH, aged 4 yrs. 2. SUSANNA, aged 18 months, and RICHARD CUTTING, aged 11 years. He was probably an elder brother of Richard Kemball. He settled permanently in Watertown.

(I.) HENRY KEMBALL, adm. freeman, May 2, 1638; by wife SUSANNA, had 6 children. He died about 1650, and his wid. m. —— LOE. She d. a wid. Aug. 19, 1684.

By deed, acknowledged May 6, 1646, he sold, to Bryan Bendleton, all his land granted to him by the town, except one acre of Pond meadow, sold, Sept. 29, 1645, to Ed. Garfield.

2 WILLIAM KNAPP, a carpenter; proprietor 1636–7; probably came over in 1630, with Nicholas Knapp. He d. Aug. 30, 1658, aged about 80. His Will, dated 1655, mentions no wife, but in the settlement of his estate, his wid. PRISCILLA received one-third of it, besides a debt due to her, for a sum loaned to him before marriage, by wid. Priscilla Akers. He m. (probably between the writing of his will and his d.), PRISCILLA, wid. of Thomas Akers, q. v. Most of his estate passed from the possession of his heirs to that of Nathaniel Coolidge. His heirs were sons William, John, James; drs. Mary Smith, Judith Cady; the children of

dr. Anne (wife of Thomas Philbrick), all of Wat., and dr. Elizabeth Buttery, a wid. of Bury St. Mary, Suffolk.

LAWRENCE.

There were two early settlers of Watertown of the name of Lawrence, viz., John and George.

JOHN LAWRENCE, a carpenter, settled there as early as the beginning of 1636; his name is on the earliest list of proprietors, and he was adm. freeman Mar. 9, 1636–7. By his first wife, ELIZABETH, he had 12 chil. b. in Wat. By his 2d wife, SUSANNA, he had two chil. b. in Groton, viz.: 1. JOHN, b. Mar. 14, 1635–6. 2. NATHANIEL, b. Oct. 15, 1639. 3. JONATHAN, buried Ap. 6, 1643. 4. JOSEPH, b. May 30, 1643. 5. MARY, b. July 16, 1645. 6. PELEG, b. Jan. 10, 1647. 7. ENOCH, b. Mar. 5, 1648–9. 8. SAMUEL. 9. ISAAC. 10. ELIZABETH, b. in Boston, May 9, 1655. 11. JONATHAN. 12. ZACHARIAH, b. in Wat., Mar. 9, 1658–9. Wife Elizabeth d. in Groton, Aug. 29, 1663, and he m. in Charlestown, Nov. 2, 1664, Susanna Batchelor, and had 13. ABIGAIL, b. in Groton, Jan. 11, 1665–6. 14. SUSANNA, b. July 3, 1667. He probably moved to Groton in 1662. Oct. 27, 1662, he sold his homestead in Wat, "being the now mansion house of said John Lawrence," to John Briscoe. On the same day he sold a lot of land to William Page, another to Joseph Underwood, and another to John Barnard, Oct. 23, 1662. [For a record of his family and descendants, see Butler, pp. 273 and 413; also a printed genealogy of the family of Lawrence.] One branch of this family of John settled in Lex., a brief record of which is here inserted in a note.* The Will of John Lawrence furnishes no reason for supposing that he and George were nearly related. All the families of this name in Watertown, Waltham, and Weston, after the removal of John and his family to Groton, appear to be descended from George, whose genealogy is subjoined.

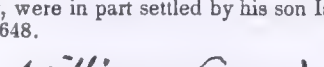
LEARNED (Lernot, Larned, Larnit, &c.)

1 WILLIAM LEARNED,* was admitted freeman, May 14, 1634, and his name, and that of his wife GOODETH [? Judith, or good wife], are the first two on the list of members of the present First Church, of Charlestown. "1632, 10 mo., day 6, William Learned and Goodeth, his wife, were admitted." The following extract from the town records of Charlestown. is an evidence of how highly he was esteemed for his intelligence and virtue: "1638, 26, 2d month, Mr. Increase Nowell, Mr. Zachariah Sims, Mr. John Green, Mr. John Harvard, Left. Ralph Sprague, and William Learned, were desired to consider of some things tending towards a body of Lawes." Records, p. 20.

He was a subscriber to the town orders for Woburn, drawn up at Charlestown, Dec. 18, 1640; was one of the seven original members of the church in Woburn, which was gathered, Aug. 14, 1642–3; was one of the first board of Selectmen, chosen Ap. 13, 1644, and was re-elected the following year. He was also elected constable (who was in those days the collector of taxes), for the years, 1644 and '45. He d. in Woburn, Mar. 1, 1645–6, two days before the third election of town officers. He left a wid., who had an annuity during her widowhood. His accounts, as collector, were in part settled by his son Isaac, Sept. 29, 1646, and finally settled, Oct. 4, 1648.



The name (Learned), has been varied much by the bad orthography of early times, as Lerned, Lernot, Larned, Larnit, &c., and many of his descendants now write it, Larned.

His son ISAAC was doubtless born in England, and went with his father from Charlestown to Woburn. He was an only child, so far as I have ascertained, and all of the families of the name of Learned and Larned in this country, so far as known, are descended from him. Wid. Sarah Learned, d. in Malden, 24, 11, 1660, and the Inventory of wid. Jane Learned, of Malden, deceased, was dated 12 mo., 1660. These records probably relate to the same person. Of their (or her) affinity to William Learned, I know nothing.

* Since the materials for this genealogy were collected, Joseph G. E. Larned, Esq., of New Haven, has taken up the matter, as a special subject of investigation, and is pursuing it more thoroughly and extensively than it would be in my power to do. I hope that all who are able will render him their ready co-operation.

2 (II.) ISAAC LEARNED, m., July 9, 1646, MARY STEARNS, eldest child of Isaac and Mary Stearns, of Wat. [I. Stearns, 2, I.] The marriage is recorded in Woburn as follows: "Isaac Larned and Mary Starnes, married, 9, 5 mo., 1646." In the county record, the names are Learned and Sternes. He settled first in Woburn. April 2, 1652, he sold his house and lands in Woburn, to Bartholomew Pierson, of Watertown, and moved to Chelmsford, where he was a Selectman, and where he d. Nov. 27, 1657. Inventory, dated Dec. 7, 1657, £187. 18. 6. His wid. m., June 9, 1662, John Burg, late of Weymouth. She d.

soon after, as the Inventory of the estate of Mary Lernot [Learned], wid., "now in the hands of John Burge, of Chelmsford, her surviving husband," was dated Dec. 21, 1663, £222. Ap. 17, 1664, the Court allowed a division of the estate between John Burge, and the children of Isaac Learned. According to the terms of the Will of Isaac Stearns, his dr. Mary had no child by her second husband.

LIVERMORE.

1 JOHN LIVERMORE,* probably the ancestor of all the Livermores in the United States, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for New England, in Ap., 1634, then aged 28, in the Francis, John Cutting, master. He was admitted freeman, May 6, 1635. On the list of freemen, his name is written Leathermore, and in one or more documents, with his signature, the scrivener wrote it Lithermore. He was by trade a potter; was repeatedly a Selectman, and had other offices of trust. It is probable that he did not settle immediately in Watertown, as his name is not on the list of proprietors "then inhabiting," Feb., 1636–7; but he was there in 1642. There is a tradition that he came over without his wife, and that afterwards she came over, with one or more children. There is also a tradition that there is a large sum in the English funds, belonging to the heirs of the first John Livermore, which they might obtain, if they could furnish a legal proof of their descent. What ground there is for this tradition I know not. Attempts have been made to establish the title, but without success. He d. Ap. 14, 1684, aged 78. His Will, dated Jan. 10, 1682–3, proved June 16, 1684, mentions wife GRACE, and the following chil.: eldest son John; the three youngest chil., of John Coolidge, by his daughter, d.; Daniel, Elizabeth, Sarah, Martha, Samuel, Nathaniel, Hannah (Anna), and Grace; chil. of Samuel; son-in-law James Townsend, and his son James; only one dr. then living. His Inventory, dated Mar. 2, 1684, mentions 1st, the "Cowpen Farm," 40 acres upland, and 12 acres meadow, formerly of Henry Curtis, which he (J. L.), purchased of the town, Nov. 7, 1664, for his son John, and confirmed to him, his Will; 2d. 50 acres dividend land, bought of Wm. Paine, and given to son Nathaniel; 3d, 2 acres patch meadow; 4th, 4 acres Pigsgusset meadow; 5th, 6 acres salt marsh; 6th, 1 acre at Chester Brook; 7th, 5 acres upland on the Rocks; "a parcel of Bees, £2." He had previously (Mar. 10, 1681), conveyed, by deed, to his son Samuel, "as a recompense of that dutiful obedience, that the said Samuel hath yielded to, and thereby hath been (through God's blessing), a comfort and support to

* The parentage of the first John Livermore, of Watertown, has not been conclusively ascertained; but there is reason to suppose that he came from Little Thurloe, Co. of Suffolk. Little and Great Thurloe are two adjoining Parishes, situated about 7 miles northwest of Clare. There was a John Livermore baptized there, Sept. 30, 1604, which would make him one year older than the age assigned to the emigrant who settled in Watertown. The following is the brief pedigree derived from those Parish registers:

PETER LIVERMORE, of Little Thurloe, in the Co. of Suffolk, m., June 3, 1594, MARABELLA WYSBYCH. His nuncupative Will was dated Nov. 11, and he was buried Nov. 15, 1611. She was buried July 12, 1612. Daniel Livermore was a witness to his Will. Chil.,

1. PETER, bap. Nov. 17, 1594; had dr. Elizabeth, bap. in Great Thurloe, Nov. 22, 1621.
2. NICHOLAS, bap. Ap. 16, 1596; m. (2d wife), Feb. 14, 1627, ELIZABETH NORMAN; had son John, bap. in Great Thurloe, Oct. 25, 1621.
3. ANNE, bap. Nov. 4, 1599; buried Ap. 20, 1602.
4. ANNE, bap. Nov. 16, 1602; mentioned in father's Will.
5. JOHN, bap. Sept. 30, 1604; mentioned in father's Will.
6. ELIZABETH, bap. Oct. 2, 1608; mentioned in father's Will.
7. MARABELLA, buried July 12, 1612.

ROBERT LIVERMORE and ALISE CLOUGHE, m., in Little Thurloe, Feb. 27, 1593, and had dr. ANNE, bap. Ap. 21, 1594.
LAUNCELOT LIVERMORE, of Little Thurloe; had son THOMAS, bap. Oct. 10, 1596. In the records the name is written variously, as Lyvermore, Lyvermer, Levermore, Livermer.

the said John and family," his homestead, 34 acres, with a dwelling-house, &c.; also, 20 acres woodland.

John Livermore

The Will of his wid. GRACE, dated Dec. 19, 1690, proved June 16, 1691, mentions her son and dr., Abraham and Martha Parker, of Chelmsford, where she died; also, son John Coolidge, gr. son James Townsend, her sons John, Nathaniel, and Samuel, but not Daniel. Her name repeatedly occurs in the Court Records as "a midwife." The birth of only one child is recorded in Watertown records. William Perry and wife Anna, of Wat., in a petition to the County Court, 1682, mention "our sister Livermore, midwife, and our sister Chinery." Whether this was anything more than an expression of Christian affection, has not been ascertained.

LOVELL.—See Norcross, 69 and 84.

LOVERAN.—JOHN LOVERAN, one of the largest original proprietors, admitted freeman May 25, 1636; was Selectman 1636 and '37. After his death, 1644, his wid. ANNA, became the wife of Rev. Edmund Browne, the first minister of Sud. She was probably a sister of John Barnard, Sen'r, of Wat. [See his Will, in Geneal. Reg., III., p. 79.]

THOMAS LOVERAN, b. 1638, son of William Loveran, of Aldham, Co. Suffolk, Eng., settled in Wat. as early as 1663. Dec. 8, 1663, he (T. L., "a clothworker") bought of Thomas Agar, of Rox., a fulling-mill, built by T. A., on land and water privilege bought the preceding year of Timothy Hawkins, and which he (T. L.) resold Jan. 3, 1669–70, to Timothy Hawkins and Benjamin Garfield. Dec. 12, 1670, Rev. Edmund Browne, of Sud., and Anne, his wife, formerly wife of John Loveran, of Wat., conveyed to Thomas Loveran the homestall and 6 other lots of land in Wat., formerly the property of John Loveran, amounting to 190 acres, on condition (with a mortgage) that he pays in instalments £156, with annual rent, previous to Mar. 21, 1677. He d. Feb. 15, 1692–3, s. p. His Will, dated Aug. 13, 1692, proved Feb. 27, 1692–3, gave all his estate to wife ANNA, during her life; after her death to go to the next heir bearing the name, if he appear to claim it within 10 years, otherwise to go to John Kemball, sen., and his heirs for ever. His wid. Anna, m., Aug. 29, 1695, William Thomas, of Newton. She survived but a few years, for in 1704, Daniel Loveran, citizen and draper of London, only surviving brother of Thomas Loveran, late of Wat., by his Att'y, John Marion, sued John Kemball for the property devised by the Will of T. L. [See Suffolk Deeds, Vol. I., p. 59, for testimonies respecting the estate of John Loveran.]

MASON.

[My friend Dr. THADDEUS WILLIAM HARRIS, Librarian of Harvard University, has nearly ready for the press a genealogy of the descendants of Capt. Hugh Mason; and it may be expected to be a model for works of this kind. The plan of this work seems to require the insertion of the following brief genealogy, on account of its numerous connexions with other families. But no one, interested in such inquiries, or in this family, should be satisfied with this brief article, which is considerably less extended than it would have been, except for that expected work.]

1 (I.) Capt. HUGH MASON, a tanner, one of the very first settlers of Watertown, was adm. freeman, Mar. 4, 1634–5; Rep. 1644, '45, '60, '61, '64, '71, '74, '75, '76, and '77; Selectman, 29 years, between 1639 and 1678, inclusive; a Lieut. as early as 1649, and made Captain, May 5, 1652. He was, for many years, one of the three Commissioners appointed by the County Court to determine small cases. [This was before the appointment of Justices of the Peace.] Oct. 30, 1657, he was appointed by the Court, one of a Committee to attend to the defects in several bridges in the County. Dec. 18, 1660, he was appointed on a Committee to take account of John Steadman, County Treasurer, and make a levy, &c. It has been conjectured that he was a brother of Capt. John Mason, the distinguished Pequot warrior. He d. October 10, 1678, aged 73. By wife ESTHER, who d. May 1, 1692, he had 7 chil. [See Barry, p. 298.]

MORSE (Mors, Mosse, Moss).

[For a very copious genealogy of families of the name of MORSE in this country, the reader is referred to that very valuable work, entitled "Memorial of the Morses," by Rev. Abner Morse, published in Boston in 1850, with a large supplement thereto published the ensuing year. It contains numerous biographical and historical sketches, and several portraits of distinguished individuals. The materials for the following brief genealogy were collected several years previous to the date of that work, and the plan of this work requires it to be inserted here, on account of its numerous connexion with other Watertown families.]

1 JOSEPH MORSE, aged 24 years, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., Ap., 1634, in the ship Elizabeth, Wm. Andrews master. His name is on the earliest list of proprietors of Watertown, and he was adm. freeman May 6, 1635. He was the eldest son of Joseph and Deborah Morse, who came to America, probably a year or two later than this son, and settled in Ipswich. He married HESTER PEIRCE, dr. of John and Elizabeth Peirce, of Watertown. [See Peirce, 1.] The names of five of his children are found in the Wat. records of births, &c. He had three others, whose births are not recorded. He d. Mar. 4, 1690–1, and his estate was admin. by his son John.

2 1. JOSEPH, b. Ap. 30, 1637; m., Feb. 11, 1660–1, SUSANNA SHATTUCK. [Shattuck, 2.] After the birth of his 2d child he moved to Groton. He d. in 1677, and his wid. m. (2d), in Wat., July 5, 1678, John Fay. [See Fay.]
3 1. Susanna, b. in Wat., Jan. 11, 1662–3.
4 2. Hester, b. in Wat., Sept. 11, 1664; d. Aug. 27, 1725; m., Feb. 12, 1684–5, Nathaniel Josselyn, of Marlboro.

5 3. Joseph, b. in Groton, Nov. 11, 1667; m., in Wat., Jan. 20, 1690–1, Grace Warren. [Warren, 14.] He moved to Marlboro, but at what time has not been clearly ascertained. His chil. were born in Wat., and it is probable that it was his wife [? perhaps that of Joseph] who was adm. to Mr. Angier's church, Ap. 10, 1702.

NEVINSON.

1 JOHN NEVINSON, of East Horsley, Co. Surrey, son of Rev. Roger Nevinson, of Hambeldone, Co. Surrey, embarked at London, about May, 1668, and came to America as Att'y of his father, who was assignee of heirs of late John Flemming, of Wat. Whether his wife, ELIZABETH, b. 1640, came with him, has not been ascertained; probably not. Capt. Wm. Paynter, of Barbadoes, made his Will at Charlestown, Aug. 24, 1666, appointing brother John Nevinson, overseer, and making bequests to mother Ann Jones, of Bristol, and mother-in-law Ann Wadloe, to be paid in London; to father Jones, and brother, and sister Ellise. Aug. 14, 1678, he purchased of Stephen Payne, of Rehoboth, 100 acres of land in Wat., for £200. In the records of Court, for 1693, is a petition of John Nevinson, lame and infirm, in prison 15 weeks for not paying rates (unpaid £12); and his tax was abated 28*s*., Ap., 1693, on account of bodily infirmities. He began to keep a public house previous to 1685, and continued it until his d. His wife was admitted to the church, Nov. 13, 1687, but her husband, a churchman, would not suffer her to make "a relation." He d. Jan. 24, 1694–5, and his wid. m., about May, 1695, William Bond, Esq. [Bond, 1.] He (W. B.), d. Dec. 14, 1695, and she soon returned to her first husband's house, resumed his business, and kept a public house about 20 years. She d. Aug. 24, 1720. Her Will, proved Sept. 20, 1720, appointed her drs., Mary Hastings and Sarah Livermore, executors. Chil.,

OFLEY.—JOHN OFLEY, proprietor, 1642; no homestall.

OLDHAM.

It is not known to the writer in what year Mr. JOHN OLDHAM came to America; but it must have been prior to 1628; for in that year the Governor of Plymouth intrusted him with the charge of Morton, the Merry Mount rioter, and he went to England in 1628. It was in the same year that Mr. Oldham and John Dorrill obtained of John Gorges a lease of a tract of land which embraced most of the territory of the present cities of Charlestown, and Cambridge, and of Summerville, and probably a small part of Wat. [See Frothingham's Hist. of Charlestown, pp. 10, 11, 15, 17.] The above-mentioned lease was not valid, and perhaps it was in consequence thereof, that the General Court granted him a farm of 500 A. in Watertown, Ap. 1, 1634. This was long known as the "Oldham farm," and afterwards as the Dummer farm. June 2, 1641, after the decease of Oldham, the Gen. Court ordered said land "to be laid out for Matthew Cradock," of London, to whom Oldham was indebted. This farm then passed successively into the possession of Simon Bradstul, of Ipswich, Thomas Mayhew, of Wat., and Richard Dummer, of Newbury. The town attempted to invalidate Mr. Dummer's title; but by a vote of the town, passed Oct. 24, 1659, which was accepted by the Court, his title was confirmed, and the controversy ended.

This farm was between Waltham Plain and Stoney Brook, bounded on the S. E. by Charles River, and it included Mount Feake. Dec. 2, 1661, Richard Dummer and wife Frances sold the N. E. half (250 A.) of the farm to Richard Gale, whose descendants have retained possession of a part of it to a very recent date. Dec. 24, 1684, Jeremie Dummer, of Boston, son of Richard, sold the other half (250 A.) of the farm to Robert Harrington for £90.

Mr. Oldham was adm. freeman May 18, 1631, and he was the first Rep. of Wat., 1634. In 1632, he and Mr. John Masters were chosen by Wat. to advise with the Governor and assistants about the raising of public stock, &c. [Winthrop I., 76.] Aug., 1632, his house, near the weare, in Wat., was burnt. He was murdered, in July, 1636, at Black Island, by the Pequod Indians, and this murder was the immediate cause of the exterminating Pequod war. [See Winthrop I., 189, and Hinman, p. 58.]

ONGE (Ong).

Wid. FRANCES ONG was proprietor Feb., 1636–7, and was buried Nov. 12, 1638, aged 55. She was probably the mother of Simon Ong, b. 1624, of Jacob, and perhaps of Mary Ong, who embarked at Ipswich, Ap., 1634, aged 27. Simon Ong lived on the south side of Charles River, on land bought of John Fuller, who attempted to reclaim it, but without success. His Inventory, dated Nov. 8, 1678, and his estate admin. by his brother Jacob, then of Wat., soon after of Groton. Isaac Ong, m., May 18, 1670, Mary Underwood. [See Farmer.]

ORBEAR.—Obear, Ober (? Hobart).

THOMAS and MARY ORBEAR had 1. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 8, 1640. 2. JUDITH, b. Mar. 15, 1642–3.

ORDWAY.—ABNER ORDWAY, of Wat., 1643. [Farmer.]

3. JONATHAN, b. Oct. 27, 1712, settled in Spencer.
4. JOHN, b. July 24, 1716, moved to Providence, R. I.
5. SARAH, b. Aug. 24, 1721. 6. ELIZABETH, b. Feb. 2, 1725–6.

OZMENT.—WILLIAM and SARAH OZMENT had MARY, b. July 23, 1729.

PAGE.

1 JOHN PAGE, with wife PHEBE, came from Dedham, Eng., in 1630, was the first Constable of Watertown, being made so by the Court, Sept., 1630, and was adm. freeman, May 18, 1631. He d. in Wat., Dec. 18, 1676, aged about 90, and his wid. Phebe, Sept. 25, 1677, aged 87. His house was burnt, Ap. 21, 1631.

2 1. WILLIAM (? son of John), m. (Anna) HANNAH ——, and he d. Dec. 9, 1664, s. p. His Will, dated Dec. 16, 1664, proved Ap. 4, 1665, mentions his wife; made small bequests to all his kinsmen in N. Eng., mentions his kinsman, Thomas Leason; to his kinsman, William Leason, then living with him, £10 at the age of 22 years. Inventory, Jan. 18, 1664–5, £137. 12. His wid. m. previous to June 22, 1669, Nicholas Wood, of Boggestow, near Meadfield. She afterwards m. Edward Winn, of Woburn. [See Winn.]

3 2. PHEBE, m., about 1662, then past her prime, JAMES CUTLER. [Cutler, 1.] Her youth had not been unblemished.

3. DANIEL, buried Aug. 10, 1634.

4 4. JOHN, b. 1630, adm. freeman 1652; m., in Groton, May 12, 1664, FAITH DUNSTER. She d. Ap. 3, 1699, and he signed a marriage contract with wid. EMORY LAMB, of Boston, Sept. 5, 1699, to be married that day. June 6, 1702, they executed an indenture with Samuel Phipps, of Charlestown, and John Hammond, of Wat., "for use of his wife." He went to Groton about 1662; in that year sold land in Wat., which he had bought of his father, John, and the next year he, then "of Groton," sold 40 A. of land in Wat. to Dea. Thomas Hastings. In 1700 to 1703, he sold 8 lots of land in Groton to his son Jonathan, and in 1708 sold land in Groton to John Page. He did not continue to reside in Groton. His son Jonathan was born in Wat., and he was probably the John Page who represented Wat. in 1700.

5 1. John, b. in Groton, Dec. 10, 1669.

6 2. Samuel, b. in G., June 4, 1672.

7 3. Mary, b. in G., Jan. 9, 1674–5 (? m. —— Boardman).

8 4. Jonathan, b. in Wat., June 24, 1677, by wife Mary, had 8 chil. in Groton, where he d. Oct. 10, 1751, aged 74. [Butler, p. 420.]

9 5. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 20, 1633; m. HANNAH ——. It appears, by a deed executed by himself and wife, that they were "of Concord" Nov. 19, 1669. He d. prior to 1704 (? 1691). In the Mid. Prob. Office is an agreement, dated 1704, between Hannah, wid. of Samuel Page, of Wat., and her chil., viz.: son Ebenezer, Thomas and Hannah Corey, John and Mildred Harridon, Thomas and Mercy Ingram, wid. Elizabeth Perry, Sarah Page, and Experience Page.

10 1. Hannah, b. Feb. 10, 1667–8; m. Thomas Corey, q. v.

11 2. Samuel, b. Jan. 5, 1670–1, of South Carolina in 1713, when he sold land in Groton to Joseph Sanderson; soon to be m. to his sister Sarah.

12 3. Ebenezer, b. Jan. 17, 1676. May 5, 1704, he sold to Daniel Estabrook, of Lex., for £80, 73 acres of upland, and 2 acres of meadow, in Wat., formerly granted to Mr. Eires.

13 4. Mildred, m. John Harridon, and had Johanna, b. in Wat., Sept. 12, 1700.

14 5. Mercy, m., Jan. 18, 1702–3, Thomas Ingram.

15 6. Elizabeth, m. —— Perry. She was a wid. 1704.

16 7. Sarah, m., July 30, 1714, Joseph Sanderson. [139.]
17 8. Experience.

PAINE (Payne).

WILLIAM PAINE, a merchant, one of the largest proprietors of Wat. in 1636–7, was adm. freeman May 16, 1640. He moved to Ipswich prior to 1640, and about 1652 he moved to Boston, where he d. Oct. 10, 1660. On Dec. 22, 1651, William Paine and wife HANNAH, of Ipswich, N. Eng., for £8, sold to Samuel Stratton, of Wat., 7 acres of land bought of Thomas Wincoll, bounded N. E. by Great Pond. He had only two chil., so far as has been discovered, viz.: a son JOHN, who survived him, and was lost at sea, and a dr. HANNAH, who m. SAMUEL APPLETON, Jr., of Ipswich, by whom she had 3 chil., 1. Hannah, m. William Downes, a merchant, of Boston. 2. Judith, m. Samuel Wolcott, of Windsor, Conn. [Hist. of N. Ipswich, p. 302, and Geneal. Reg. I., 252.] 3. Samuel. She (Hannah (Payne) A.) d. several years before the d. of her father. Jan. 20, 1663, John Payne, of Boston, merchant, in consideration of legacies of fifteen hundred pounds (£1500), according to the Will of his father, William Payne, of Boston, conveys to Samuel Appleton, as security, his title in the corn mill in Wat., with houses and lands belonging. Wm. Payne had bequeathed to his gr. dr. Judith Appleton, five-sixths of the corn mill in Wat.

STEPHEN PAYNE, of Boston, adm. freeman May, 1653. Stephen Paine was of Wat., 1654, and he speaks of Jeremiah Norcross as his uncle. Aug. 14, 1678, Stephen Payne, of Rehoboth, for £200, sold to John Nevinson 100 acres of land in Wat. [See Farmer, and see Geneal. Reg. II., 263.]

PALGRAVE.—See Wellington, 1, note.

PALMER.—WILLIAM PALMER, proprietor, 1636–7; probably moved to Newbury in 1637; adm. freeman, Mar. 13, 1638–9. [See Coffin, p. 312.]

MARY PALMER, m., in Wat., Nov. 19, 1697, THOMAS UNDERWOOD.

PARK (Parks, Parke, Peirks).

Park is probably the correct orthography; but Parks has perhaps obtained the most prevalent usage.

(I.) RICHARD PARK, was a proprietor of Camb. in 1636; of Camb. Farms (Lex.) in 1642, and he settled in Camb. Village (Newton), about 1647. He owned a large tract of land (600 acres), bounded west by the Fuller farm, north by Charles River, east by the Dummer farm, and east and southeast by Edward Jackson's. In 1657, Mr. Edward Jackson, Dea. John Jackson, and Dea. Samuel Hyde, and Richard Parks, were a Committee to lay out and settle the highways in Cambridge Village. His Will, dated July 12, 1665, wit. by Elder Wiswell, and Capt. Hugh Mason, mentions wife (not named), son Thomas, and two drs., not named, one of whom m. Francis Whittemore, of Cambridge. Inventory, dated Aug. 19, 1665, £872. Mr. Francis Jackson says, his wid. Sarah was living at Duxbury in 1668. I had previously supposed that the widow Ann Parks, who d. 1708, aged 93, was his relict. [See "Brief Notice of the Settlement," and early settlers of Newton, by Francis Jackson, Esq.]

PEIRCE (Pierce, Pearce, Perce, Peers, Pers, &c.)

The orthography of the name of this family is much and often varied in the records. That adopted here has been generally used; but many, especially of the later generations, have adopted PIERCE, which is probably the correct orthography.

1 (I.) JOHN PEIRCE, a weaver, of Wat., adm. freeman, Mar., 1637–8. His Will, not naming his chil., was dated Mar. 4, 1667–8, and he d. Aug. 19, 1661. His wid. ELIZABETH, d. Mar. 12, 1666–7. Her Will, dated Mar. 5, proved Ap. 2, 1667, mentions son Anthony (sole exe'r), son Robert (adm. freeman, May 13, 1642), son John, dr. Esther Morse (wife of the first Joseph Morse, of Wat.), dr. Mary Coldam, gr. drs. Mary and Esther Ball, chil. of her dr. Elizabeth. [See Ball, 3.] It is probable that her son Robert settled in Woburn. Perhaps her son John, was the one adm. freeman, 1652, and the one who, by wife Elizabeth, had John, b. in Boston, June 16, 1643. It is however more probable that he was an early settler of Wethersfield, Conn. Among the gleanings of Judge Savage, for New England History (Mass. Hist. Coll., 4th Series, Vol. I., p. 96), is the following extract from an ancient document, lately found in the English Exchequer. "April the 8th, 1637. The examination of John Pers of Norwch in Noff [Norwich in Norfolk] weaver aged 49 yeares and Elizabeth his wife aged 36 yeares with four children John, Barbre, Elizabeth and Judeth and one sarvant John Gedney aged 19 yeares are desirous to passe to Boston in New England to inhabitt." The name, age, occupation, and date of the embarkation of the father of this family, favour the idea that he was the John Peirce, who settled in Wat. If so, either Elizabeth was his 2d wife, or there was a mistake in her age; and he must have come to America some years after the arrival of his son Anthony.

†2 DANIEL PEIRCE, aged 23, embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for N. Eng., in 1634; was a blacksmith and proprietor of Wat., Feb. 1636–7; was adm. freeman, May 2, 1638, and moved to Newbury that year. [See Coffin, p. 314, and Farmer. They were probably his sons DANIEL, and JOSHUA, who had the chief agency in settling the town of Woodbridge, N. Jersey, in 1667. [See Coll. N. J. Hist. Soc., Vol. I., pp. 41 and 2.]

†3 EDWARD PEIRCE ("Pearce"), was a householder of Wat., in 1639; probably soon after went to Wethersfield, Conn.

2 (II.) ANTHONY PEIRCE, b. 1609; son of John (I.); was adm. freeman, Sept. 3, 1634; and was ancestor of all or nearly all the families bearing the name afterwards in Wat., Waltham, Weston, Lincoln, and Lex. His homestall was on the north side of the road from Camb., immediately west of the homestall of John Stowers, which was afterwards the parsonage, occupied by Rev. Mr. Angier. It was afterwards the residence of his sons Joseph and Benjamin. He m. (1st) SARAH ——. He m. (2d), about 1638, ANNE ——. He d. May 9, 1678. Will dated Sept. 6, 1671. His wid. d. Jan. 20, 1682–3.

PHILPOT.—THOMAS PHILPOT, proprietor of a homestall of 7 acres, 1642; a pauper in 1674. This homestall was the same lot, mentioned below, as ordered to be sold. Perhaps there is a mistake, and the two names may refer to the same person.

JOHN PHILPOT, of Wat., was committed to prison by order of the General Court, and his land ordered to be sold for his maintenance in prison. Deacon Ephraim Child, in behalf of the Selectmen, of Wat., sold it, Ap. 8, 1651, to John Clary, for £8, viz., a dwelling and 10 acres of planting land; bounded east by Michael Barstow; south by Mr. Knowles; west by John Sherman, and north by common land. It is probable that Clary relinquished this lot to the town, and that the town continued, for many years, to rent it to a succession of occupants.

PICKERAM (? Pickering).

38 Mary Saltmarsh, m., June 5, 1755, Abijah Hammond, of Newton.

N.B. These two were probably drs. of Thomas and Mary Saltmarsh; born before they settled in Watertown.

SALTONSTALL.

Sir Richard Saltonstall, son of Samuel, and grandson of Gilbert Saltonstall, Esq., of Halifax, in Yorkshire, was the first named associate of the six original patentees of Massachusetts, and one of the first Assistants, and was present at their court, Aug. 23, 1630. He came over in the same ship with Gov. Winthrop, in 1630, and was the leader among the first permanent settlers of Watertown. It appears, by Winthrop's Journal [I., p. 29], that he brought over with him, three sons and two daughters. He returned to England the next spring (1631), taking with him his two daughters and youngest son. He did not return to America. His Will was made in 1658, and it is not known how long he lived afterwards. He had five sons, Richard, Henry, Samuel, Robert, and Peter, and he had at least two daughters, who, in 1644, resided in the family of the Earl of Warwick and Lady Manchester.

1. Richard, b. 1610; came over in 1630; was admitted freeman, May 18, 1631, and settled in Ipswich. It is probable that he went to Watertown with his father, and remained there for a few years, as his name does not appear in the Ipswich records until 1635. He returned to England finally in 1683, and d. at Hulme, Ap. 29, 1694, aged 84. He was father of Col. Nathaniel, of Haverhill, and ancestor of most of those bearing that name in New England. [See Farmer.]
2. Henry. He was member of the Art. Co., 1639, and was proprietor of a farm of 300 acres, and 88 acres, of meadow, in Wat., in 1642; grad Harv. Coll., 1642. He returned to England; went to Holland, 1644; M.D., at the University of Padua, Oct., 1649, and at Oxford, June 24, 1652.
3. Samuel, in 1642, proprietor of a homestall in Wat., and 7 other lots, and probably had the land of his brother Henry, after his return to England. Watertown was his permanent residence, where he d., Jan. 21, 1696, and administration was granted, Oct. 7, 1696, to his nephew, Col. Nathaniel Saltonstall. It is supposed that he was the "Mr. Samuel," sometimes mentioned in the records, omitting the family name. Although he lived so long in Wat., there is no record of wife or children, and he appears to have had little or nothing to do with the municipal affairs of the town.

4. ROBERT, mem. of Art. Co., 1638. In Suffolk Deeds, Vol. 1, p. 29, about 1642 (no date), Robert Saltonstall, "late of Watertown," sold to Nicholas Davidson, 13½ acres of land, bought of Daniel Patrick.

5. PETER, member of Art. Co., 1644.

SAMPSON.—EBENEZER and JUDITH SAMPSON, of Waltham, had, 1. BETSEY, b. May 25, 1783.

SANDERSON.

There were two early settlers of Watertown, of the name of Sanderson, viz., Robert and Edward. What affinity there was between them, has not been ascertained.

ROBERT SANDERSON, and wife LYDIA, were among the first settlers of Hampton, in 1638, where they had dr. MARY, bap. Oct. 29, 1639. Soon after this he moved to Watertown, of which he was a proprietor, 1642, and where he m., about 1642, MARY, wid. of John Cross. [See Cross.] He remained in Wat. until about 1653, when he moved to Boston, where he was a deacon, and d. there, Oct. 7, 1696. July 20, 1650, he (then of Wat.) sold to Richard Swaine, a house and 10 acres of land in Hampton. Oct. 17, 1653, he, "a silversmith," then said to be of Wat., bought land in Wat., of William Godfrey. Chil. (after he left Hampton, by his 2d wife), 1. Joseph, b. (birth recorded in Camb.) Jan. 1, 1642–3. 2. Benjamin, bap. in Wat., July 29, 1649; by wife Mercy, had, 1. Mary, b. in Wat., Nov. 29, 1677. 3. Sarah, bap. in Wat., Jan. 18, 1650–1. 4. Robert, bap. in Wat., Oct. 8, 1652; by wife Elizabeth, he had, 1. Joseph, b. in Camb., Oct. 10, 1684. He had a 2d wife Hester.

Perhaps William Sanderson [120], of Wat., was a son of Robert, but his lineage has not been ascertained.

John Hull, a Selectman, and many years Town Treasurer of Boston, a man of wealth,* the first Mint Master of New England, and the coiner of the "pine-tree coin," in his diary, under date of 1652 (? 3), relates how he was chosen to make coin, and adds: "I chose my friend Robert Sanderson, to be my partner, to which the Court consented." Sept. 1, 1658, he says; "my boy, John Sanderson, complained of his head aching, and took his bed; a strong fever set in, and after 17 days' sore sickness, he departed this life." Under date of Nov. 8, 1658, he says, "the Lord exercised with sickness my partner Robert Sanderson, and his son Joseph, but yet was pleased to recover them both. Joseph kept the house about a month, and my partner 18 days."

* When his only dr. Hannah, was married to Judge Samuel Sewall (his 2d wife), he is said to have put her into one scale, and to have put coin into the other scale, so as to balance her weight, for her dowry. In his diary, July 1, 1658, he says, "I received into my house Jeremie Dummer, and Samuel Paddy, to serve me as apprentices eight years." [See Farmer.]

1 (I.) EDWARD SANDERSON, m., Oct. 15, 1645, MARY EGGLESTON [perhaps the eldest dr. of Bagot and Brigget Eggleston, of Dorchester, afterwards of Windsor, Conn.] The birth of only one child, Jonathan, is recorded in Watertown. He sold his house and land in Wat. to William Shattuck, Sen., and probably moved to Cambridge. In the church records is this record, "Mar. 20, 1686–7, bap. Hester Saunders, a young person, dr. of Edward Saunders." The name of this family (Sanderson) in the early records is frequently written Sanders and Saunders.* From Edward, are descended most of the families of the name of Sanderson, in Wat., Waltham, and Weston.

* Abigail Saunders, m., in Wat., Oct. 27, 1687, Shubal Child. [5.]
Hannah Sanders, m., in Wat., Aug. 6, 1695, Richard Norcross, Jr. [10.]

SEELEY.—ROBERT SEELEY, one of the first settlers of Wat., applied, Oct., 1630, to be adm. freeman, and was adm. next May, 18. He was a proprietor, 1636–7, and 1642, after he left the town. In 1634, he and Abraham Browne were employed together in the survey of Wat. In 1636, he was ordered "to surcease to do any more business for the town," about which time he joined that small colony that went from Wat., to settle Wethersfield, Conn. He sold his homestall (16 acres), to Simon Eire. [See Farmer, and see Hinman, pp. 72, and 235.] He was probably the Lieut. Seeley in the Pequot War, and perhaps was the Capt. Seeley, of Stratford, killed in battle by the Indians, Dec., 1675.

SEWALL.—RICHARD and ABIGAIL SEWALL, had HANNAH, SARAH, and RUTH, bap. in Wat., Aug. 29, 1736.

SHATTUCK.

[Lemuel Shattuck, Esq., of Boston, has had a genealogy of the descendants of William and Susanna Shattuck, of Watertown, ready, or nearly ready, for the press for several years; and the delay of its publication is much regretted. Coming from a person, in many respects so competent for the undertaking, it cannot fail to be full, accurate, and skilfully arranged. The following genealogy, although brief and imperfect, seems to be necessary in this place, on account of the numerous alliances between this and other Watertown families.]

---

1 (I.) WILLIAM SHATTUCK, settled in Wat. as early as 1642 or '3, when he was not more than 21 years of age. According to his age given when he was a witness in Court, he was born 1621. His name is on the schedule of proprietors and possessions, made out in 1642 to 1644, when he was very young. He then had a homestall of one acre, and a small lot of upland. July 4, 1654, he bought of John Clough, tailor, of Wat., and Susan, his wife, his house and garden, and 30 acres of upland; bounded east by Wm. Paine, and E. Goffe; west by highway; north by Joseph Morse, and south by highway. Also, 25 acres of upland, bounded west by a brook, east by common land, south by Edm., Lewis, north by John Coolidge. Also, 3 acres of swamp land. Also, one-third part of twelve acres of meadow; bounded west by highway, and on other sides by Wm. Paine, and Ed. Goffe. By his Will, dated Aug. 3, 1672, then "aged 50 years," he gave to son Samuel Church £6; to son Philip, one-half of farm and 2 acres in pond meadow; to son William, the other half of the farm, and 2 acres in pond meadow; to four small children, my mare with all her increase; the remainder of goods to wife Susanna, until the younger chil., Benjamin and Samuel, are twenty-one years of age; to said Samuel and Benjamin, the house and land I dwell on, bought of Edward Sanderson, and my half dividend; to elder son John, £20; and £40, to be divided among his grandchildren. In his Inventory, the house and land, and half dividend, appraised at £180. The farm at Stoney Brook (given to sons Philip and Wm.), appraised at £20, and the 4 acres of pond meadow at £4. He d. Aug. 14, 1672, leaving wid. SUSANNA (his only wife), who m., Nov. 18, 1673, Master Richard Norcross. [Norcross, 3.] She died Dec. 11, 1686. The births of his chil., are not all recorded.

SHERMAN.

There were several early settlers in New England of the name of SHERMAN, three of whom first settled in Wat., viz., Edmund, Capt. John, and Rev. John. Capt. John was a cousin of the other two, who were brothers.

SAMUEL SHERMAN, of Boston, 1637, afterwards of Connecticut, where he was a magistrate; was a brother of Rev. John. By wife GRACE, he (S. S.), had, in Boston, 1. Philip, b. Dec. 31, 1637. 2. Martha, b. Sept. 5, 1639. 3. Nathaniel, b. Dec. 19, 1642. Perhaps he was for a short time in Wat., as his land there is once referred to. They all came from Dedham, Essex County, Eng., about the same time.

1 1. EDMUND SHERMAN, Selectman, of Wat., 1636; adm. freeman, May 25. 1636, brother of Rev. John S.; was a clothier by trade; returned to England, and was residing at Dedham, Eng., 1648, and 1666.

†2 MARY SHERMAN (parentage not ascertained), m., in Wat., Nov. 27, 1656. HENRY FREEMAN (his 2d wife).

†3 The Will of RICHARD SHERMAN, merchant, of Boston, dated Ap. 7, proved July 31, 1660, mentions wife ELIZABETH; drs. ANN SHERMAN, PRISCILLA, wife of MARTIN GARRETT; MARTHA BROWNE, and ABIGAIL DAMME; gr. chil., Mary and Elizabeth Sprawle: makes his cousin Mr. Angier, of Camb., trustee of legacies for two drs. in Eng. (not Martha and Abigail); kinsmen Edmund Angier, and John Livermore, of Wat., overseers. He had dr. Elizabeth, b. in Boston, Dec. 1, 1635.

2 (I.) Capt. JOHN SHERMAN, b. in Dedham Co., Essex, Eng., 1613; came to America, 1634; adm. freeman, May 17, 1637; a land surveyor; a Selectman very many times from 1637 to '80; Town Clerk, 1648, and often afterwards; Rep. 1651, '53, and '63. He m. MARTHA, dr. of Roger and Grace Porter. [See Porter.] He d. Jan. 25, 1690–1, aged 76, and his wid. d. Feb. 7, 1700–1. He was chosen Ensign 1654, and was Steward of Harv. Coll., 1662.

3 1. JOHN, b. Nov. 2, 1638; was killed in the Narragansett fight, s. p.
4 2. MARTHA, b. Feb. 21, 1640–1; m., Sept. 26, 1661, FRANCIS BOWMAN. [5.]
5 3. MARY, b. Mar. 25, 1643; m., Jan. 18, 1666–7, TIMOTHY HAWKINS, Jr. [3], and d. in childbed, Nov. 6, 1667, leaving son Timothy, b. Oct. 26, 1667, who probably d. early s. p.
6 4. SARAH, b. Jan. 17, 1647–8; d. 1667.
7 5. ELIZABETH, b. Mar. 15, 1648–9; m., July 20, 1681, SAMUEL GASKILL, of Charlestown. [This m. is very doubtful, if not improbable. See 58.]
9. 8 6. JOSEPH, b. May 14, 1650.
7. GRACE, b. Dec. 20, 1653; d. s. p.

8. 9 (II.) JOSEPH SHERMAN, a blacksmith, m., in Wat., Nov. 18, 1673, ELIZABETH WINSHIP, dr. of Lieut. Edward Winship, of Camb., by his 2d wife Elizabeth. He was Rep. 1702, '3, '4, '5; often selectman and assessor.

50 Rev. JOHN SHERMAN (3d minister of Wat.), b. in Dedham, Eng., Dec. 26, 1613; A. B., Trinity Coll. Camb., 1629, A. M., 1633. Dr. Eliot says he came to America in 1635, and went to Watertown. He soon moved to New Haven Colony, where he was a magistrate several years. He returned to Wat. between 1644 and '48, and became its third minister a few years before Rev. Mr. Knowles returned to England. He was adm. freeman, May 19, 1669, and d. Aug. 8, 1685, aged 72. [For some account of his talents, character, and services, see Francis, Farmer, Eliot, &c.] By his first wife (? ABIGAIL), he is said to have had 6 chil., and by the 2d, MARY LAUNCE, (according to Mather, a grand dr. of Thomas Darcy, Earl of Rivers), [See Geneal. Reg. IV., p. 307.]), Mather said he had by her 20 chil. Although he had many chil., this is probably a great exaggeration. He had 7 chil., whose births are recorded in Wat. His Will, dated Aug. 6, proved Oct. 6, 1685, mentions wife Mary, son Samuel Willard, for chil. of his first wife, Abigail, £12; chil. of son Bezaleel, d., £10; dr. Mary Allen, £10; son Daniel, £15; son Samuel, £10; dr. Mary Barron, £10; other chil., James, John, Abial, Elizabeth, Hester, Grace, Mercy; son James, exec'r. His wid., Mary, d. in Wat., Mar. 9, 1709–10.

N.B. He had a dr. Mary by each wife, both living at the same time.

June 26, 1740, of scarlet fever. 3. PHINEHAS, bap. Sept. 11, 1737. They were dismissed from Weston church to Brookfield, July 27, 1755.

SMITH.

On the earliest list extant of the proprietors of Watertown (1636–7), are four of the name of Smith, viz., John, Sen'r, John, Jr., Thomas, and Francis. Isabella, wife of John Smith, Sen'r, d. Oct. 12, 1639, aged 60. It is probable that John and Isabella were the parents of John, Jr., and Thomas, and perhaps of Francis, and Daniel.

---

1 JOHN SMITH, Jr., adm. freeman, May 22, 1639, may have been the John Smith, who d. in Lancaster, July, 1669. The Will of John Smith, of Lancaster, dated Ap. 12, 1665, mentions son John, dr. Ann, son Richard, dr. Alice, and he appointed "my beloved son-in-law John Mose," sole executor. [See Morse, 16.]

---

2 FRANCIS SMITH, was adm. freeman, May 18, 1631; was proprietor of Wat., Feb., 1636–7; but not in 1642. [See Farmer.]

---

3 DANIEL SMITH [200], was a resident of Wat. as early as 1642, but he was not a proprietor in 1636–7. Perhaps he was a son of John, Sen., and Isabella.

---

4 MATTHEW SMITH, of Wat., took the oath of fidelity in 1652, and was drowned at Noddles Island, May 21, 1658.

4½ RICHARD SMITH, of Wat., took the oath of fidelity in 1652.

5 (II.) THOMAS SMITH (supposed to be a son of John, Sen., and Isabella), came to America in the summer of 1635 [See Geneal. Reg. V., p. 248]; was a proprietor of Wat., 1636–7, where he d., Mar. 10, 1692–3, aged 92. He was adm. freeman, May 17, 1637. He m. MARY, dr. of William Knapp, Sen. [5.] His Will, dated Mar. 16, 1687–8. SPRING.

Embarked at Ipswich, Eng., for New Eng., Ap. 10, 1634, in the Elizabeth, William Andrews, Master, John Spring, aged 45, wife Elinor, aged 46; dr. Mary, aged 11; son Henry, aged 6; son John, aged 4 yrs., and son William, 9 months.

1 (I.) JOHN SPRING, and wife ELINOR, settled in Wat., and his name is on the earliest list of proprietors, 1636–7. Mar. 21, 1656–7, he executed a deed of gift to his son Henry, of his house and land in Wat., reserving to himself, during his lifetime, the north end of the house; after his decease, the same to go to son Henry, with conditions that said Henry pay his father an annuity, and, after the decease of his father, pay John Spring, Jr., £30. [Mid. Deeds, Vol. I., p. 233.] As there is no provision for wife, Elinor, she must have d. previously to the date of that deed. It is believed that all the families of the name of Spring in New England, and perhaps in the U. S., are descended from John and Elinor, of Watertown.

[Robert Spring resided in Charlestown 1727 to 1737, and had chil. bap. there. I know nothing of his lineage, or whether he left any descendants.]

---

2 1. MARY, b. 1623; m., about 1642, JOHN DAVIS, q. v. She d. a wid. 1656.
6. 3 2. HENRY, b. 1628; adm. freeman, May 30, 1660.
13. 4 3. JOHN, b. 1630.
5 4. WILLIAM, b. July, 1633. He settled in Barbadoes. He had a son John, who came to Newton, after the decease of his father in Barbadoes, and in 1695, he chose his uncle, John Spring, to be his guardian. The Will of John Spring, housewright, of Newton, son and heir of William Spring, late of Bridgeton, Barbadoes, dated Aug. 6, 1698, gave all his estate to his loving friend, Jonathan Green, of Newton, in token of gratitude to him for his kindness and care in his straits and difficulties, &c., in which others, of whom he might have expected help, deserted him. [See Estabrook, 4.]

3. 6 (II.) HENRY SPRING, m., Jan. 7, 1657–8, MEHITABEL BARTLETT. [Bartlett, 2.] He m. (2d), Sept. 12, 1691, SUSANNA, wid. of Gregory Cook. [Cook, 1.] His Will, dated June 29, 1695, mentions wife Susanna; sons Henry and Thomas; drs. Elizabeth Mellings (Mellen); Mehitabel and Abigail. Inventory, dated Nov. 25, 1697, £317. 7. As early as 1680, he was elected the town "prizer," and continued to hold the office until 1695. The duty of apprizer appears to have been to fix the rate at which agricultural products shall pass in the payment of taxes and debts. He was often employed in taking inventories, and settling estates.

He was a very active, useful citizen; was Selectman 20 yrs., between 1683 and 1710, and was Rep. 1704, '6, and '7. In 1680, Watertown chose John Spring, "to make a new invoice." Was this John, Sen., or John, Jun.? John, Jun., had moved to Newton prior to that date, and John, Sen., if alive, would have been at least 90 years old. It seems to me not improbable, that there was an error in the record, and that it was Henry Spring (the town prizer) who was chosen to make a new invoice.

59 11. Alpheus, b. May 10, 1739.

60 12. Marshall, b. Feb. 19, 1741–2; d. Jan. 7, 1818; grad. Harv. Coll., 1762, soon commenced the study of medicine, probably with his maternal uncle, Dr. Josiah Converse, a highly esteemed physician, of Wat., who aided him in obtaining his education, and who bequeathed to him the larger part of his estate. After finishing his professional studies, he resided a short time in the island of St. Eustatia. With that exception, he always resided in his native town; and during his long life, sustained such a high professional repute, as very few private practitioners have attained to. He was eminent as a wit, and it is said that he was the only man of that time, who could successfully meet Chief Justice Parsons "in the keen encounter of wits." In the Revolution he was a tory, fully and firmly "convinced of the entire inexpediency of resistance." Yet, on the 19th of Ap. 1775, he arrived early at Lexington, and devoted his best skill and care to his wounded fellow-citizens. Although his tory sentiments were well known, and very generally odious in that vicinity, and he did not try to conceal them; yet his professional services were so highly appreciated, so necessary to the people, and his manners so winning, pervaded with such a tone of benevolence, that he seldom suffered any serious annoyance on account of his political sentiments. He maintained that the people were incapable of self-government; and on that ground, he opposed the adoption of the Federal Constitution, as being too feeble, not sufficiently stringent in its tone. Yet, at the first election of Mr. Jefferson to the Presidency, he joined the popular party that had opposed the adoption of the Constitution on the opposite ground, that it was too stringent, tending too much to centralization. To an intimate friend he jocularly assigned his reason for joining that party, "He said he was nearly losing both property and country, by opposing the popular party in the Revolution; and, as he now saw that the people were up and forever by that election, he did not intend to run that risk a second time."

He taught the school in Wat. the year after he left College; was Rep. of Wat. 1787, and repeatedly a member of the Governor's Executive Council. For a more copious account of his character, talents, and services, see Thatcher's Am. Med. Biography. He m. (1st) 1791, MARY, wid. of Dr. Barnabas Bin-

STEARNS (Sterne, Sternes, Sterns, Starns).

Arms. Or, a chevron between three crosses flory sable. Crest, a cock starling proper.

A coat of arms similar to this formerly belonged to the occupants of the old Stearns homestead in Watertown; and there is now a similar one belonging to a branch of the Manning family in Cambridge (descendants of Isaac Stearns), from which the accompanying illustration is taken. It is the same as that borne by families of the name of Sterne in the counties of Bucks, Cambridge, Hertford, and Norfolk, England; the same also as that borne by Richard Sterne, Archbishop of York, who was descended from the Sternes of Nottinghamshire.

It is probable that all the families of the name of Stearns in the United States, are descended from three early immigrants; as, in every instance, where the lineage of a family has been traced back, it has been to one of the following, viz., Isaac, or Charles, who settled in Watertown; or Nathaniel, who settled in Dedham. Isaac, in his Will, calls Charles "my kinsman," probably his nephew. What affinity there was between Nathaniel and the other two, has not been ascertained; but there is reason to suppose that he was related to them.

On May 17, 1662, Thomas Clark sold a lot of land in Boston, bounded S. E. by land of Daniel Sternes. [Suffolk Deeds, IV., p. 268.] This is the only record or notice of this Daniel Sternes, that I have met with. There are families of the name of Starn or Stern in the Middle and Southern States, who are of German origin.

The orthography of the name, (Stearns) now, with very few exceptions, adopted by the descendants of Isaac, Charles, and Nathaniel, is undoubtedly a variation, or a corruption of the name, STERNE, which has been effected in this country. It probably commenced in the pronunciation, and afterwards extended to the writing, of the name. Sterne is a well-known name in the counties of Nottingham, Berks, Norfolk, Hertford, Suffolk, and Cambridge, in England; but the name, Stearns, has not occurred to me in any English work. In Winthrop's Journal, and in the early town and county records, the name is written Sterne. In the Will of the first Isaac Stearns, dated 1671, the name has the correct orthography, with the exception or addition of a superfluous terminal s, sometimes used in England. A very few now write their names, Sterns and Starns.

ISAAC STEARNS came to America, in 1630, in the same ship, as there is reason to believe, with Gov. Winthrop, and Sir Richard Saltonstall, and settled in Watertown, near Mount Auburn.* He was adm. freeman, May 18, 1631, which is the earliest date of any such admission, and he was Selectman several years. In 1647, he and Mr. Biscoe, were appointed by the Selectmen, "to consider how the bridge over the river shall be built, and to agree with the workmen for doing it, according to their best discretion." This is, says Dr. Francis, in his history, "the first mention of a bridge over Charles River, at Watertown." He d. June 19, 1671, leaving a wid. MARY, who d. Ap. 2, 1677. The births of only three of his children are recorded in the town records, and it is probable that two, perhaps three, of them were born in England. His pedigree has not been ascertained, nor is it certainly known what town he came from; but it is very probable that he came from the Parish of Nayland in Suffolk. Mr. Somerby obtained the following extract from the Parish Register of Nayland:

"Baptized Jan. 6, 1626, MARY, dau. of ISAAC STERNES.
Baptized Oct. 5, 1628, ANNA, dau. of ISAAC STERNS."

* His homestall, in 1642, was bounded on the N. by John Warren; W. by highway; S. by John Biscoe; E by Pequusset Meadow, a part of which meadow he owned. In the distribution of the estate of his son Samuel, in 1724, to his eldest son, Nathaniel, was assigned this homestall, "where his grandfather had lived." From Nathaniel, it probably passed to his son Daniel.

"That this is a true coppie of ye orriginall attested in Oct., 1671, and yn put upon Record, and burned in ye fireing of ye court house, is sworn by Isaac Sternes and Samuell Sternes, 1. 8. 72, in open Court, at Camb."
[From Vol. 4, pp. 129–30.]

The names and ages of these two daughters seem to correspond exactly with the supposed ages of the two eldest children of the first Isaac Stearns, of Watertown; for in the early records, Anna and Hannah were very often used, the one for the other.

It appears, from the appraisal of his estate, that he was in comparative affluence for those early times, considering that he had previously given respectable portions to each of his seven children; for it embraces 14 lots or parcels of land, amounting to 467 acres, with a due quantity of stock and farming utensils, provisions, and household goods. See his Inventory on the preceding page.

His Will, dated five days before his decease, with his autograph signature, is extant on the files of the Probate Office of Middlesex County, and is as follows:

"I, Isack Sternes, of Watertown, in the County of Middlesex, being sick in body, but through the goodness of God in sound memory, do declare this to be my last Will and Testam [ent], in manner and form as followeth:

"Imp.—ffirst, I return my spirit into the hands of God that gave it, and my body to the earth, from whence it was taken.

"2dly. My will is, that Mary, my beloved wife, should enjoy my whole estate, for her maintainance, so long as she shall live a widow; but if my said wife shall marry again, then my will is that she should enjoy only what the law intended and provided for in the law titled dowers.

"3dly. I give and bequeath to my grand children, the children of my sonne John Sternes, fower score pounds, [which] being added to what my son had formerly, will be a double portion with the rest of my children.

"4thly. I give unto my son Isaac Sternes, seventy pounds, which being added to what he have had already, will be his proportion according to the rest of my children.

"5thly. I give to my son Samuel Sternes, seventy pounds, which being added to what I formerly gave him, will be his proportion with the rest of my children.

"6thly. I give to my grand children, the children of my daughter Mary, deceased, five and thirty pounds; my grand child, Isaac Lernot, to have ten pounds of the said 35 pounds—the remainder, which will be twenty-five pounds, to be equally divided to the rest; which said thirty-five pounds being added to what I formerly gave my daughter Mary Lernot, will be an equal proportion with the rest of my children.

"7thly. I give to my daughter Sarah Stone, forty pounds, which being added to what she formerly had, will be her proportion.

"8thly. I give to my daughter Elizabeth Manning, twenty pounds, which being added to what I formerly gave her, will be her proportion; further, my will is, that the said twenty pounds given to my daughter Elizabeth aforesaid, be secured for the good and benefit of the children.

"9thly. I give and bequeath to my daughter Abigail Morss, five acres of meadow, lying and being at Samuel's farm, to enjoy and possess for her and her heirs for ever, and my will is, that my daughter Abigail Morss, may take the said five acres of meadow, either next to Samuel's meadow, or next Capt. Mason's; and besides the meadow, I give to my said daughter Abigail, forty pounds, all which being added to what she have had formerly, will be her proportion.

"10thly. My will is, that my kinsman Charles Sternes, shall have ten pounds of my estate. Further, my will is, that my whole estate remain whole and unbroken for comfort and maintainance of my beloved wife, as above said, so long as she doth remain a widow—save only the five acres of meadow given to my daughter Abigail, which she is to enjoy presently.

"ffurther, I nominate and appoint my beloved sons Isaac Sternes, and Samuel Sternes, executors, to this my last Will and Testament; and have hereunto set my hand, this fourteenth day of June, one thousand six hundred and seventy-one, in presence of.

"Before subscribing, my will is, that when those several legacies are paid out according to my Will within mentioned, then my will is, that the remainder of my estate shall be equally divided among my children then living, and so subscribe the day aforesaid by putting to my hand in presence of,

"William Bond, Sen'r,
"John Biscoe, Sen'r."

H., and commenced practice in connexion with Dr. Hall Jackson, of Marblehead. He soon relinquished the practice of medicine; and, after qualifying himself, under the instruction of a chemist in Boston, he commenced the business of apothecary and grocer, in Salem, Mass., in which he was very successful. A correspondent says, "he never spoke ill of a person, and was the most singularly honest man I ever knew." He represented the town repeatedly in the State Legislature; often held municipal offices, and was most fond of that of Overseer of the Poor, as affording him the greatest opportunity to gratify his benevolent feelings. He was noted for hospitality and public spirit. He took the lead in making the turnpike from Salem to Boston, and at one time owned one-eighth of the stock. The first large block of brick buildings in Salem was his. The night before the battle of Bunker Hill, he was employed the whole night in throwing up the breastworks, and during the action was taking care of his parents at their farm at Plowed Hill. In the yard in the rear of their house, Major McCleary was killed by a ball or shell from the hill. [258, V.]

* The following inscription is a good evidence of the respect and affection of his people towards him:

"This Monument,
Erected by the town of Lunenburg, is sacred to the memory of The Reverend DAVID STEARNS, their much beloved and respected Pastor,
who departed this life,
in the joyful expectation of a better,
on the 9th day of March, A. D., 1761.

In his private capacity, he was a kind husband, a tender parent, an affectionate brother, and a faithful friend. In his ministerial character, his conversation was pure, entertaining, and instructive; his doctrines plain and scriptural, and his life truly exemplary. He was adorned with hospitality, with singular prudence, and a most endearing benevolence; with a good knowledge of men and things; with a fervent zeal for the glory of Christ, and the salvation of souls, and was governed by the united influence of these accomplishments.

Help, Lord, for the godly man ceaseth."

21 (V.) Rev. JOSIAH STEARNS (7, IV.), grad. Harv. Coll., 1751; ordained at Epping, N. H., Mar. 8, 1758, where he d. of cancer of the lip, July 25, 1788. Mr. Stearns was a close and thorough student. He studied the Scriptures in their original languages, with unremitting diligence. His limited means would not allow him to possess much of a library; but he was favoured with the use of books by friends, who were better able to own them. He was accustomed to borrow one volume at a time, and when he had read it through, its contents were his own. The late Rev. Dr. Thayer, of Kingston, mentioning this fact, added, "the Bible especially was his library." So intimate was his knowledge of the Scriptures, that he could readily cite the chapter and verse, where almost any verse was to be found.

"Mr. Stearns was an ardent friend of liberty. Some of his sons were in the field during a great part of the Revolutionary contest, and he sacrificed most of his worldly interest in support of the American cause. [Alden's epitaph.] He was a member of a State Convention, in Exeter, in which he regarded himself as fully committed to the risk of his personal safety. Returning from the Convention, he called his children around him, told them of the stand he had taken, and added, "If the cause shall prevail, it will be a great benefit to the country; but if it shall fail, your poor old father's head will soon be a button for a halter."

Mr. Stearns was tall in person, and interesting in his pulpit performances. He held the untiring attention of his audience, which not unfrequently filled the seats and aisles of his meeting-house; while in pleasant weather, a number stood abroad, around the doors and windows. The following anecdote illustrates the dignity and influence of his character. He happened to pass through a room where a party of military officers were engaged in very free and profane conversation. The individual who was speaking at the time, suddenly stopped and seemed abashed. His comrades rallied him on his timidity, as soon as Mr. Stearns disappeared. "Rev. Stearns would awe the devil," was the officer's immediate reply.

Of Mr. Stearns' printed sermons, two were on 1 John. 4, 8, "God is love." These were preached in Exeter, and printed after his death, at the request, made to him in his last sickness, of Hon. John Philips, for the use of the members of the Academy. Another was on Early Piety, with a brief memoir of Samuel Lawrence, preached Sept. 19, 1779. Another was a Fast Sermon. [N. H. Repository for Jan., 1847, pp. 107–10.]

In the Essex Journal and New Hampshire Packet, of Aug. 27, 1788, is the following short biographical notice of Mr. Stearns, written, it is said, by Rev. Dr. Tappan, of Newbury, afterwards Prof. of Divinity, in Harvard University:

"Mr. Hoyt,—The Rev. Mr. Stearns, whose death was announced in your last, sustained a character too great and too good to be passed over in silence. The God of Nature had endued him with singular abilities, which, by the aid of erudition, fitted him for extensive usefulness. His assiduous application to the work of the ministry, was truly worthy of imitation. In him shone an assemblage of virtues and graces, which rarely meet in the same person. He had a lively fancy, a penetrating judgment, a correct taste, and a mind as expanded as the heavens. His conversation was ever seasonable, grave, pathetic, and instructive. His public discourses were replete with good sense, with important truths in a clear and instructive light, and received the approbation of the best judges. He despised pageantry, without the appearance of affectation. He trusted to nothing mortal; pitied, but envied not, such as had their portion in this life. His advice in council was often sought, and ever approved. He had a constitutional firmness, and was capable of the most dispassionate reasoning. He repudiated errors, ancient and modern, and rejoiced to the last in his faithful adherence to the doctrines of grace. Elevated by the purer sentiments, he ever possessed a mind calm and serene. God, who is all-wise in council, was pleased to try his faith and patience in the furnace of affliction. After a lingering and painful sickness, he died of a cancer, in the 57th year of his age. In him died a friend to justice, liberty, and energetic government. A vigorous watchman, a patient guide, an affectionate pastor, a prudent, kind husband, and an indulgent but truly faithful parent.

"More joyful than a conqueror with his spoils, he retired from the present scene of action. We trust that he is gone to a state of immortal bliss, and will be an associate of those who have come out of great tribulation."

He d. Ap. 6, 1822. Epitaph on his gravestone:

"The mortal remains of the
Hon. JOSIAH STEARNS,
are deposited here.
Having discharged the obligations of a citizen and magistrate, with integrity, prudence, and fidelity; and personified the duties of a husband, parent, counsellor, and friend, with faithfulness, kindness, and affection; and humbly endeavoured to live in the exercise of piety, faith, hope, and charity, he calmly closed his mortal existence, in the hope of a happy immortality, through the mercy of God, by Jesus Christ, Ap. 7, 1822, at the age of 75."

323 (V.) Captain PHINEHAS STEARNS (140, IV.), a farmer and blacksmith, of Watertown; was a soldier at Lake George, 1756, and was among the earliest to take up arms in the Revolution. He commanded a company on Dorchester Heights, when the British evacuated Boston. He, with Samuel Barnard (a major in the Revolutionary Army), and John Randall, all of Watertown, were of the "Boston Tea-Party," and assisted in that renowned transaction. He was offered a Colonel's commission, but the care of his young children, upon the death of his wife, and of a family of apprentices and journeymen, prevented his continuing in the public service after the British left Boston. He was distinguished for his benevolent and cheerful disposition, which was strongly marked in his open, manly countenance. This, with his good sense and strict integrity, made him a favourite of all who knew him. He m., 1767, HANNAH BEMIS, b. June 22, 1749, eldest child of Capt. 330 (V.) JONATHAN STEARNS, Esq. (154, IV.), studied law with Col. Worthington, of Springfield, Mass., a gentleman of much distinction in his day, and a royalist. Mr. Stearns imbibed the principles of his preceptor, and at the beginning of the Revolution was obliged to leave the town. He went to Westminster, Vt., where he rendered himself obnoxious by the stand he took, when the people undertook to stop the tory courts. After being secreted several days in the house of his brother-in-law, Judge Sparhawk, of Walpole, N. H., he went to New York, and became a Judge Advocate in the British army. From New York he went to Halifax, N. S., where he became eminent in his profession. At the time of his decease, May 23, 1798, he held the office of Solicitor-General, for the Province of Nova Scotia. The following account is taken from an obituary notice of him, published at the time: "Possessed of a firm and independent mind, enriched by a liberal education, and a thorough acquaintance with the laws of the country, his political course was marked with an unaccommodating integrity. As a professional man, he pursued the interests of his clients with the most indefatigable

I. STEARNS.—APPENDIX IV.—BELLOWS.

1 Col. BENJAMIN BELLOWS was the youngest son of Benjamin Bellows,* who was the youngest son of Dr. John Bellows, who m., in Marlboro, Mass., 1655, Mary Wood. He was a land surveyor, a very large proprietor, and a very early settler of Walpole, N. H., for some time called "Bellowstown." Bellows Falls were named from him. He "possessed wonderful energy and decision, with a great capacity for business;" and is said to have been not less characterized by his liberality and great practical benevolence. He and some of his sons and descendants have been remarkable for their almost gigantic forms and strength. A full account of him would make an interesting memoir. He was m., in Lunenburg, Oct. 7, 1735, to ABIGAIL STEARNS (67, III.), by her brother, Rev. David Stearns. She d. in Walpole, Nov. 8, 1757, and he m., Ap., 1758, wid. 5. 91 (V.) Col. JOSEPH BELLOWS, was a farmer, in Lunenburg, until 1786, when he moved to Walpole. The prominent traits of his character were refined and elevated feelings; a deep religious sentiment; generosity in excess, and a warm sympathy with the distressed. These dispositions, united with extreme nervous sensibility, so involved him with every one that asked his assistance, that he suffered some pecuniary loss, which led to anxiety about the sufficient support of his family, and induced a mental derangement, that continued during the last thirty years of his life. He m., Oct. 3, 1764, LOUISA WHITNEY, of Lunenburg.

CHARLES STEARNS.

1 CHARLES STEARNS was adm. freeman, May 6, 1646. Mar. 15, 1647–8, he purchased of Edward Lamb, of Wat., a house and 8 acres, and three other lots. On the same day he purchased of John Fiske, 6 acres of upland. Isaac Stearns, in his Will, dated June 14, 1671, mentions him as "my kinsman, Charles Sternes," and bequeathed him £10. Samuel Hosier also bequeathed to him £10; but without stating any relationship. Jan. 6, 1680–1, he was elected constable (tax-gatherer), of Wat., but refused to take the oath; and the same year he sold his land in Wat. to his son Samuel. It is supposed that soon after this he, with his son Shubael, moved to that part of Lynn, called Lynn End, now the town of Lynnfield. His first wife, HANNAH, d. in Wat. (bur. July 2), 1651. He m. (2d), June 22, 1654, REBECCA GIBSON, dr. of John and Rebecca Gibson, of Camb. The births of their first two children are recorded in Camb., but she was a member of the Wat. Church, Feb., 1658–9. [See Camb. Church Gathering, p. 59.]

The following extract from the Essex Registry of Probate, shows the number and the names of his children, at least of those who lived to maturity, or to have families: "Sept. 9, 1695, Shubael Stearns, of Lynn, petitions for letters of admin. on the estate of his brother Charles, slain in the King's service. Balance of his estate after settlement of debts (£4. 12. 10.) to be divided as follows—equally between his brothers Shubael and John; the children of brothers Samuel and Isaac; Rebecca Sternes, alias Traine, and Martha Hutchinson, his sisters."

2. 8 (II.) SAMUEL STEARNS, m. MEHITABEL ——, and settled in Wat. The inventory of his estate (£42. 12.), was made June 6, 1694, by John Hastings, William Shattuck, Sen., and William Shattuck, Jr., and his estate was settled by his wid., Mehitabel, July, 1696. It appears, by the town records, June 16, 1694, that he left his family so indigent, as to need some temporary aid from the Selectmen. It is not known what became of the wid. and her two sons.

9 1. SAMUEL, b. in Wat., Feb. 27, 1685–6; bap. Aug. 21, 1698.
10 2. JOSEPH, bap. Aug. 7, 1698.
Both sons of wid. Mehitabel, and bap. by Mr. Angier.
